CAPITALIST KILLS SELF IN VACANT HOUSE

SAYS LAWLOR HAD GRUDGE AGAINST GLAVIS

Brandeis Attempts to Show Prejudice on Part of Federal Prosecutor.

QUESTIONS THE WITNESS REGARDING TAFT LETTER

Fails in Attempt to Secure the Testimony at Inquiry Long Since Closed.

WASHINGTON May 19—Assistant Attorney General Oscar Lawlor admitted under cross examination by Attorney Brandeis in the Ballinger Pinchot investigation today that three years ago L R Glavis cast reflections on his competency to conduct the prosecution of certain land fraud cases while he was United States attorney for the Southern District of California. He said it had then been demonstrated that Glavis was untruthful.

ALLEGES OLD GRUDGE

Brandeis was plainly endeavoring to show that Lawlor entertained an old grudge against Glavis which unfitted him for the preparation of a judicial finding for the President on the charge made by Glavis against Secretary Ballinger.

Lawlor said the Department of Justice had made an investigation vindicating him and had proceeded with the conduct of the case.

... persons ... prosecuted were ... Lawlor ...

At this time Glavis was chief of field ... headquarters at Oakland ...

WANTS ALL PAPERS

Attorney ... tried unsuccessfully ... request ... produce ... all the papers in the case. He urged it was important for the committee to know why the Secretary Ballinger at the time he took Lawlor to Beverly with him to assist the President in reaching a conclusion regarding the Glavis charges knew of the grudge of Lawlor against Glavis.

It appeared to be the sense of the majority of the committee that to comply with the attorney's request would necessitate entering on a collateral investigation. There was no repetition of the exciting scene of Tuesday afternoon when Lawlor accused Brandeis of deliberate falsehood. Lawlor was ... in some of his answers to Brandeis but no serious clashes occurred.

QUESTIONED REGARDING LETTER

The lawyer questioned the witness about the nature of the memorandum which he prepared at the President's request as if he were President.

Lawlor admitted that he considered

COMET FOOLS SCIENTISTS; EARTH FAILS TO PASS THROUGH ITS TAIL

PREDICTION OF ASTRONOMER MAY PROVE RIGHT

Professor Burkhalter Declared April 13th the Earth Would Pass Under Comet's Tail.

APPENDAGE USUALLY CURVED, HE STATED

Disagrees With the Eastern Savants as to Time of Appearance in Sky.

It is not absolutely certain nor anywhere near certain that the earth will pass through the tail of the comet. Perhaps I want to have it happen but am fully prepared for a big disappointment. If the comet's tail is pointed directly AWAY from the sun AS THE TAILS OF COMETS SELDOM ARE and IF the tail is long enough to reach beyond the earth then the earth will certainly pass through the tail of the comet on the afternoon and evening of May 18. But if the tail is curved as the tails of comets USUALLY ARE it is easily possible that the earth will pass UNDER it several hours or even a day AFTER the 8th. I have not seen this possibility (perhaps I should say probability) pointed out before.

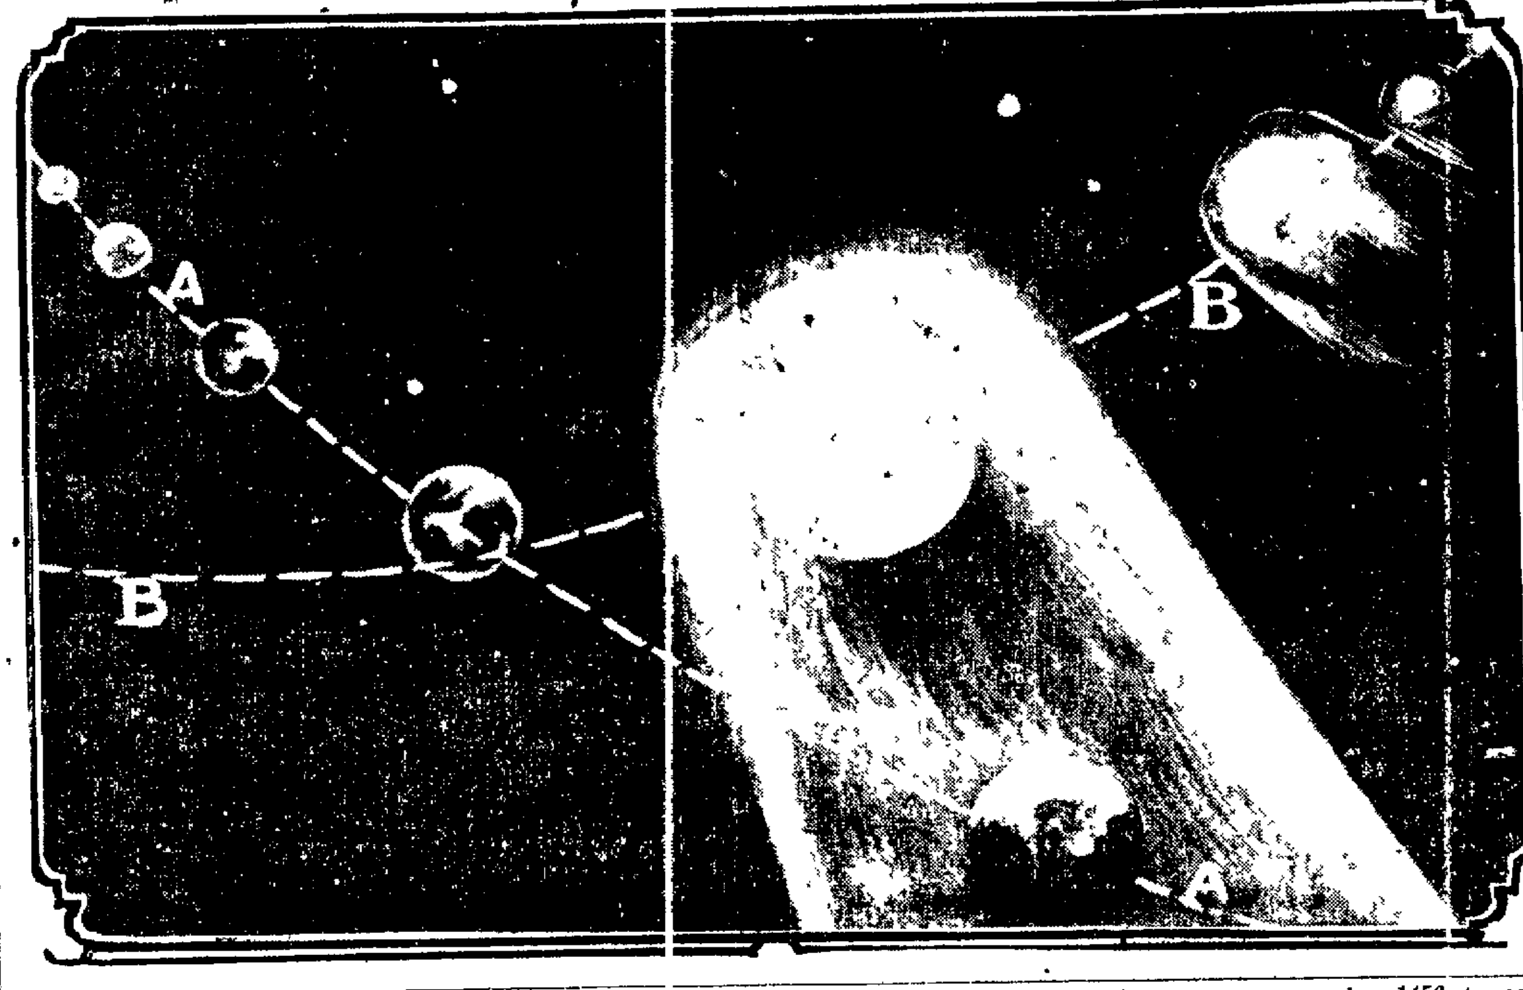

The above statement was made by Professor Burkhalter of the Chabot Observatory on April 13 and since that time he has strictly adhered to his calculations. This morning came the reports from ... points in the country where conditions were such that a perfect observation was possible that the earth evidently did not pass through the tail.

Halley's comet has always been a source of wonder and fear to the world. In the year of the Norman conquest and in 1456 it was responsible for much dismay, though on the first occasion William the Conqueror contrived to turn its appearance into an omen in his own favor by stating that it was a sign from Heaven that a kingdom wanted a king. Despite the fact that the world's scientists today are puzzled over the curious phenomena of the tail of the comet appearing in a diametrically different position from which it was computed it should appear, and the fact that many of the scientists do not believe that it has yet passed the earth, the attached diagram will show that there can be no fear of the contact between the earth and the comet. In the picture A equals the path of the earth and B the path of the comet. The sketch is the joint work of a band of world's astronomers.

WROTE LETTER TO HIS WIFE AND TELLS OF PLAN

James H. Morton Turned on Gas in Home of Alameda Friends.

BODY IS DISCOVERED BY NEARBY FIREMEN

Widow Arrives at Noon. But Will Not Tell Cause of Rash Act.

With the expressed purpose of ending his life James Hamilton Morton, a wealthy capitalist of San Francisco went to a house at 1317 Court street Alameda, last night turned on the gas in a stove and expired some time during the night as a result of asphyxiation. The cause of Morton's suicide is not known. Neither his wife nor his friends are willing to assign a reason.

Morton went to the Fairy building in San Francisco last night and penned a letter to his wife. This letter is supposed to contain Morton's reason for ending his existence. When asked this morning in Alameda to divulge the contents Mrs. Morton refused.

It is supposed that after indicting the missive Morton went to Alameda to the home of friends on Court street. The family living at that number is now out of the city but Morton entered the place, lit the gas and went into the front room where he partially disrobed. It is thought that he then turned on the gas as when his body was found this morning it was laying in the center of the room on the floor.

FIREMEN FOUND HIM

Firemen from the Court street fire house in Alameda ... light burning in the house at 1317 and knowing that the family was away became suspicious. They entered the place and found Morton's body. The police and morgue were notified and the suicide's body was removed.

A man named Henry Hansen whose home is at 40 Twentieth street San Francisco came to this city this morning in an automobile accompanied by Mrs. Morton. It is supposed that Morton told his wife that he intended to commit suicide as it was stated by the butler at his home in San Francisco today that Mrs. Morton had left for Alameda this morning before the local authorities knew of the suicide.

WIDOW IS RETICENT

When seen at the morgue Mrs. Morton, who was in a hysterical condition would say nothing about the reason for her husband's suicide. She would not give any facts concerning his life. Hansen was equally reticent.

Morton is a man of about 55 years old and was well dressed. He is known to be a retired capitalist and lives at 121 Commonwealth street in San Francisco, which is in the most exclusive residence section of Richmond.

TAIL IN EAST TODAY, ALTHOUGH IT WAS FIGURED IN THE WEST

Comet Passes the Snn, but Savants Are Puzzled Over Action of the Tail

CARNEGIE OBSERVATORY, Mt. Wilson. Cal., May 19--Halley's comet passed the sun on schedule time last evening but the sun arose this morning ahead of the nucleus of the wanderer.

When the earth will pass through the tail of the comet cannot be determined with any degree of accuracy. All that is known is that it is very close to the nearer wall of the tail, and likely to enter it at any moment.

These are the net results of the observations made at the Carnegie Observatory throughout last night and early today. It is announced by the scientists here assembled that the general public need not depend upon expert prognostications hereafter in determining whether or not the earth has passed through the ordeal of leaping through the gaseous streamer that projects for many millions of miles in the wake of the comet.

Rules to Observe Passage Through Tail

Observe these rules, and know the status of the visitor's itinerary:

If, just after sunset this evening, the tail of the comet points toward the sun, the earth has not yet passed through the tail.

If the tail points away from the sun the earth will have passed through during the daylight hours.

If the tail points toward and away from the sun at the same time, it will mean that the earth is about to enter it and will pass through during the night.

These rules hold good on any evening until doubt as to the passing of the comet shall have been dispelled.

The sun will set this evening fifty minutes ahead of the comet—that is the head of the comet will be visible above the western horizon nearly one hour after sundown. By the slant of the tail any observer may determine whether or not the earth passed through it during the day.

Failure of astronomers correctly to ascertain the moment of the earth's entering the comet's tail is explained in this way.

Until this morning, the comet being between the earth and the

NEW YORK, May 19.—A consignment of 100,000 cigar bands which has just reached New York from Germany, is the latest "undesirable" to incur the displeasure of Collector Loeb. The labels are said to be cleverly executed copies of the bands on what known brands of high-grade cigars and their entry Collector Loeb believes would be a violation of the law protecting trade marks. The bands will be destroyed by the government or exported at the consignees' expense.

BOYD ARGUES FOR STATE IN THE TRIAL OF FLANNERY BEFORE CROWD IN COURT

Defendant Preserves Cool Demeanor During the Arraignment of Him by the District Attorney of Marin County

SAN RAFAEL, May 19.—District Attorney Thomas P. Boyd at 10 o'clock this morning commenced the opening argument for the State in the trial of Harry P. Flannery, former Police Commissioner of San Francisco, indicted here on a charge of grand larceny for alleged participation in the swindling of Robert N. Wood, a young Selma farmer, at Sausalito by a fake poolroom game.

After devoting some time to a definition of what constituted the principals and accessories of a crime, Boyd took up the discussion of the specific features of the case on trial. He claimed that the Abbott gang could not have operated in San Francisco unless they were insured of police protection. To meet a possible argument by the counsel for the defense that the Marin county grand jury was being used to do San Francisco politics, Boyd argued that the only place where the Flannery trial could be held was in Marin county, where Wood was swindled out of $800.

CROWDS AT COURT.

Seldom, if ever, in the history of San Rafael has the ample space of the old-fashioned courtroom in which Judge Lennon presides been so crowded with curious spectators as it was this morning, when Boyd commenced his address. Long before the hour set for the bailiff's rap for order, standing room was at a premium.

Scores of buggies were tied along the hitching posts of Fourth street and the adjacent streets to the courthouse, testifying to the widespread interest in the proceedings. The corridors and steps of the courthouse contained an overflow meeting of ample proportions of persons disappointed in securing seats at the trial.

The dingy and somewhat somber interior of the courtroom was pleasantly relieved by the summery attire of many women. San Rafael's matrons and maids having turned out in force for the session.

FLANNERY COOL

The defendant (Flannery) arrived some moments before the appointed hour for the proceedings to commence. He was accompanied by his battery of counsel—George A. Knight, senior counsel; Charles J. Heggerty, Senator Martinelli of Sausalito, Frank C. Gould and J. W. Keyes of Sausalito. District Attorney Boyd sat alone at his end of the counsel's table, arranging his memoranda in final form.

Flannery sat beside Knight and followed the address of Boyd with close attention. His expression was grave and impassive. If the rapid-fire fusillade of accusation made by Boyd affected him, he gave no sign. He might have been merely a curious spectator from all that his demeanor indicated.

The air tingled with expectancy. There was a general tension of anticipation. For days attack and counter-attack had been made, innuendoes had been indulged in, and insinuations delivered. So many matters foreign to the specific allegations of the indictment had been injected that there was a general curiosity and eagerness for the final summing up by the attorney for the people and the attorney for the defendant in order that the situation might be crystallized and the issues concretely presented.

MARTINELLI FOR DEFENSE.

Senator E. B. Martinelli for the defense followed District Attorney Boyd's argument at 11 o'clock. He indicated that the defense intended to make it appear that if guilty, Flannery should have been tried in San Francisco. Martinelli declared that the only testimony adduced by the prosecution was that of Flannery's accomplice, Joe Abbott. He attacked Abbott's testimony regarding the number of victims fleeced at Sausalito during the five weeks the poolroom was operated previous to the raid and said that if Abbott's steerers were protected in San Francisco they would have brought more easy marks to Sausalito.

The senator dwelt on the fact that Flannery had thrown Abbott out of his office. He also claimed that if Flannery was guilty he would have paid Abbott to get him out of the way.

SAN RAFAEL, May 19.—All the evidence is in the trial of Harry P. Flannery, the San Francisco public commissioner, and the case will, in all probability, go to the jury this afternoon, when the attorneys for both sides complete their arguments to the jury.

One of the important features deduced from the testimony of the defendant was Flannery's statement that he had never met Fremont Older. He declared he had never seen the editor before his appearance in the courtroom at San Rafael last Tuesday.

A question by Knight as to whether he knew what Older's attitude toward him was, was objected to by the District Attorney.

Knight explained that his purpose was to show that Older and William McNevin are Flannery's bitterest enemies.

"This is no place to thresh out the political differences of San Francisco," said Boyd.

Attorney Heggerty interrupted by saying that not a single attack had been made against Flannery until he had been appointed to the Police Commission. From then on a most bitter, malignant crusade and bitter attack, he said, has been made by Older and his paper, "with the object of casting ridicule and disgrace, for political purposes, because they had hostilely opposed the McCarthy administration. As a result of this, McNevin entered into an agreement with Older to secure Abbott to implicate Flannery."

Harry P. Flannery, police commissioner of San Francisco, concluded his testimony in his trial yesterday afternoon, and Captain of Police Duke was called to the stand to support the defendant's statement that he had given orders to "run the crooks out of town" and taken a position the very antithesis of what Abbott and the others would make it appear was the commissioner's policy.

ORDERS TO DUKE.

Captain Thomas Duke had with him a book containing an order he had issued while in charge of the central police station in San Francisco. The order to like action, Duke said, had been given him by Flannery, and was to the effect that Kid Sullivan, a pickpocket and gambler, and all of his kind were to be run out of town.

Judge Lennon refused to allow the written order to be read, as it was only made by Duke, but allowed him to state the substance of the order given him by Flannery as near as he could remember it. With this evidence the announcement was made that the the Flannery case was finished.

Flannery's testimony was in direct contradiction to Abbott's story and was frankly and freely given.

DUKE'S TESTIMONY.

Q Did you ever call Officer Farrell into your place of business and introduce him to Abbott and say, "He is all right."

A No, sir.

Q Were you ever directly or indirectly in any way, shape or form connected with any undertaking that he was engaged in?

A Never in my life.

Q Now, when you were installed as police commissioner of San Francisco, did you give the bunko or plain-clothed men on bunko detail any orders in reference to their action and official procedure in clearing the city from pickpockets, thieves and bunko men?

A Yes, sir.

The Court—Mr. Flannery, who formulates the orders for the chief of police, the board of police commissioners?

A The board of police commissioners.

Q And you give the orders to the chief of police without the consent and knowledge of the entire board?

A Oh, yes.

Q You do?

A Absolutely.

Q Without their knowledge?

A Without their knowledge. I instruct the chief of police anything that is to be done.

ABSOLUTE POWER.

Q You meet on the street and tell him what you want done?

A Absolutely, yes, sir.

Q Without the knowledge of the other members of the board?

A Without the knowledge of the other members of the board.

Q Could you give him private instructions if you saw fit?

A Yes, sir.

Q Now, after the arrest of Abbott for his fake poolroom, when did you first see Abbott about how long after this Hazleton meeting?

A Well, I can't recollect just when it was, some time after he was out on bail.

Q Yes; well, what occurred?

A Well, he came to see me about getting a bond.

Q Yes?

A And I told him that Mr. Wheelan had informed me he was running a fake poolroom, and I said, "I can not have anything more to do with you at all; I can not assist you any." So he wanted to give me some property, and so forth. I said, "Positively no; I can not do anything for you."

Q Well, then, when did you next see him?

A Well, I saw him possibly two or three days about that time. He was arranging for bail.

Q Yes?

A He came for me, I think, possibly two or three times or four times. I went home one morning at 2 o'clock. Mr. Bassity came along about 2 o'clock with a coupe. He said, "The cars are stopped; let's go home." I said, "All right, let's go home," got in the coupe and drove out home, and when I got out at Sacramento and Devisadero streets I saw a man coming from across the street. The man proceed to be Abbott. I said, "What do you want?" He said, "I would like to have you assist me, get me out of jail." I said, "Go away from me; don't come near me. I don't want to talk to you at all. I don't want to have anything to do with you." I says, "You are a crook of the worst kind," so Bassity called him and put him in the coupe and took him away with him. That is all that occurred there.

TALKS WITH ABBOTT.

Q Was there any time you ever talked police affairs with Abbott?

A Never talked police affairs with Abbott.

The taking of testimony was concluded yesterday and today the attorneys are arguing before the jury. It is expected that the fate of Flannery will be in the hands of the jury before tomorrow night, although the calling of the Marin county grand jury to investigate reports of jury tampering may delay the close of the trial.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Under cross-examination conducted by District Attorney Boyd Flannery told of his activities in behalf of the candidacy of his friend, P. H. McCarthy, for the mayoralty. He stated he had asked Officer Farrell to support McCarthy, and, as he had done so, he recommended him to the consideration of Chief Martin when the latter was installed as chief of police. He denies having told Captain of Detectives Wall to put Farrell on the "bunko" detail. He vehemently and emphatically denied he had ever "steered" patrons to Abbott's offices or that he had received one cent from him or any one in the office as "commissions." The witness admitted that on account of his friendship for Abbott's father he had agreed to assist him to get a license for a cafe where it was intended gambling games were to be conducted, but, declared the witness, "the games were to be run in accordance with the law."

FLANNERY'S REPUTATION.

There was an array of witnesses called to the stand by the defense to establish the good reputation of the defendant for truth and verity. Among them were the following, who agreed in the evidence that Flannery's word was good: Judge Cabaniss of the local Superior Court, Father Philip Brady of St. Charles Catholic Church, former Supervisor Ralph McLeran, W. A. Halstead, Captain of Police Shea, Captain of Police Anderson, John Tait, Charles Loesch, Sergeant of Police John O'Meara, Chief Emergency Surgeon E. S. Howard and Police Commissioner Percy W. Henderson.

With the conclusion of this line of testimony the defense rested its case, and Sheriff Taylor was called by the prosecution as his first witness in rebuttal. His testimony was a brief but specific denial of all of MacSherry's charges concerning the reputed conspiracy to "railroad" Flannery to the penitentiary. On cross-examination by Attorney Knight he admitted that he went with the district attorney to see Mrs. MacSherry a week ago Thursday night in an endeavor to have her induce her husband to turn state's evidence, "but it was not for Flannery, but for Pistolesi," said the sheriff.

John F. Neylan, a newspaper reporter, testified that on April 28 Flannery had told him that the telegram referred to Abbott's return to the racetrack. He said that Flannery had denied that he knew either MacSherry or Hazleton. He was positive, he said, that Flannery had made those statements.

Fremont Older was then called. He denied that he had interviewed Abbott in a cell. Older said he had only a public interest in the case as a citizen. He admitted that he had converse with Abbott, "not what his testimony should be, but what it would be." Older said he did not suspect Flannery of complicity in the case until an emissary had come to him and asked him to "cut up the touch" with Flannery. Older was very excited and irritable on the stand. He said he had no other interest in Flannery except in the interest of good government.

the task imposed on him as quasi judicial "in a sense," but did not think the fact that he considered Ballinger and his immediate associates honest and Glavis dishonest disqualified him from rendering a just opinion.

Fred Dennett, commissioner of the general land office, followed Lawler on the stand. Chairman Nelson announced at the opening of the session that the committee had decided not to make public the letters between Ballinger and George Perkins of New York, which had been furnished in response to Brandeis' request. He explained that they related only to the naming of two glaciers.

SCHULER HEAVY DRINKER, WITNESS TELLS IN COURT

Edward Houston Testifies Dead Man Was Quarrelsome in Cups; Alcoholic Fits Common, According to J. Rosenthal

Rose C. Schuler's contest of the will of her son, Lorenz L. Schuler, the deceased Alameda brewer, which is in progress in the probate department of the Superior Court, developed the fact today, from the testimony introduced by Attorney M. C. Hassett of San Francisco, representing the mother, that alcoholic fits were a malady with the dead man. Three of the witnesses examined told the jury that the brewer had been afflicted with the malady, and also testified to Schuler's excessive drinking.

Edward Houston, who knew the dead brewer intimately for about twenty years, testified that Schuler was probably the heaviest and most constant drinker he has ever known. The witness also told the jury that Lorenz was very quarrelsome when in his cups, which was practically all the time, and that on one occasion the brewer struck him (Houston) in the forehead for absolutely no reason, knocking him partially unconscious.

SAW HIM IN STREET.

Julius Rosenthal, also a long acquaintance of Schuler's, testified that he had seen the brewer lying in the street in an alcoholic fit on the day of his death, and Christina Helmuth, of 1271 Seventeenth avenue, San Francisco, related to the jury her experience in the home of Henry Schuler, the father of Lorenz, in 1894, while she was employed there as housekeeper.

The elder Schuler and his children, with the exception of Henry A. Schuler, who was in San Francisco with his mother, were living at the Palace brewery at that time and the witness kept house for them for eight months. Mrs. Helmuth told the jury that the very first time she set eyes upon Lorenz he impressed her as a young man greatly addicted to the use of liquor, his hands being swollen, his eyes bloodshot and his face flushed with a purple tinge.

Mrs. Helmuth said that the first morning he was in the house she saw Henry Schuler mix cocktails for himself and the boys and girls and give them to Lorenz and the others before breakfast. About three days afterwards the witness saw Lorenz brought home in the brewery wagon with his head bandaged and in a frightful condition. He was carried into the brewery barroom and laid on the floor, and there he remained for about three-quarters of an hour in an alcoholic fit. When he came out of the convulsions Lorenz was in such a terrible plight that he was unable to resume his duties at the brewery for several days afterwards.

A couple of weeks after that incident, Mrs. Helmuth testified, Lorenz and his father had a terrible quarrel about the money Lorenz would bring home, the father accusing the son of gambling and spending money needlessly and Lorenz retorting by calling his father vile names and cussing him for about everything he could lay his tongue to. The witness also said that during all the time she could remember Lorenz always returned home under the influence of liquor, and that the constant quarreling with his father and the discord in which the family constantly lived finally drove her away from the house in disgust.

THOUGHT HIM INSANE.

"From the time I first became acquainted with Lorenz," said the witness, "I was convinced that he was crazy, and this conviction I still retain."

Dr. Jillum of the Alameda Sanitarium, where Lorenz was cared for after he fell down-stairs in 1907 and fractured his skull, was also a witness. He testified that the brewer's head was cracked from the top of the skull to the base of the brain, and that he lay unconscious for about two weeks. He recovered from the terrible injury, however, the witness said, so that he appeared to be about as good as he was before he sustained the hurt.

At the conclusion of the morning hearing the case was continued until Monday forenoon, when Attorney Hassett hopes to close the strong case he is building up for the plaintiff.

Would Arrest Dogs Tagged or Otherwise

Park Commissioner W. S. Gould this afternoon proposed to that body that it should take steps to have all dogs running at large in the city impounded whether or not they were decorated with a license, paid for by their owners in order that they might enjoy a certain amount of freedom and immunity from the dog catcher.

Not being thoroughly posted on the law governing such action the matter was referred to City Attorney Stetson, who will pass upon the fate of the bow-wows within a few days. Until that time the canine population may continue to drag a bone through the streets without fear of arrest, provided they wear their badge.

SUITCASES SWITCHED.

C. B. Martin, of 2015 San Antonia avenue, Alameda, has reported to the police that his suitcase, which he carried on a Sixteenth street car on the way to the Southern Pacific depot in this city, was taken from the car and another one substituted for it. He has turned the suitcase he found in place of his own over to the traction company officials. This suitcase contains clothing and jewelry to the value of $100.

Halley's Comet Is Still Puzzling the Whole World

'STUNG!' SAYS COMET; 'HA!' CHIRRUPS EARTH

ASTRONOMERS FOILED; POPULATION FOOLED

Oaklanders Play Peek-a-Boo With the Moon, But See No More.

"Ha! never feased me,' bantered Mother Earth as she emerged unscathed from the gaseous entanglements of Old Comet's tail, merry once again with the cloud of doubt lifted from her bosom.

"No, but I had you going some," retorted the old brand, himself shuffling onward into the caverns of space where for the coming three-quarters of a century he will remain in obscurity.

And the watchers, thousands of them on house and hilltop waited in vain for some glimmering of spontaneous combustion, for the flash of meteors or at least for an odor of fire and brimstone. But they were unrewarded as were also the men of science in all parts of the world, who, keeping close vigil throughout the early evening and way into the night perceived not the slightest trace of anything more than the usual manifestations which have made the starry wanderer familiar to the inhabitants of the earth.

So far as the unversed individual was concerned or enlightened, he was not touched by the filmy appendage and only in their imagination, or terror as it was in some instances, was the earth ever enveloped.

Those in Oakland who were interested to the extent of remaining up half of the night found themselves playing at peek-a-boo with the moon. Clouds and patches of blue at intervals was all they saw in the heavens with now and then a star, and at Chabot Observatory Professor Burkhalter, armed with his big instrument, finally withdrew from the tantalizing game.

Many people during the early evening took up a position within calling distance of the observatory as if awaiting advance information of some terrible calamity and it was only when the professor assured them through a side window that there would be no visible indications of the passing and nothing further to hear from the comet until the sun that they took their departure.

ASTRONOMERS FOILED.

At other points of the earth's surface under more favorable atmospheric conditions astronomers took their observation but found nothing sensational through the depths of the universe and aside from the satisfaction of being at the finish line to record the records they were not paid for their attention.

They did find that the world still whirled along her orbit as before and that the sun remained unchanged. That Venus still occupied the throne of admiration in the heavens and that the moon still beamed with full intent. One thing was demonstrated and that was the tail did not contain any such proportions as had been previously figured, and hear at least 14,000,000 miles from the nucleus of the body came about as near to being nothingness as anything could. There were no huge fragments trailing along in the wake. If there were, say those in the know, the earth could not have dodged them successfully.

MERRY HA! HA!

So old comet, if you will take a short backward glance you will catch many a grin today at your expense and the pall of suspense which you cast over an ever gullible world will be changed into a universal ha! ha! and next time you come along to switch your artillery tail in the face of a staid old planet it will be sighted, if not entirely ignored. You tricked us once, we will admit, admission to your fake exhibition by weeks of worry and trepidation. You showed pictured well but you did not deliver the goods on the inside and the country fairs have existed for us too long. After your advent the world is now blase to most anything that may come along.

Streamer Plays Tag With Scientists the World Over; Earth May Yet Pass Through Visitor's Appendage

sun, it was impossible to determine the extent of the curve of the tail. Gazed at through the telescope on this planet, the under side of the tail, which was toward the earth, appeared to be straight. The eye was deceived. It was not until this morning, when the comet 'arose" beyond the sky, that the extent of the curvature could be detected. With the sun's rays reflected on the upper side, the great sweep of the tail could be seen.

GASES TOO LIGHT.

So light are the gases forming the tail of the comet that it cannot be figured definitely just where they begin. Thus the exact moment of the earth's entry cannot be determined. The stethoscope reveals nothing.

This morning's observations, however, showed that we had drawn very close to the streamer. It was more clearly defined and afforded a magnificent spectacle, stretching like the glow of a great searchlight from the eastern horizon clear through Milky Way and well past the zenith.

Many shooting stars were seen in the comet's tail this morning after the moon had set. This meteoric activity afforded a brilliant spectacle.

CALCULATIONS SHATTERED.

WILLIAMS BAY, Wisconsin, May 19.—Shattering all scientific calculation and completely puzzling astronomers, the glowing tail of Halley's comet appeared in the eastern sky today at a time when the world's comet authorities had agreed it would be in the west.

Such eminent astronomers as Professor S. A. Mitchell of Columbia University, New York, Professor Edwin B. Frost, head of the Yerkes Observatory staff and Professor Edward Barnard of the University of Chicago, all agree that the light they saw in the east was the comet's tail. No adequate explanation, however, is forthcoming.

MAKE THREE GUESSES.

Professor Mitchell, Professor Frost and Professor Barnard say that any of the following three explanations may be right:

First—The curvature of the comet's tail first discovered and noted by Professor Barnard on Tuesday night may have developed to a wholly unexpected degree, while the head of the comet has passed the earth on schedule.

Second—Like Borelli's comet of 1903, Halley's comet may have ceased its tail-making activity, cutting off the glowing fan that is now puzzling the scientists.

Third—It is possible that all calculations are wrong and that the comet has not yet passed the earth.

STILL VISIBLE.

As nearly as could be computed the period of appearance of the comet's tail in the east extended from 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night to 9:30 o'clock this morning. It was still plainly visible at a time when astronomers were confident the earth would have passed completely through the tail. After leaving his telescope at daybreak Professor Frost issued the following statement:

"Greater than all the theories and all the computations are the facts. And the fact is that the tail of Halley's comet has been appearing in the east in practically the same position as it appeared yesterday morning. There is no question about that. The tail which glowed from the horizon close to the Milky Way from before midnight until dawn has not yet passed across the earth. That is a certainty.

"In addition it is also certain that there is no material diminution in the size of this tail as compared with the tail of the day before.

"We are confident that the calculations for the passage of the head of the comet between the sun and the earth are correct. Unquestioned astronomical authorities, working independently of each other in all parts of the world, arrived at these calculations, which have been corrected in detail ever since the comet passed Venus on May 2.

"We are also confident that the head of the comet made the transit as per schedule. But the mystery of the appearance of the tail in the east this morning is the great puzzle. It cannot be explained satisfactorily at this time."

SOUTH SEES APPENDAGE.

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—Halley comet—rather, the tail of the visitor—was visible in the eastern sky from the observatories on Mount Wilson and Mount Lowe at the usual hours this morning from 3:30 o'clock until dawn.

Director George E. Hale of the Carnegie Observatory on Mount Wilson said today that faulty calculations as to when the earth would pass through the tail of the comet were due to the fact that there was a great curvature in the tail which could not be estimated accurately.

Undoubtedly the head of the comet had passed the sun at the time predicted but calculations as to when the earth would come into contact with the tail, if at all, were largely guess work, he said.

The comet illuminated the eastern sky to the east of Venus this morning, extending from the milky way to the horizon. It was plainly visible as soon as the moon had set.

Mount Lowe Observatory reported that according to observations taken it was the belief the earth was about to pass into the tail of the comet at 10:30 o'clock today, Pacific Coast time. That portion of the tail visible this morning in the eastern sky measured 110 degrees, it being larger and longer than yesterday morning, but not so bright.

EXPEDITION FAILS.

HONOLULU, May 19.—The astronomical expedition from the University of Ohio in charge of Professors Coddington and Lord stationed at Waialua failed to obtain any observations of the transit of Halley's comet across the face of the sun, as the weather was cloudy all day.

JOHANNESBERG, May 19.—According to the observations made at the Transvaal Observatory, of which R. T. Annies is director, the earth had not traversed through the tail of Halley's comet today at dawn.

The tail was north of the ecliptic, and at the Observatory it was thought probable that the earth would pass considerably to the south of it.

COLLECT DATA ON AN AERIAL SKYROCKET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 19.—Nightly observations of Halley's comet made at the Harvard observatory since September 1 have resulted in the collection by Prof. O. C. Wendell and Leon Campbell, of the observatory staff, of data from which the observatory experts may be able to form a scientific law as to the brightest of comets in relation to their distance from the earth. An official announcement in regard to the matter may be expected soon.

FOREIGNERS SEEKING SAFETY IN MINE

DENVER, May 19.—Preferring the dangers they know to those of which they are ignorant, many of the foreign miners employed on the day shifts of the Leadville and Cripple Creek mines remained under ground last night. "I can tell what is liable to fall on me under ground," said one old "hard rock" as he started into the Yak tunnel at Leadville, "but I want 1600 feet of Leadville granite between me and them comets."

COMET PLAYED NO PRANKS WITH THE WIRES

But it Did With the Nerves and Minds of the Earth's Inhabitants.

JOKER AND DYNAMITE TERRORIZE POPULATION

Wit Sends Explosive Into Air and Watchers Flee for Their Lives.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Commercial telegraph companies feared the passage of the earth through the comet's tail would have an effect on their wires similar to that of the aurora borealis, which is responsible for ground currents, making the transmission of dispatches impossible.

The companies were prepared to overcome interference by the use of intermediate batteries and the avoidance of grounded wires.

No disturbances were reported, however, except a slight interference which was felt on the wires of one company between Vancouver and Regina in Northwestern Canada.

Even this was not believed to be attributable to the comet, as auroral displays in the north are not unusual at this time of the year. None of the wireless reported interference with the transmission of dispatches.

JOKER AND BALLOON.

ROSELLE, N. J., May 19.—Midnight comet watchers here were thrown into a state of terror as the result of a practical joke played by H. C. Boehr, a young chemist. Knowing that many persons were on the lookout for strange phenomena accompanying the passage through the tail of the comet, Boehr, with the aid of a small balloon, a quantity of sodium, a time fuse and a stick of dynamite, contrived an apparatus which would rise into the air to a height of 4000 feet and then explode with a terrific roar.

The apparatus was released in a large vacant field south of the town and worked to perfection. The explosion of the dynamite was heard for miles. The explosion ignited the sodium which fell to the earth in a great shower of flame. Pandemonium resulted and it was many hours before the fears of some of the watchers had been allayed.

COMET'S APPROACH.

PATERSON, N. J., May 19.—County Physician Dr. Robert R. Armstrong of this city believes that the near approach of Halley's comet to the earth is responsible for a large number of cases of insanity which have developed in this section during the last month. In that period, he says, he has been called to see more persons suffering from suddenly developed insanity than at any time since he became county physician.

TINY LITTLE GIRL.

CHICAGO, May 19.—"J. Halley Abrams" is the name of a tiny little girl who arrived yesterday at the home of J. Y. Abrams, chief house detective at a downtown hotel. The little stranger arrived shortly after noon and the physician who attended asked permission to name her. Permission being given he said:

"All right. You will henceforth be known as 'The Comet Girl' and I choose for you the name of 'Halley.'"

COLLEGE STUDENTS.

HANOVER, N. H., May 19.—A snake dance in night shirts and pajamas was held by a thousand Dartmouth students on the college campus at midnight to mark the passing of the comet. A terrific din with horns, whistles, bells and firecrackers was kept up. The observatory was visited and the astronomers were liberally serenaded.

GAY PARIS AWAITS.

PARIS, May 19.—There was a sharp thunderstorm last night at 11 o'clock, with reverberations which woke up nervous persons, giving a semblance of reality to the approach of doom. Later a fine rain began which discouraged enthusiastic stargazers, overcasting the heavens so thickly that not even astronomers could perceive them.

Paris waited for the end of the world at the all-night restaurants of Montmartre and the boulevards. There has been a great demand for tables at the gay places during the week, many resorts which keep fairly early hours remaining open till dawn. At Maxim's the revelry ran high, visitors toasting each other with the words of the Roman gladiators, "Dying, we salute you."

At the Dead Rat many Americans ordered untold quantities of champagne, while all along the boulevards the restaurants were filled with gay crowds, who heralded the end of creation and made it the occasion for a celebration similar to the night before Christmas or New Year's eve.

Generally in the middle classes the comet's appearance was accepted stoically, although the peasants in the south for some time have been showing signs of fear.

'RED LANTERN' SENDS NEGROES IN FLIGHT

NORFOLK, Va., May 19.—Already frightened out of their wits, negroes in the Black Belt were last night thrown into hysterics when practical jokers tied a suspended red lantern from telephone wires. Negro women seeing the red glare from the lamp suspended above fell on their knees in the street and prayed to be delivered from the comet. A party of negroes in an automobile passing the spot at the time jumped from the car and ran in every direction. Many of them were afraid to go into their homes, fearing the comet would fall on their houses and burn them. Prayer meetings were held in the street.

EARTH DODGED TAIL BY MANY MILLION MILES, SAYS SAVANT

Director Campbell of Lick Observatory Declares Appendage Lags Behind Nucleus in Plane of Earth's Orbit

Scientists Are Baffled By Tardy Tail of Comet

After a night of vigil, the world's scientists today discovered the tail of Halley's comet in the eastern sky when all of their computations and predictions should have placed it in the western sky.

Professor Edwin B. Frost, head of the Yerkes Observatory staff; Professor Edward Barnard of the University of Chicago, and Professor S. A. Mitchell of Columbia University, New York, confess themselves as absolutely puzzled. They believe the head of the comet made its transit on schedule time, but none of them are prepared to say positively why the tail of the comet is dragging along and why it should appear in diametrically the opposite direction in which the world's astronomers have predicted it should appear.

These learned scientists offer three explanations for the puzzling phenomena, any one of which they think is correct. The explanations follow:

First—The curvature of the comet's tail, first discovered and noted by Professor Barnard on Tuesday night, may have developed to a wholly unexpected degree, while the head of the comet has passed the earth on schedule.

Second—Like Borelli's comet of 1903, Halley's comet may have ceased its tail-making activity, cutting off the glow fan that is now puzzling the scientists.

Third—It is possible that all calculations are wrong, and that the comet has not yet passed the earth.

SAN JOSE, May 19.—Director W. W. Campbell of Lick Observatory, this morning furnished the following statement to the Associated Press:

"The earth did not pass through the tail of the comet Halley up to daylight this morning. On the contrary, even before the moon had quite set, the tail was visible in the eastern sky at least 140 degrees in length, and perhaps 160 degrees. The doubt as to its length arises from the fact the bright background of the milky way interfered with observations of its extremity. In appearance it was very much the same as Wednesday morning except that it was almost twice as wide this morning due no doubt to closer proximity to the earth.

"As predicted in my message of Wednesday evening the tail lagged behind the line drawn from the sun through the head of the comet. This lagging at the point through which the earth was expected to pass amounts certainly to several million miles. The diameter of the tail at the point in which we are specially interested, 14,000,000 miles from the head, was about eight degrees. If the tail at daylight had been almost in contact with the earth we should have expected the angular diameter to be much greater than it was. The tail was therefore probably several million miles away in which case the earth and tail did not meet this morning.

WILL AVOID TAIL.

"If this meeting is delayed until Thursday afternoon or Thursday night—today, May 19th—there can be little doubt that the earth will not pass through the tail at all, but will pass to the south side of it. The reason for this is a simple one. The tail lags behind in the plane of the comet's orbit; the comet's orbital plane makes an angle of 18 degrees with the earth's orbital plane; the retardation of the tail therefore draws it away from the plane in which the earth is moving, and the earth will pass to the south of it. The observed position of the tail this morning was appreciably further north than that of yesterday morning.

SITUATION INTERESTING.

"This lagging of the tail produces an interesting situation. If we could have observed the entire comet this morning, we should have seen the head of the comet well below the sun and the tail extending far above the sun. We have been so nearly in the plane of the comet's orbit during the past fortnight that it has been impossible to observe directly the lagging of the tail, for the curvature has been exactly away from us. If the observer were situated out in space, far to the north or to the south of the earth and comet he would undoubtedly have been able to see the tail strongly curved backward with reference to the direction or motion of the comet.

Other conclusions yesterday that the tail is lagging were based upon the fact that the angular diameter of the tail did not increase so rapidly as it should have done had the tail been pointing exactly away from the sun.

(Signed) W. W. CAMPBELL, Director.

BALLOONISTS FAIL TO FIND COMET'S TAIL

Astronomer and Newspaperman Take Trip Into Clouds to Find Appendage.

PHENOMENA ABSENT IN UPPER STRATA

Ohio Observers in Honolulu See Nothing of Transit of the Aerial Tramp.

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—Fraught with mundane excitement, but not eventful astronomically, the balloon expedition to explore the tail of Halley's comet, which began here last night at 6:35 o'clock, ended near Hillview, Green county, Ills., at 11:30 o'clock. The Aerostats traveled 65 miles. Professor Joe O. James, of Washington University, who made the trip with John Berry, pilot, and Andrew Drew, a newspaperman, had with him an aeroscope, an aneroid barometer, a thermometer and a telescope.

The balloon rose in a cloudless sky. As only seventeen bags of ballast were taken up a landing was made at Carsonville, St. Louis county, at 7:15. Supper was taken at a farmhouse and fifty children were taken on short flights "to see the comet," the balloon being held captive by a drag rope.

CHANGES COURSE.

The aerial voyage was resumed at 8:45 and all ballast except eight bags had to be sacrificed. Unknown to the pilot the balloon changed its course from west to north.

Professor James said he did not see any traces of the comet's tail, although he often scanned the heavens with his telescope. The balloon at no time reached a high altitude.

"I noticed no phenomena which I could confidently attribute to the effects of the passing of the comet's tail in which we rode for two hours," said Professor James. "There was no faint phosphorescence in the skies, no auroral display and no shower of meteors within our vision such as many astronomers had predicted."

Restaurant Owners Accused by Board

Ten restaurant keepers, two of them Japanese, were arrested yesterday on the complaint of M. O. The men arrested are:

Most of these people are coffee-drinkers. They can not account for their whimsical moods and don't realize they are doing anything to cause them. But take a look at the case in the light of science as applied to physiology.

Ever study the way coffee acts on the brain and nervous system?

"Caffeine," says a scientist, "is a drug found in coffee and tea and is classed among the habit-forming drugs, like whiskey, morphine, cocaine, etc.

"It acts as a so-called heart stimulant first—but the reaction later shows that it is in reality a paralyzant—weakens the nerves and partially paralyzes them.

"Caffeine causes a short period of excitement of the nervous system—a delusory effect.

"But this is followed by the inevitable depression of spirits, dullness of intellect and sometimes dizziness."

That's what coffee does, in part.

On the other hand, thousands of people have learned to distrust coffee and have found in well-made POSTUM a beverage which tastes similar to coffee, but has none of the harmful effects of coffee.

If you would feel clear-headed and well all the time, drop coffee and begin using POSTUM. WOMAN OR COMET CAUSE OF AFFRAY

Barber and Laborer Evidence Hurts That Came From a Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—One said it was the mysterious Halley's comet, the other that it was the equally mysterious, but ever-interesting woman, that was responsible for the dispute. But, however that may be, both presented a sorry-looking appearance when, at 2:30 this morning, they applied for treatment at the Central Emergency Hospital. Daniel Baldi, a laborer, and Santiego Pallas, a barber, were the participants in the disturbance. It was the former who vouched for the statement that jealousy over the woman was responsible for the fight between them, but according to the story gleaned from both, Baldi struck his companion over the head with a bottle, whereupon Pallas, not to be outdone, hit the other with a revolver, and followed this up with two knife stabs.

Baldi was badly cut up, and after both had been treated the police decided to lock Pallas up for battery.

Supervisors Meet In State Conclave

STOCKTON, May 19.—Stockton is ready to entertain the California Supervisors who will meet here in annual session tomorrow afternoon. The San Joaquin County Supervisors, co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce, has completed arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors. F. B. Nims, J. M. Perry and L. S. Wetmore will have charge of the visitors.

The Supervisors will arrive early tomorrow afternoon, and shortly afterward they will be taken on the steamer Leander, on a ride to Disappointment slough. An opportunity will be afforded the visitors to see the excellent system of waterways in the country and also various stages of reclamation work.

Friday morning they will take an automobile trip to Lodi and upon arrival there will be entertained at luncheon by the Moquelumne Club. Saturday the Supervisors will inspect the many manufacturing plants in this city.

Masked Men Rob Sacramento Saloon

SACRAMENTO, May 19.—Two masked men entered the saloon of O'Brien & Magennis, in the business section, at 1:30 o'clock last night, stood up one of the owners and two customers and robbed the till, making good their escape. Both men acted like experienced hold-up men, and were heavily armed. The entire police force of the city is scouring the downtown portion, and watching all trains.

The hold-up follows a month's quiet, after a long series of saloon robberies that terrorized the city, and for complicity in which six men are now being held for trial before the Superior Court of Sacramento county.

Bell Theater Attractions Fully Up to Usual High Water Mark

THE DOWLINGS in "A Snap Shot" at the Bell Theater.

The usual standard of excellence which marks the entertainment at the Bell Theater is well in evidence this week. Two at least splendid attractions, each worthy of top-line honors, are noteworthy in the bill. One of these, a rattling good comedy by the funsters, Joseph and Myra Davis Dowling, the other a bit of the tragic in the "Dream Scene" from "The Bells" given by that famous tragedian, John Griffith, and an excellent supporting company. "The Snap Shot" is a very humorous sketch, and the Dowlings get the maximum amount of fun out of its lines and situations. It deals with a case of mistaken identity, in which Mr. Dowling effects the role of two characters, the accused husband and the mistaken paperhanger. The only costume changes between the two characters is in the removal of his hat to play the husband. John Griffith in the "Dream Scene" from "The Bells" presents one of the strongest vaudeville attractions that has come to Oakland. With Mr. Griffith is a very excellent supporting company and the presentation of this exceedingly strong scene holds the spectator with intensity till the final curtain. Fox and Ward, old-time minstrel men, are to the fore in a happy minstrel melange, in which songs, chatter and merry-making contribute to please.

That inimitable little comedienne, Effie Pearson, with the assistance of J. Hunter Wilson, is presenting an entirely new act. The Boyle Brothers do a line of club juggling and hoop rolling that is neat and goes very well, while Billy Elwood in the role of the happy sailor contributes a diverting oddity in which songs and chatter are intermingled. Excellent motion pictures are shown that are a feature of the program.

COUNTESS SECRET BRIDE OF BATONYI

Newport Whip Must Choose Between Millions and Fair Lady.

NEW YORK, May 19.—In the wake of the recent arrival of Aurel Batonyi from Europe on the steamer Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, come two stories that are bound to interest and excite the particular society set in Newport and New York in which the handsome whip has moved.

Report Number 1.—Aurel Batonyi, divorced husband of Mrs Burke-Roche, was secretly married to Countess Palmai Ilka Kinsky in Paris during Easter week.

Report Number 2.—Batonyi's father recently died in Hungary, leaving an estate of $3,000,000 which is to become his after the death of his mother, if he gives up the Countess and relinquishes claims to American wives.

Either report Number 1 or report Number 2 would have been sufficient to have cast a new halo about the Hungarian whip at Newport, where he now is. In view of the angry statements he made to reporters on his arrival because the higher courts had supported his former wife in the divorce which she secured, he refused to talk in Newport today about his marriage to the Countess Kinsky.

"Are you a $3,000,000 heir?" was the reporter's next question.

"My creditors don't seem to know," was the answer.

Tragedy Halts Trip Of California Women

NEW YORK, May 19.—Through the canceling of the passage on the Lusitania which had been reserved for Mrs Robert Fulton and Mrs. George Mitchell, both of Los Angeles, Cal., a pathetic story came to light today just as the Cunarder was about to leave the pier for Liverpool. Both women are at the Hotel Belmont under the care of a physician.

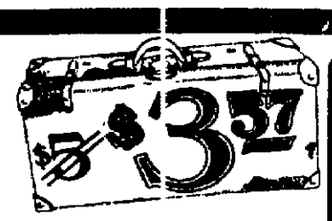

Robert Fulton Jr., a son of Mrs. Fulton, married Mrs Mitchell's only daughter several months ago. The couple left for Europe on their wedding tour and were to have remained abroad until the end of next month. As a surprise to his bride the young husband arranged with his mother and mother-in-law to join them in Paris next month and to make an automobile trip through France before returning to California.

For that purpose Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Fulton arrived here yesterday, and after arranging for reservations on the Lusitania and making a shopping trip, returned to the hotel. There Mrs. Mitchell received a telegram from her husband as she passed the desk. She fainted when she read it. Mrs. Fulton picked up the message and she too collapsed. The telegram said that her son had died yesterday in Paris, but gave no details. The word of the young man's death had been cabled by Mrs. Fulton Jr. to her father in Los Angeles.

Engineers at Odds Over New Trustees

DETROIT, Mich., May 19.—The insurance association of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in convention here, occupied an entire day of the brotherhood program with the election of officers. W. E. Fitch and Amos Beeler, president and vice-president, respectively, were re-elected without opposition. The election of five trustees, however, proved a different matter. After many ballots it was announced early this morning that no choice had been made. The balloting will continue today.

The brotherhood will hold no more sessions until the insurance election is decided.

Mysterious Crevices Swallow 16 Horses

RENO, Nev., May 19.—Sixteen dead horses have been taken from the water-filled crevices of Jake's Valley where the earth opened in great seams three weeks ago. C. F. Patterson, deputy United States forest supervisor, in speaking of the phenomena, said:

"The crevices are getting wider if anything, and although the surrounding country is drying up they are as full of water as at the start. Stock is beginning to come into the valley again and the ranchers are becoming alarmed for the safety of their herds.

"No one seems to know the cause. On the edge of one crevice we found four dead coyotes. I believe they were killed by fright."

Insurance Delegates Return From Session

The members of the Oakland delegation of insurance men to the third annual convention of the California State Association of Fire Insurance Agents, which, by the way, was the largest to visit the southern city during the session, are returning home. That this city came in for more than its share of honorable mention at the executive sessions which took under advisement the growth, population and existing insurance rates in the larger municipalities throughout the state is generally admitted, and enthusiasm for the progressive spirit demonstrated in this portion of the bay region was, declare the Oaklanders, a subject of general discussion.

The local delegation was headed by I. H. Clay, Fred W. LeBallister and P. Emigh, and included twenty-five members.

ASTRAL TRAMP WAGGED TAIL IN PASSING, IS CLAIM

Professor Leuschner Thus Explains Comet's Change in Its Schedule.

BERKELEY ASTRONOMER BACKS HIS FIGURES

Declares Aerial Wanderer Is at Fault and Not His Calculations.

BERKELEY, May 19.—Did Halley's comet wag its tail last night to avoid hitting Mother Earth?

Professor Armin O. Leuschner, head of the students' observatory of the State University, believes that it did, and Director W. W. Campbell of Lick Observatory is inclined to believe that the comet was thus considerate.

If the astronomers are right, two strange things have happened. In the first place the long anticipated passage of the earth through the tail did not and will not occur. In the second place Halley's comet, that proudly swept its searchlight through the skies, will emerge in a few nights with a curly tail instead of a straight and rigid caudal appendage.

PREDICT TIME.

High words flew over the wires between the astronomers this morning. Professor Leuschner and Russel Tracey Crawford have been given the high honor and duty by the American Astronomical and Astrophysical Association of predicting the exact time of the transit of the comet across the face of the sun, and of the passage of the earth through the tail. They worked for months with tables of figures many yards long, in making the difficult estimate.

Finally they triumphed and issued to the astronomers of the world a careful prediction of the exact time at which the transit would take place.

Tuesday night the department sent out its announcement of the time of transit. Astronomers all over America and the party of astronomers in Honolulu set their elaborate instruments of operation by that estimate, but nothing happened.

SAYS FIGURES ARE RIGHT.

At 8 o'clock this morning the sad news was communicated to Professor Leuschner that either something had gone wrong with his computations or the unexpected, that bugbear of exact science, had happened. Professor Leuschner chose the latter alternative. Stoutly asserting that his figures and calculations had been corrected from every possible angle.

"The tail must have wagged," he said. "We have based all our conclusions about the earth passing through the tail on a straight tail. All the photographs have shown the tail to be a straight tail. It was reasonable to infer that it would remain straight. Professor Campbell, of Lick observatory, found Tuesday night that it was lagging a little bit behind.

SURELY CORRECT.

"But my calculations are surely correct. We computed the transit of the head of the comet over the face of the sun in central position, and this has most certainly occurred. There is no question about it. The tail was a minor consideration. If the tail extended out straight from the comet's orbit as the wanderer passed the sun, the earth would be brushed by the tail.

"But something may have caused it to curve. Comets have been known to curve their tails before. The straightness or curvature of the tail of a comet depends upon the combination of the speed at which the comet is moving through space and the velocity at which the particles composing the tail are discharged into space by the head.

"It may well be that these factors have been made to vary by the proximity of the earth or Venus and that that has caused a change in the tail."

COMET CALLED OFF FIGHT HERE, IS STATEMENT

J. A. Jones Declares Morals Were Awakened by the Presence of Danger

"HARDENED OLD SINNERS REPENTING ON KNEES"

Tri-city Rotary Club Hears Big Bout Denounced at Weekly Luncheon.

That more serious thought on the morals and the right of things, partially inspired by the possibility of danger resulting from the comet's tail brushing the earth is responsible for the stopping of the Jeffries-Johnson fight in this county, was the statement of John Aubrey Jones at the Tri-City Rotary Club luncheon, held this afternoon at the Key Route Inn.

"The comet's passage, while it probably had no effect on the earth physically, has had a perceptible effect morally," said the speaker. "Many a hardened old sinner has been down on his knees repenting of his sins as a result of the scare resulting from the possibility of danger, and people are thinking more of the right things.

"MORAL VICTORY."

"The result of an improved moral tone is, in Oakland, a notable achievement, by virtue of a crystallization of public opinion, in that the prize fight or so-called 'sparring match,' to have taken place in this county on our nation's natal day will not take place. This is a notable victory. Let San Francisco have the fight if she wants it. It will gather from all over the country sports, gamblers and disreputable people, and if the monetary benefit accruing from their visit can offset the harm of their presence, I am much mistaken. The comet has made us more serious than was our wont, and the moral stamina it has given us has preserved Oakland's moral integrity."

[illegible] A. Sally, of Berkeley, one of the actors in the pastoral production of "As You Like It," to be given in the Claremont hills for the Berkeley playground fund, spoke on the affair, asking the support of the club for the project. The club will meet next week at the Athens Hotel.

Comet's Tail Lags Behind, Is Claim

SAN JOSE, May 19.—Director Campbell of Lick Observatory last evening issued the following statement: The tail of Halley's comet was observed Wednesday morning at the Lick Observatory to a length of 122 degrees. It extended [illegible] constellation Aquila to the [illegible] of the Milky Way. The Milky Way at this point [illegible] degrees or more wide [illegible] it is quite possible that the tail was long enough to extend well [illegible] the Milky Way.

[illegible] length corresponded to [illegible] miles, provided the tail [illegible] opposite the sun. [illegible] there are strong reasons for [illegible] that the tail is [illegible] behind [illegible] line directly opposite the sun, and [illegible] instead of being but [illegible],000,000 miles [illegible] at the nearest point, it was, perhaps, twice this distance or more.

SAVANTS GIVE OPINIONS ON PASSING OF COMET

WASHINGTON, May 19, 4 a. m.—Prof. Asa Hall of the United States Naval Observatory: "The earth will not pass through the tail of the comet until today. From 2 o'clock this morning until dawn it was visible in the east, extending from the northeast in a southerly direction, the dim beam of light of the comet's tail. As the moon descended westward the shaft athwart the heavens grew plainer and was easily visible to the naked eye."

(By PROF. E. A. RATH.)

MOUNT WILSON OBSERVATORY, Pasadena, Cal. May 19, 2 a. m.—"The tail of Halley's comet is this morning apparently in the same position in regard to the earth that it was at the same time yesterday morning. This would indicate that the earth has not yet passed through the denser portion of the tail. If we are in the tail at all it is probably but the edge. So far our observations have shown no special aurora lights, nor have any meteors been observed."

(By DR. HENRY N. RUSSELL.)

PRINCETON, New Jersey, May 19, 3:30 a. m.—Contrary to general prediction, the earth has not yet passed through the tail of Halley's comet. Toward the east a distinct streak of light is visible very much similar to the Milky Way. The reason why the earth has not yet reached the comet's tail is that the tail is curved away from the earth, and although the head of the comet has crossed the sun's disk by four hours, the tail will probably not reach the earth until later in the morning.

WASHINGTON, May 19, 4 a. m.—Professor Hall of the Naval Observatory said this morning that the earth would not pass through the tail of Halley's comet until some time today.

(By PROF. EDWARD C. PICKERING.

(Astronomer at Harvard University, Boston, Mass.)

There is nothing by which I can judge if we have struck the tail. According to calculation we should have been in the middle of the tail at 10:30. The comet was passing between the sun and us at that time and therefore we should have passed through the tail. But if the tail were directly away from the sun, if it had been deflected or bent out of a straight line, we did not pass through the tail. It would be easy for the earth to miss it.

(By PROF. CAMPBELL.)

(Director of Lick Observatory, Mt. Hamilton, Cal.)

The tail was visible as soon as the moon set. It is probable that we missed passing through the tail last night because it is lagging by several million miles. The comet's orbit is inclined at an angle to the earth's orbit and it is probable we shall not pass through the tail at all.

ASTRONOMER IDEA MAY PROVE RIGHT

Disagrees With the Eastern Savants as to Time of Appearance in Sky.

tail first discovered and noted by Professor Barnard on Tuesday night may have developed to a wholly unexpected degree while the head of the comet has passed the earth on schedule.

Second—Like Borelli's comet of 1903, Halley's comet may have ceased its tail-making activity, cutting off the glow fan that is now puzzling the scientists.

Third—It is possible that all calculations are wrong, and that the comet has not yet passed the earth.

According to the Eastern scientists the period of appearance of the tail in the east extended from 10:30 o'clock last night until 3:30 this morning, being plainly visible at a time when the astronomers were confident the earth would have passed completely through the tail.

BURKHALTER DISAGREES.

"This time," says Professor Burkhalter, "is impossible—it may have been during the interval between 12 30 and 3:30, but the comet, if seen at all, could not have been at so late an hour."

In view of his previous prognostications there is a strong sentiment in favor of these figures. It was Tuesday morning that Professor Barnard discovered the curve in the tail as Professor Burkhalter had already predicted as possible:

"The first explanation and the second are therefore possible, but I think the third one to be improbable," said the astrologer, "but I sincerely hope that all of them are wrong and that we passed through the tail as was believed we would. The matter as to the consequences would then be settled for all time. As we have not heard from all points we may yet receive some information which will satisfactorily explain the conditions."

BURGLARS SECURE JEWELRY.

C. C. Anderson, living at 960 Fifth avenue, has reported to the police that his home was entered by burglars last night and jewelry to the amount of $35 stolen. The burglars forced a rear window to enter the premises.

HALLEY'S COMET MERELY A SHELL

Professor See Discovers Composition of Aerial Wanderer After Long Research.

(By Prof. See, Astronomer in Charge of Mare Island Naval Observatory.)

MARE ISLAND, May 19.—"In the course of researches made at Mare Island during the past two years on the origin of the solar system, I have proved that comets are really survivals of the outer shell of ancient nebula from which our system was developed. Most comets are now found to move in elliptic orbits, and the fact that they return to us after long intervals shows that they belong to the solar system and are relics of the outer parts of the spiral nebula from which our system originated.

"All the inner parts of the nebula have been cleared away in producing sun planets and satellites, but many small masses still survive in the outer shell of old nebula. These are the comets. Hence they move in long ellipses and it was formerly supposed that their orbits are nearly all parabolic. But this is a mistake. It is now known that the orbits are usually elliptic, though the periods are very long.

"We observe in the heavens great numbers of spiral nebulae produced by the settlement and coiling up of unsymmetrical clouds of cosmical dust under the action of universal gravitation. In some cases these coils close around and produce a nearly complete ring like the famous ring nebula in Lyra. In others the nebulosity is scattered somewhat equally over the whole surface of the sphere.

"This gives one a very good conception of the shell of dark nebulous matter still surviving about the solar system and furnishing us an abundant supply of comets which come to us from all directions in space. Accordingly the study of the spiral nebulae has enabled us to make out the nature of the home of the comets and to understand the character of their orbits which has puzzled mathematicians for centuries. The observations of Halley's comet will throw further light on these great problems by showing us something of the constitution of a comet's tail by close contact with earth."

Scientists Give Up Figuring; Find Out for Yourself When Earth Goes Through Comet's Tail

The scientists studying the comet at the Carnegie Observatory at Mt. Wilson say there is no use paying any attention to the figures and forecasts of the passing of the earth through the comet's tail.

They say everyone can figure it out themselves by observing these rules:

If, just after sunset this evening, the tail of the comet points toward the sun, the earth has not yet passed through the tail.

If the tail points away from the sun the earth will have passed through during the daylight hours.

If the tail points toward and away from the sun at the same time, it will mean that the earth is about to enter it and will pass through during the night.

These rules hold good on any evening until doubt as to the passing of the comet shall have been dispelled.

THIRTY SUN SPOTS DARKEN 'OLD SOL'

Solar Surface Shows Signs of Internal Conflict After a Long Rest.

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—Thirty sun spots, one of which was estimated to be 150,000 miles in diameter, were seen by Father Martin S. Brennan, astronomer at Kenrick Seminary, yesterday afternoon. The spots, according to Father Brennan, indicate violent solar eruptions.

"The spots on the sun," said Father Brennan, "were in three groups. I saw them at 2.30 o'clock. Twenty-six spots were in one, three in another and one in another. It was the lone spot that was the largest."

SAN JOSE, May 19.—Professor Jerome S. Ricard of the observatory of Santa Clara College last night issued the following statement:

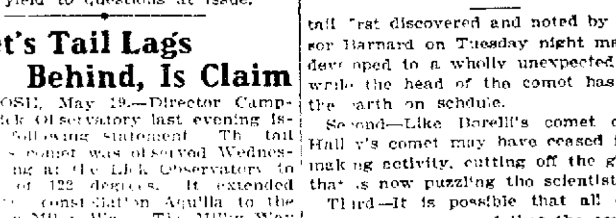

"After nearly two months of rest, the solar surface is showing a recrudescence of activity well worthy of a maximum period. On May 18, at 1 p. m. there could be seen a large, intensely blue colored spot, convex to the westward, concave to the eastward, in shape nearly like a half moon.

"As a master spot it had a retinue of fourteen little ones, or pores, following in the rear on the eastern side, led by a vanguard of one taller and bigger than the rest. The largest black spot measures 230,378 by 78,773 miles. The smaller group appeared on May 12 and was single then became triple. The larger group was first seen on May 15th, on eastern limb, as a family of seven; then of nine, on May 16, of eight on May 17, finally of fifteen on May 18."

PASADENA, May 19.—Director George E. Hale of the Carnegie Observatory on Mt. Wilson trained the big telescope and solar photographing apparatus on the spots that now mark the sun's face. He estimated the total length of the large group to be about 100,000 miles. The penumbra, or shadowy rim of the spots, he said, were found to contain three umbras, or black areas, one of which was larger than the other two. The smaller group consists of one spot with two umbras and several smaller spots. Previous photographs were taken of the spots May 11. The spots are of the tornado type—that is, vortices, or whirling volumes of intensely heated gases and metallic vapor, highly charged with electricity, which produce strong magnetic fields.

COMET FAILS THE OBSERVATORY

YERKES OBSERVATORY, Williams Bay, Wis., May 19.—Despite early promise of an extensive arrangement for obtaining highly important data regarding Halley's comet here at the Yerkes observatory yesterday, some disappointment is felt over the outcome of the passage of the comet.

A brilliant moon during the night proved to be a serious handicap to the scientists behind the batteries of cameras and telescopes trained on the sky.

Early observations were impaired and work with the cameras cut off to a considerable extent by the moon. Despite this condition, the expert astronomers at the observatory maintained their vigil until after daylight. When the moon set several of them were repaid to no little extent for their patience.

At this time, certain observations were made that may be of importance in adding to scientific research.

A Word to Bankers' Hotel Stockholders.

The directors of the Oakland (Bankers') Hotel Company have by resolution instructed the secretary and manager of the corporation to enforce by legal means the collection of delinquent stock subscriptions. It is to be regretted that such action should be taken. It is even more regrettable that such action should be necessary. Had good faith been kept with the company directors there now would be no necessity for taking drastic action to compel the payment of overdue stock assessments.

But the directors are not to blame for wanting the subscribers to pay up. They have let contracts for the purchase of material and the erection of the hotel, and they must have the money on hand to meet the obligations incurred. They cannot put the company's creditors off with the statement that many of the subscribers have failed to pay their pro rata of the calls for money. They must provide for payment in some way, and hence they are compelled to enforce collection of overdue subscriptions.

They ought not to have to ask for the money twice. They have let the contracts and obligated themselves for large sums, relying on the good faith of the stockholders, and they should not be disappointed.

It is to be hoped that back payments on the stock will be met promptly and without compulsion. An appeal to the law would not be a good advertisement for the city or the public spirit of its citizens. As the money will have to be paid in any event, virtue should be made of necessity and the calls of the directors met cheerfully and promptly. The quicker the money is paid in the quicker the hotel will be built. Let it be paid without delay and without grumbling.

THE TRIBUNE labored with all its might to revive the hotel enterprise when it was lying dormant and urged on proceedings till the contracts were finally let. It now feels under a moral obligation to urge the stockholders to do their duty. It is now incumbent upon them to come forward with the financial support they pledged when they authorized the directors to go ahead. This is no occasion for backsliding and revoking. The right thing to do is come to the center with the coin and look pleasant about it.

Sheriff Taylor's Queer Conduct.

Frank MacSherry, one of the Sausalito fake poolroom swindlers, gave some remarkable testimony in the trial of Harry P. Flannery. He said his pal, Joe Abbott, testified falsely against Flannery under promise of immunity, and asserted that Sheriff Taylor of Marin county had offered him immunity also if he would corroborate Abbott's statements in regard to Flannery. MacSherry said he told Taylor Abbott's story was false and that Taylor replied: "What's that to you? It will save you from prison." Called by the defense the Sheriff admitted that he had twice taken Abbott over to the private offices of James D. Phelan in the Phelan block, and left him there in the company of Fremont Older. Phelan is the bitter political enemy of Flannery, who defeated him for the complimentary Democratic vote for United States Senator, and Older has for ten years been a faithful and worthy follower of Phelan. In these meetings between Older and Abbott in James D. Phelan's office one can gain an idea of how the case against Flannery was worked up and why it was worked up. There is the old familiar bargain with crooks for testimony incriminating some enemy of Phelan's; there is the same grant of immunity to admitted criminals, and here is our old friend, Fremont Older, playing the part of broker in the transaction; and there is the same successive explosions of side-show sensations to keep popular feeling inflamed and excited. But what about the conduct of the Sheriff of Marin county in this affair? He appears to have worked all the way through in accord with Older's scheme to "get Flannery" whether Flannery was innocent or guilty. Not long ago Sheriff Taylor told the reporters that attempts had been made to bribe him "through friends." He refused to divulge the names of the persons who sought to bribe him or arrest the "friends" who came to him with felonious proposals. Justice seems to have fallen into bad company in Marin county.

Judging from what the astronomers say, the tail of Halley's comet is made up of pipe dreams. It is not even as tangible as the tale of a traveler.

Snuff drove Fairbanks out of a Methodist meeting in Chicago. A cocktail nearly drove him out of the Methodist Church in Indiana. He never really squared himself with the brethren till he got into a row with the Pope.

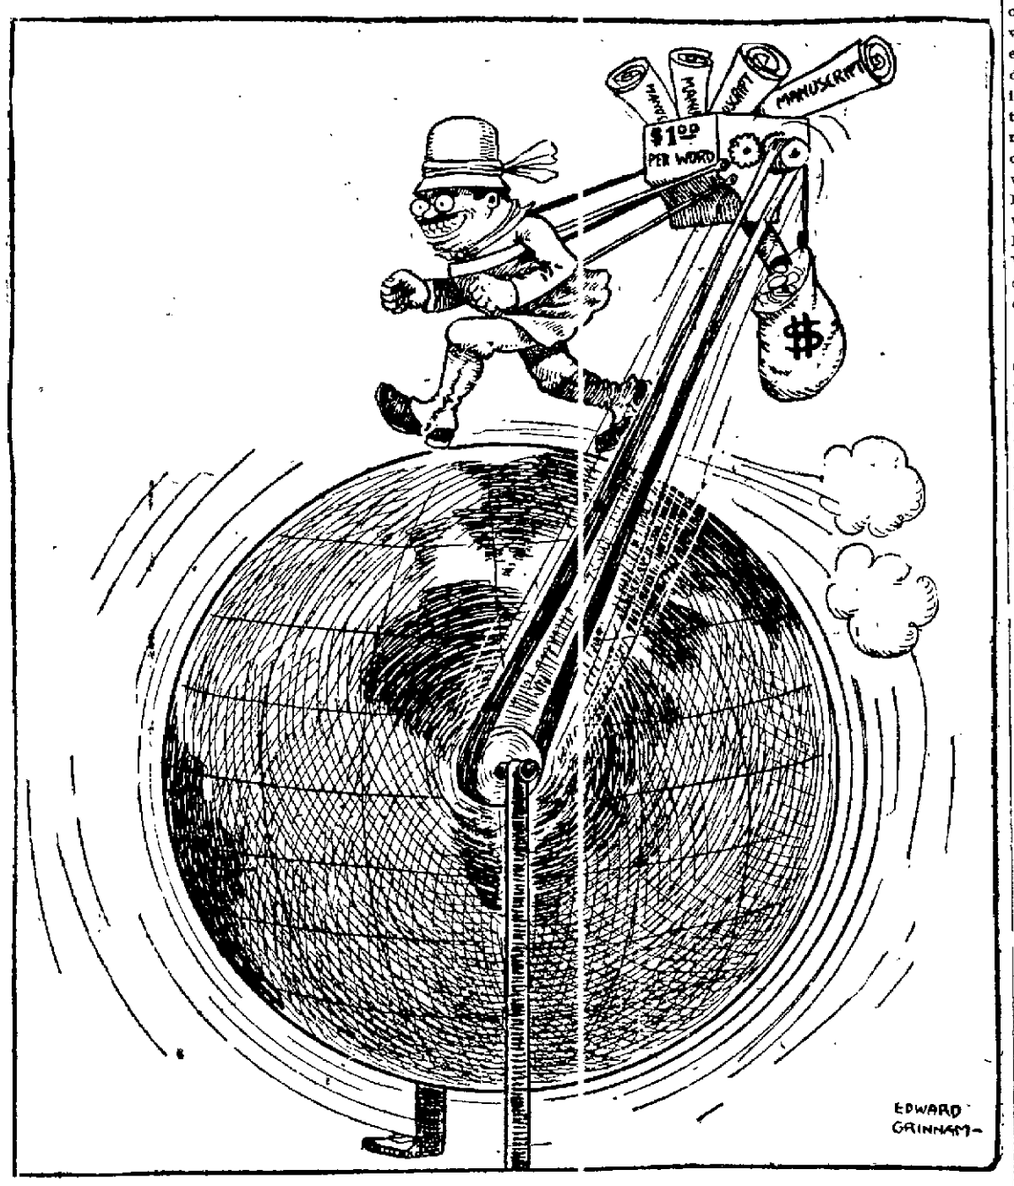

While "Red" Hayes has been insurging against the national administration at Washington his constituents in San Jose have risen in revolt against Mahatma rule. But, then, it makes a great difference whose insurrection a rebellion is.

A recent bulletin of the United States Geological Survey estimates the available oil supply in the Coalinga field alone at 2,700,000,000 barrels. At fifty cents a barrel, the present selling price of low grade oil at the well, this single oil deposit is worth $1,350,000,000. Coalinga is only one of several great oilfields in California—indeed, it is simply a section of the vast area of oil deposits underlying the San Joaquin valley.

The joke is on the astronomers. They asserted that the comet would appear in the west this morning, but alas, for their predictions the comet perversely appeared in the east. This erratic conduct has naturally excited disgust and indignation in scientific circles. But the turpitude of the comet is not confined to flouting the astronomers and trailing around in the east when it should be in the west; it even refused to let the earth pass through its tail at the appointed time. Apparently the celestial traveler has got off the track and is running around the heavens just to make a show of itself. It is acting precisely like an "insurgent" Republican.

The Los Angeles Express says John D. Works will be the next Senator from California. Why? Because he wants to divide California? Or because he opposed holding the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco? Or because he wrote an article for the Arena Magazine denouncing Theodore Roosevelt as a tyrant and a bad example of political megalomania? These constitute his chief claims to distinction, but we are somewhat in doubt as to which of them has most endeared him to the editor of the Express. After Roosevelt has expressed himself in regard to the political situation, we fancy the Express editor will give his preference to the magazine article.

"THE WORLD MOVEMENT"

SUGGESTED BY ROOSEVELT'S BERLIN SPEECH ON THAT SUBJECT.
—ST. LOUIS TIMES.

Alden Anderson and Good Roads

At the next general election, November, 1910, an act of the Legislature passed March 22, 1909, submitting to the people the question of bonding the State for $15,000,000 for the construction, acquisition and maintenance of State highways will be voted upon.

Alden Anderson has been designated the "Father of Good Roads" and that he deserves the appellation is shown by his record.

It was during his first term as Assemblyman from Solano county in 1897 that he strongly advocated a State system of roads.

Two years before that he evinced an active interest and worked for good roads in Solano county. He originated the system of having the roads sprinkled in Suisun valley, which has been done ever since and has proved a great boon to the orchardists in that extensive fruit belt.

The San Francisco News Letter in its issue of February 20, 1897, had the following to say of Alden Anderson:

"This is the first time he has held public office, but it is to be hoped his constituents will not let it be the last time. Men like Mr Anderson not only do credit to the particular district they represent, but are an honor to the State as well. He is in favor of a State system of roads, and is a strong advocate of such bills looking to that end now before the Assembly."

It will be seen that years before the good roads movement became a living issue Alden Anderson was advocating it.

In 1907, when Alden Anderson was president of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, Sacramento county was far behind other progressive communities in the matter of roads. The people wanted good roads and were willing to meet the expense, but the vast sums of money had been expended on the roads each year with practically nothing to show for it, it was evident that the taxpayers would demand some assurance that the money would be economically spent and in accordance with business procedure before voting for a bond issue for county road work.

The problem was solved by Mr. Anderson writing to the Board of Supervisors and requesting that an advisory committee of twenty-five of the leading citizens and taxpayers from different parts of the county be appointed to supervise the letting of contracts and the expenditure of the money.

The Board of Supervisors gave its consent and Mr. Anderson as president of the Chamber of Commerce appointed the committee and the bond issue was carried by a vote of 25 to 1.

Sacramento is no longer ashamed of its roads. The bond issue proved one of the best investments the taxpayers of that county ever made. The work was performed in an efficient manner, the volume of business transacted along the improved thoroughfares has been increased; farmers can reach the city with their products and make purchases more readily than they could before.

California has been termed the orchard of the United States. In order that our fruit may reach the market in good order it is necessary to have smooth roads.

Alden Anderson's record in the fruit business is told everywhere, but the man whose executive ability and unremitting work built up a fine organization for distribution of our fruit products can be safely relied upon to work for a State system of good roads, properly and scientifically constructed and maintained.

Alden Anderson is not telling the people "what he will do." His practical work and success in the good roads movement is more tangible than promises, and show what can be expected of him as Governor.—Woodland Mail.

The English Navy

In the earliest times of the British navy there was practically no distinction between the merchantman and the man of war. In the more remote times of peace men of war traded as merchantmen, while merchantmen always went armed. Thus in time of war the trader became the warship and vice versa. From the time of the conquest and probably earlier down to the days of Elizabeth this was the ordinary practice. Elizabeth hired out ships of the navy for all sorts of purposes, from piracy to slave trading, taking her share of the profits when the venture was successful and disclaiming all responsibility when it wasn't.

Henry III, who may be described as the originator of the navy as a special fighting force, hired out the ships specially built for the navy in times of peace, and even allowed them to be taken away from their appointed stations, provided the hirers deposited due security for the return of the ships, with their tackle and all equipment in a proper state of efficiency. The practice ceased after the repulse of the Spanish armada, when the fighting ships, as such, became distinct from the traders.—London Globe.

A few weeks ago Albert Gayer of Berea, Cleveland, U. S. A., made a joking remark that he would have no singing at his funeral—it was out of date, what he desired was a phonograph selection. A day or two ago he was killed while tending a powerful gas engine. His mates, convinced that he had had a premonition of his death, decided to respect his last wish. "The Dead March" was accordingly played by phonograph as the coffin was carried from Gayer's home.

Topics Timely and Interesting

In the possession of T. H. Ferrer of Gunnersbury, England, is a starling with astonishing conversational powers. Jack was interviewed the other day and found to be a most companionable bird, fond of society, obedient to orders and quaintly intelligent. His repertory included a string of sentences and several tunes, of which Chirgwin's whistle, "Half a Pint of Mild and Bitter," originally a London burglar's warning to his pals, is the favorite. From this he runs into "Pop Goes the Weasel," a song or two of Harry Lauder's and imitations of songs of roller canaries and Pekinese robin.

A Brooklyn minister was recently approached on the street by a young woman who inquired whether he were not the Reverned Doctor Blank, says the San Francisco Argonaut. "Yes," said the minister, who seemed at a loss to identify the young person. "Don't you remember me?" asked the girl laughingly. "I'm afraid I don't, said the good man apologetically. "Will you not give me just a little hint?" "Well," continued the young woman, "I certainly think you ought to remember me, even if it has been so long a time. Why, Doctor, you baptized me here in Brooklyn, just before my parents moved west. You don't mean to say that you have forgotten me entirely?"

The other day the manager of a furniture house in New York asked one of his star salesmen to collect a bill of long standing, for which the regular collector had been unable to get cash. The manager told his man to threaten a lawsuit if necessary. The salesman said he would collect it without that and went to the delinquent's office. He put the bill in the hand of his derby hat and with the hat held nonchalantly in his left hand he strolled into the inner shrine. The man at the desk looked at him inquiringly and then glanced down at the conspicuous bill. "Well, what is it?" he asked. "Pardon me," said the salesman in his best manner, "but could you tell me is Mr Jones dead?" "Why, no! I'm Mr. Jones." "Thank you, that's all I wanted to know," said the salesman and walked abruptly about the room. Next day a check came for the amount.

Attention has been called to some curious effects of rarified and of condensed air on human respiration. On high mountains some persons experience distressing shortness of breath, one result of which is that they are unable to whistle. Precisely the same effect is sometimes produced by the condensed air in caissons and diving bells. aborers working in compressed air frequently find, however, that their powers of exertion are increased as long as the atmospheric pressure is not more than double that of ordinary air; but beyond that point unpleasant effects are experienced after the men have left the working shafts and returned into the open air. On the other hand, high atmospheric pressure in the case of persons not doing manual labor has been found to act as a mental stimulus, increasing the impulse to talk.

Epernay, in France, where all the best champagne is made, may be said to be a vast subterranean city. The streets for miles are hewn out of the solid chalk flanked with piles of bottles of all blends and qualities.

There is no light in this labyrinth of streets, crossings and turnings, except that which the sputtering candles afford. All is dark and damp, with the thermometer down toward the freezing point.

The largest champagne manufacturers in Epernay possess underground cellars covering no fewer than 5,000,000 bottles of wine.

The ingeniousness of placing the date of the Gibraltar skull at 600,000 years ago lies in the fact that the basis of argument thus laid defies reasonable dispute. Working from so long ago it is manifestly difficult, if not utterly hopeless, to come to more reasonable things. If the life date of an unearthed skull is placed, say, at 10,000 years ago, some one may rise and remark that it would be more conservative to date the find at, say 7500 years ago. But what would be thought of an archaeologist or any sort of "gist" who metaphorically stared Prof. Keith in the face and asserted that instead of 600,000 years ago the Gibraltar woman whose skull is under observation lived perhaps only 597,500 years ago. The excellence of the Keith hupothesis (if one may call it that) is apparent.

The aristocracy of Germany is hurt, says The Memphis Spectator, because the greatest friend of the Kaiser at the present time is a plebeian and a Jew. The aristocrats are asking why the Kaiser could not have managed to secure some one else than Herr Ballin for his bosom adviser and confidant, his guide, philosopher and friend. The Kaiser has offered him several ministerial posts, but he has declined them all, because as managing director of the Hamburg-American company alone he makes an income twenty times as big as that of the Imperial Chancellor, and, besides, he knows that as the unofficial adviser of the Kaiser he has ten times the influence he could command as the paid servant of the sovereign.

SIRE OF JURIST TO BE INTERRED AT PLEASANTON

Funeral of Late William Harris Will Be Conducted by the Masonic Order.

The Late William Harris.

Under the auspices of the Masonic order, of which he was a prominent member, the funeral of the late William Harris, father of Judge W. T. Harris of this county, will be held in Pleasanton tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The ceremonies will be held in the First Presbyterian church of that city, where Harris has lived for many years, and will be conducted by F. C. Walters, master of the Pleasanton lodge. A number of delegates will attend the ceremonies from the Oakland lodge and several floral tributes to the dead man's memory will be sent from this city. Music will be rendered at the ceremony by the church choir.

PIONEER OF STATE

Harris was one of the pioneers of this state, coming here in 1869 and taking up farming in Petaluma. He was of English descent and served in the Union Army during the Civil War before coming to this state. He later engaged in the hotel business at Hills ferry, but failing health in that climate forced him to change his residence and in 1876 he settled in Pleasanton, where he has since lived.

He died yesterday at the home of his son, Judge W. T. Harris, 283 Perry street, this city, while on a visit. He is survived by his son, Judge Harris, a daughter, Miss Lillie Harris, who has been principal of the Pleasanton schools for twenty years, and a sister, Mrs. Carrie Williams of San Diego. A daughter, ... died sixteen years ago and his wife passed away about eighteen months ago. In sympathy with Judge Harris and as a mark of respect to the deceased the superior courts of this county adjourned for the day yesterday when the news of the death came.

IDORA'S CONCESSIONAIRES PRAISE TRIBUNE'S GUESTS

'All Goodnatured Family Folks,' Say the Men of Amusements at Oakland's Beautiful Park

The thirty-five or forty thousand guests of THE TRIBUNE who enjoyed Tuesday at Idora Park are well spoken of by the managers and proprietors of the concessions, where they were provided with amusement to while away the day.

That the guests of THE TRIBUNE enjoyed themselves is vouched for by the hundreds of testimonials of appreciation that have come through the mail, by telephone and word of mouth, in which the expressions of thanks are both warm and hearty.

The concessionaires and the park management consider Tuesday as the red letter event in the history of the resort.

SCENIC RAILWAY

"It was a great day and it kept all our cars going," said Manager H. Broderson of Thompson's scenic railway. "We accommodated over 8000 people, young and old, and a better behaved or a more satisfied lot of patrons it is seldom been my good fortune to handle. They came in droves and they had to wait their turn, but they were all good natured and seemed to enjoy themselves heartily. I wish we could have a TRIBUNE day two or three times a week. There is no doubt from the crowds that came here Tuesday that THE TRIBUNE has a host of readers, and they showed themselves to be a class that are intelligent and appreciative."

About 5000 of THE TRIBUNE'S guests got into our circle swings Tuesday," said Manager Turner of that concession. "They were a good natured crowd and of the kind that you feel like doing everything for. There was not a grouch among the bunch. It rather strained our capacity, but we would like to have them come along that way a few more times this season. You have got a fine lot of readers and I should say from the crowds that piled into the grounds that there were not many in the population on this side of the bay who are not enrolled on your subscription lists."

MORE CHOO-CHOCS

The miniature railway man, H. H. Latimer, said: "We would have to put in a four track road and order a whole lot of rolling stock and more little choo choos if we had that kind of a crowd very often. I carried over a thousand of them with what accommodations I have on my line and that is taxing its limitations somewhat. They were a family sort of a crowd and acted as though they were heartily appreciative of the kindness of THE TRIBUNE. I tell you what it is the old TRIBUNE seems to have the crowd with it. That was shown Tuesday. They came in here rollicking, good natured and thoroughly enjoyed the day."

MOVING PICTURES

The moving picture show man said there were over 5000 packed into his playhouse Tuesday. "We could have accommodated a few more," he said, "but the crowds that thronged the grounds seemed to be after the fun on the outside. They were all good people and THE TRIBUNE certainly can pull the crowds."

J. White of the social whirl said: "They kept us busy. We had between four and five thousand people to handle, but they were such a good-natured crowd that I wouldn't mind if they were here every day. They certainly enjoyed themselves and they were like family folks. They conducted themselves well and we had no trouble with any of them."

E. D. Shiplin of the auto race course said: "We had all four machines going full speed and we gave about 2000 of them the best time that our kind of amusement has to offer. We were worked to capacity for a good part of the afternoon. I can not speak too highly for the character of those that came here as the guests of THE TRIBUNE. They were as fine a lot of people as I ever handled and they certainly enjoyed themselves to the utmost. THE TRIBUNE deserves credit for its enterprising treatment of its patrons and I am sure they enjoyed the day. It was a sort of a family reunion and they took it that way."

ON THE SLIDE

The mountain slide was a novelty that attracted about five or six thousand of THE TRIBUNE'S guests. "They were a good crowd too," according to F. Fobin, who looks after that concession. "They all seemed to enjoy the slide and we accommodated all who came, although it strained our capacity somewhat to provide for all. But we did it and every one had a good time and they were not backward in a good many cases of expressing their appreciation for the courtesy of THE TRIBUNE and to the pleasant time we all endeavored to give them from the very fact that they were the guests of one of the biggest newspapers published in the United States."

The witch's den took in about 1500, and that is about the capacity of that amusement when it is going full speed, and it certainly was Tuesday with all THE TRIBUNE guests in possession of the grounds. Mr. Perry, who is in charge of the concession, declares that the crowd was the best that ever came into the grounds.

SURE SHOTS

"The shooting gallery did a big business Tuesday," said W. Gordon, the man who loads the guns and keeps a lookout for bulls eyes and sees to it that the parade of ducks and other things on the string is kept up. "There were some crack shots in the crowds that came here Tuesday as the guests of THE TRIBUNE. They were all well behaved and appeared to enjoy the day."

W. L. Warren of the roller coaster declares that he handled 7000 people on his attraction. "We kept our ten cars going at full speed and we did a land office business," he said. "They were all family people and they came to enjoy the hospitality of THE TRIBUNE and all seemed to appreciate the courtesy of the paper."

CROWDS AT TICKLER

The tickler drew the crowds. They went for that concession so fast that the two tubs were almost worn out by their constant evolutions. "We couldn't stop until after the grounds closed Tuesday night," said J. Walker, who conducts this particular concession. "The people took a shine to the fun it afforded them and we got our share of patronage. I wouldn't want it to come that way oftener than at intervals of a week or so, and yet I am ready for business. But they came so fast we could have kept a dozen tubs going if we had had them. It was a great day, one of the kind that don't happen very often at Idora or at any other resort. THE TRIBUNE has evidently got a pull with the crowd."

JOY LAUNDRY

The joy laundry and the crazy house had the business of their lives, and W. H. Edwards of the electric photograph studio, which was not included in the concessions listed by THE TRIBUNE, declares that in the rush he did a land office business. "The guests of THE TRIBUNE evidently came for a time and they let nothing escape them. They were a well mannered and thoroughly good natured crowd," declares Mr. Edwards.

So there you are—another grand reunion of THE TRIBUNE folks has gone into history with credit to all concerned. The day was happily spent from all accounts and every one of this paper's guests enjoyed themselves. They were well thought of, and it is to be hoped that they will all be in the land of the living well and ready to participate in THE TRIBUNE day of 1911.

Fruitvale Women Discover a Poor Laborer With Great Tenor Voice

FRUITVALE, May 19.—From plain Mike Vossi, pick and shovel artist, to Signor Michael Vossi, operatic tenor, is the jump at the women of the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church here say the future of Michael as a footlight star is to be ... and mean to interest lovers of true art who are plentifully endowed with money in placing him in the position which they claim his voice demands.

Last week "Mike" Vossi was plying the pick and wrestling with the shovel in the new sewer which is being constructed on East Twenty-ninth street. Suddenly the spirit of spring seized the Italian and with it came song. From catchy airs of popular rag time to the more difficult pieces of the classic variety Michael celebrated the advent of spring. The boss scowled, but this could not stop the effervescent spirit of his able bodied workman.

Mrs. A. H. Gregory, who lives across the street from the place where the street work is being done, heard Michael's songs and being a recognized local authority immediately decided his efforts were being wasted. She remembered at the same time that the approaching garden party under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society was in her charge and finally arranged to have Michael Vossi sing at the entertainment last Saturday.

SCORES BIG HIT.

Clad in his working clothes and with a bewildered look on his face, Michael Vossi held the audience spellbound for half an-hour and the women have decided that he should be given an opportunity to appear before the American public and say that they will arrange it. He is now Senor Michael Vossi.

The garden party was given at the residence of M. T. Keller and was for the benefit of the Relief fund.

Two classes of Miss Eliza C. White commenced the program with a series of choruses. Songs by Miss Mabel Gert of Berkeley were a feature of the occasion. This was followed by solos by Miss Tessie O'Connell and costume dancing by Miss Mabel Pratt.

KING'S DAUGHTERS TO ANNOUNCE SUM

Workers Will Gather at Luncheon to Consider Continuance of Campaign.

The result of the King's Daughters' campaign to raise $100,000 for the new building for the King's Daughters of California Home for Incurables, will be announced tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 at a rally to be held in the First Presbyterian church, Fourteenth and Franklin streets.

The army of almost 100 women workers, who have been laboring for the last two weeks will gather there tomorrow, when ways and means for continuing the campaign in a less pretentious manner will be discussed. It was asserted by Mrs. Brown, president of the home, this morning, that the individual workers may not give up the fight for funs but will continue to circulate the pledges among philanthropists, who have not as yet been reached. The women believe that by this means they will be able to obtain the desired amount. Just $56,000 has been received, according to the last report.

The leaders, as well as the workers, are not discouraged with their efforts and they feel assured that the money will be pledged and that subscriptions will follow the appeals for assistance, which have been made publicly.

Annuls Bigamous Marriage of Sailor

Superior Judge Ellsworth this morning annulled the marriage of Lloyd and Rose Lewis, on the ground that it was bigamously contracted.

Lloyd is a bugler in the United States Navy, stationed on Goat Island. He fell in love with a woman and, not knowing that she was already married, made her his wife in Oakland.

Then the husband appeared on the scene and caused a sailor's arrest on a bigamy charge. He pleaded guilty and was placed on probation for a period of five years.

Sister St. Theresa Plans to Endow Bed

In appreciation of the help which the people of San Francisco have extended to the sanitarium for consumptives in Oak Grove, near Portland, Oregon, Sister St. Theresa, who conducts the institution, announced yesterday that she will endow a bed in the hospital for a consumptive of that community. It is her intention to build a four-room cottage in that city for tubercular patients.

Sister St. Theresa inherited money from her mother, and with it she erected the sanitarium which cares for the sufferers of the dread disease.

THOUSANDS STOLEN FROM EXPRESS PACKAGES

Mysterious Disappearance of Three Money Parcels From Oil City Depot.

AMOUNT INVOLVED PLACED AT $32.024

Thief Makes Off With Loot and Leaves No Trace of Identity.

OIL CITY, Pa., May 19.—Three packages of money containing $32,024 were stolen from the Pennsylvania depot here at 3:30 o'clock this morning, while John J. Truby, the station agent was loading baggage onto a Buffalo bound train. The money was being shipped by the Adams Express Company to Philadelphia.

The railroad detectives investigating the robbery are of the opinion that the theft was the work of one man, who knew the money was in the depot and just where it was located.

The Pennsylvania Railroad pay car arrived in Oil City late last night and turned over to the day station agent three packages of money wrapped in manila paper containing $32,024, which were receipted for in the name of the Adams Express Company.

The money was consigned to the treasurer's office of the Pennsylvania Railroad in Philadelphia. The packages proved to be too bulky for storage in the small depot safe and Night Agent Truby placed them under a sack behind the ticket counter. There was no one in the depot.

At 3:30 o'clock this morning a Buffalo bound Pennsylvania train pulled into the station and Truby stepped out on the platform, closing the self-locking office door behind him. While about 200 feet from the depot office Truby saw by the light of the station platform lamp that the office door was open. Hurrying back, he ran into his office and discovered that the three packages of money were missing.

Shouting, he attracted the attention of two policemen who were within a block of the place. A hurried search of the train and the vicinity of the station was made with no results.

ERNST ABANDONS FIGHT IN COURTS

Agrees to Allow His Child's Grand Parents to Assume Guardianship.

In the probate department of the Superior Court this afternoon John Nye Ernst dropped his fight for the custody of his motherless child, John Martin Ernst, and agreed to the appointment of his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Yore of 2055 Grove street, as the boy's legal guardians. Young Ernst's abandonment of the contest to prevent the adoption of his child by the parents of his deceased divorced wife was the result of a compromise, one condition of which was that the Yores should withdraw their petition for adoption and substitute for it an application for letters of guardianship.

This was done, and after the matter had been formally presented to Judge Wells today he signed the order which gave the little boy into the keeping of his grandparents during the period of his minority.

According to the compromise that led up to the court order, Young Ernst will be permitted to see his child at reasonable times, after it becomes 5 years of age, provided that he has it brought to him by a responsible agent, but at no time shall he call for the boy in person at the Yore home. Occasionally he may have the child with him in the daytime, but only on condition that he never keeps it away from its grandparents' home over night. The father will be allowed to buy the boy presents and perform the kindnesses he could be so inclined, but in no manner shall he say or do anything to oust the presence of the boy to make him dislike his grandparents.

The only specific obligation imposed upon Mr. and Mrs. Yore in the rearing of the boy is that they will educate him and give him a good home.

Horse Eats Charges; Court Is Held Up

MINNEAPOLIS, May 9.—The St. Paul police court had to adjourn and seven men who were to have been arraigned came very nearly being set free because a horse had eaten the written charges against the men.

Philip Gibbons, driver of the wagon which takes the prisoners from the central station to police headquarters, had the written complaints against his prisoners in his pocket when he left the station.

On his way to court he encountered a blockade. As one of his horses was nervous he descended from the seat to lead the animal's head.

While waiting for the lifting of the blockade the horse took the papers from Gibbon's pocket and devoured them before the driver knew what was happening.

When the prisoners were arraigned in court there were no legal papers against them. Gibbons went back to the station and got copies. There were seven prisoners in the van.

Noted Dancer Will Appear In Oakland in Repertoire

MAUD ALLAN as "Salome" at the Macdonough Theater on Monday night.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Maud Allan has found and taken under her protection a 19-year-old native daughter, previously Nadine Parker, who has been singing during the week at a roadhouse in the Ocean boulevard. Miss Allan intends to take the girl with her to the music masters of Europe.

It was only by chance that Miss Allan, accompanied by her manager and her companion, Miss Rosa, stopped at Dibble's, in the Ocean boulevard, two weeks ago. Nadine Parker, a soprano, was singing there then. The famous dancer remained at the place four hours or more, listening to the girl and entranced with the purity of her notes.

A week ago the singer signed a six months contract with the management, not knowing what bright prospects were in store for her, and since then Miss Allan and her friends have returned twice, and spent hours listening to the girl's songs. On the dancer's advice several classical songs were purchased and sung, and the test of the trying notes only made Miss Allan more enthusiastic.

STANDS THE TEST.

Since that time several interviews have been arranged with Nadine Parker, her ambitions learned, her past life investigated and her character studied. In every way the girl has stood the test, and a life of study and achievement in Europe seems assured to her.

The little hazel eyed singer in the roadhouse, Miss Allan learned, has supported her mother for years by singing in various cafes of the better class. Though only 19, she has been married and divorced.

Two years ago, when she was 17, she met 18-year-old William M. Parker, son of a wealthy Chicago business man, in Los Angeles. Miss Rinne, for that was her maiden name, entertained by her singing at a party and there the two youngsters met. They eloped to this city were married in San Rafael, despite protesting telegrams from both mothers in Los Angeles. But the love dream faded when Parker refused to support his wife, and she secured a divorce.

"Though Nadine Parker is under a six months' contract with us," Andrew C. Dibble said last night, "I will let her go if she can better herself so much. We would hate to lose her, but I could not keep friendly with my self-respect and at the same time refuse to allow an artist the opportunity for development that this girl may have."

Miss Allan will appear at the Macdonough theatre, Monday evening in a repertoire of dances, including "The Vision of Salome," which was largely responsible for her fame.

$30,000 CHANGES HANDS IN DEAL

Broadway Property Is Transferred at Rate of $1000 Per Front Foot.

The deed has been recorded from Martin E. Marks and sister, Harriet Marks, transferring to F. T. McHenry and I. A. Lothian, the latter a Los Angeles resident, eighty-three feet fronting on the east side of Broadway with a depth of 150 feet on Durant or Nineteenth street.

The official record gives the consideration at $10, but Mr. Marks says that it was $80,000, or nearly $1000 per front foot.

Seventeen feet of the Broadway frontage was bought direct by F. T. McHenry who previously owned the adjoining thirty-three feet, and while I. A. Lothian is represented to be a joint purchaser from Martin E. and Harriet Marks of the other 66 feet of the Broadway frontage, it is understood among realty dealers that McHenry is the actual purchaser of all of the property.

It is reported that McHenry proposes to erect a four-story business block on the property, but the report that the sellers intend to apply the money to the erection of an annex to the St. Mark hotel on the lot 50x100 adjoining the caravansary on the east side and fronting on Twelfth street, is denied by Mr. Marks, who says no such addition is contemplated.

Brass Thieves Must Serve Six Months

Alex McLaughlin and William Connolly, charged with petty larceny for stealing brass, were found guilty by Judge R. B. Tappan this morning and sentenced to six months in the city prison. McLaughlin and Connolly were seen hiding the brass in a hole on Halleck street in North Oakland last week. McLaughlin was arrested by Policeman Kohler, but Connolly made his escape, although fired at by the policeman. He was arrested by Detective Hodekins Tuesday.

GREEKS AND HINDUS FIGHT.

OROVILLE, May 19.—Reports reached this city yesterday of a fierce battle Sunday between Greeks and Hindus on the Western Pacific at Big Bar. About twenty men took part in the fight and most of them were injured. One Hindu was so badly hurt that he probably will die. The weapons used were anything the participants could get hold of.

Saloonman Accused Of Giving Boys Liquor

A communication was received by the board of police commissioners this morning from Probation Officer Christopher Rhess, declaring that two boys, aged 15 years, named Samuel Sweet and Fred Graham, had obtained liquor from the saloon of Henry H. Klees at Sixty-first and San Pablo avenue, and another saloon on the southeast corner of Sixth and Washington streets.

Ruess stated in his letter that the two boys were arrested for drunkenness April 19, and that Juvenile Judge Wells had requested him to notify the police commissioners and give the location of the saloons where the boys obtained their liquor.

The matter was referred by the police commissioners to the city council, and the secretary was also directed to send a copy of the letter to Superintendent of Police Wilson.

SUFFOCATE IN TOOL BOX.

BOISE, Idaho, May 19.—Locked in a toolbox in the woodshed at their home in South Boise, the bodies of Agnes and Willis Schier, children of Harry Schier, 9 and 4 years old respectively, were discovered yesterday by a little girl of the neighborhood after a searching party, composed of more than 100 men, had returned from an all night quest, dragging irrigation canals and overturning every tangible object in the surrounding country. It is presumed that the children while at play in the large toolbox drew down the lid, which was self-locking.

SCIENTISTS' HOPES FADE IN THIN AIR

Astronomers Try Hard to Catch a Glimpse, But Efforts Are Fruitless.

HONOLULU, May 19.—Professor F. Ellerman of Mount Wilson Observatory and his staff of New York astronomers, who crossed a continent and 3000 miles of ocean to Hawaii to observe the passage of Halley's comet across the sun, reported last night that their observations were fruitless. The 6½-inch telescope used at the temporary observatory at Diamond Head failed to show a disc at the moment of conjunction.

The weather was perfectly clear, and the most sensitive instruments known to science were used.

BOTTLES THE TAIL.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Thomas W. Evans, a chemist employed by the Standard Oxygen Company, made an analysis of the air last night just as the earth was entering the comet's tail. He said that proximity of the stellar traveler tended to purify the air, according to his analysis. The usual sample of New York air contains 21 per cent of oxygen, while his test showed the presence of 21.75 per cent, which is equal to that found in mid-ocean. Cyanogen was not present in quantities sufficient to show in the test tubes.

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—Professor George O. James, astronomer at Washington University, accompanied by John Berry, a veteran pilot, ascended in the balloon St. Louis III at 5:30 o'clock last night to make observations during the transit of Halley's comet across the face of the sun. The purpose of the expedition is to determine if possible the effect of the passage of the earth through a comet's tail.

VALLEJO, May 19.—In the southeastern portion of the sky late last night indications of unusual illumination were found by Professor T. J. J. See, director of the Naval Observatory at Mare Island. It was an unusually damp night, and on damp nights the sky ordinarily presents an extremely black appearance. Last night through the openings in the clouds the sky was seen to have a milky aspect, which Professor See declared could not be due to the light of the moon alone. The light of the moon would affect but slightly the region near Venus, but even there the unusual milkiness appeared.

Owing to the fog which overcast the vicinity about the island the sun was obscured about twenty minutes before the time of setting, so no observations could be taken at the last moment before sunset, as had been planned. It had been hoped that some indications of the diffused tail might have shown on the sun in advance of the transit of the comet.

Dufficey Is Found Guilty of Fraud

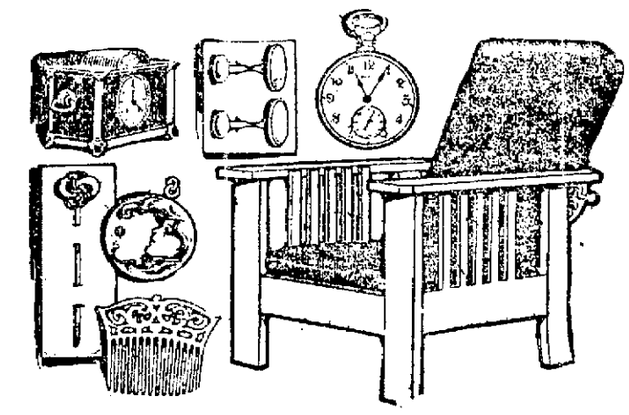

T. J. Dufficey was this morning found guilty by Judge R. B. Tappan on a charge of misdemeanor embezzlement preferred by A. J. Henderson of the Metropolitan Insurance Company. He will be sentenced June 2.

Testimony showed that Dufficey had collected $5.98 for the insurance company and failed to turn it in to the office.

Romance Crowns the Honors Conferred by the University

MISS MARY LOUISE PHILLIPS and CLINTON C CONRAD, U C medalists for 1909 and 1910, respectively, who have announced their engagement

BERKELEY, May 19.—While thousands were worshipping at the shrine of Professor Charles Mills Gayley's "Idols of Education" at the annual commencement exercises of the University of California, two people in the Greek Theater, one the university medalist of this year and the other the university medalist of last, were signaling a secret happiness across the big audience to each other. It was not until the highest honor within the gift of the university had been conferred upon Clinton C. Conrad, the most distinguished student of his class, that the secret of his engagement to Miss Mary Louise Phillips, who gained the same honor a year ago, was told to a few friends of the two.

CUPID IN THE FRAY

Young Cupid, blind ... handicapped, had started far in the van of the other gods, the god of culture. Great and ostentatious worship had been paid to his rivals for four years of hard training in the education ... meet. But despite his troubles and the little homage paid him, Cupid was there at the finish and ... to his custom he was there with wedding bell.

No formal announcement of the betrothal of the two brilliant students has been made, but Miss Phillips and Conrad have both confirmed the report. The engagement is one of the most interesting ... that has been made known on the campus for some time, and the members of the graduating class buzzed the announcement about the university until it was the most talked of event of yesterday.

Both the young people are distinguished graduates of the university. Miss Phillips, who achieved the university medal last year, was the second woman student in the history of the university to gain this high honor. She was prominent socially and occupied positions in the journalistic and social world of college life during her four years at the university.

WON TWO HONORS

Conrad, who resides at 1827 Hearst avenue in Berkeley, accomplished the remarkable feat of winning two degrees in a four years course at the university. He was graduated yesterday not only from the college of mechanical engineering, one of the stiffest courses in the technical colleges, but also from the College of Letters, the hardest of the classical courses. He received for this the degrees of bachelor of science and bachelor of arts, a feat rarely accomplished at any university. He was at the same time secretary of the Association of Electrical and Mechanical Engineers and of the Homer Club, the organization of students in the Greek department.

Miss Phillips, the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Dixon L. Phillips of Hanford, received her degree from the College of Letters last year and yesterday was awarded the degree of master of letters in Latin. She was one of the most prominent of her class and a member of the English and Newman clubs and the Prytanean society, as well as the Phi Beta Kappa scholarship society.

Burglars Twice Raid Rooms of Boarders

Frightened away before they had completed their job of burglary by roomers who returned to the house at 11 o'clock last night, two burglars returned to the boarding house of Mr. A. Corrigan at 861 Campbell street and robbed George Mitchell of $3.

When Mitchell and his friend Lee Elmer returned to their room in the house at 11 o'clock they found the front and back doors open as well as windows in the rear and front of the house. They awoke and notified Mrs. Corrigan of what they had discovered and together the three went through the house and relocked all doors and windows.

The two boys then went to bed in their room and on awakening this morning they found that Mitchell's money amounting to $3 had been stolen from the bureau. Elmer's money was not seen by the burglars as it was hidden by his collar and necktie lying on a chair in the room.

It is believed that former roomers in the house are the burglars.

Millionaire Lived on Two Dollars Week

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 19.—In the little cottage which he bought a half century ago, whose ever increasing value added to his millions, Levi M. Stewart lies dead. He was 8? years old and was better known as "Elder" Stewart, popularly held to be the richest man in Minneapolis.

His real estate holdings are worth $5,000,000 at least, yet it was common talk that he lived more frugally than a laborer, spending not more than $2 a week on his food and clothing. Eccentric as he was, "Elder" Stewart was charitable.

He was born in Corinna, Me. His parents determined that he should become a minister, but the young man got a position in a saw mill and made his own living. By working on fishing boats he earned enough money to pay for his tuition at Dartmouth and later obtained a position as a teacher in a Eastern academy. He came to Minneapolis in 18?? and studied law and bought real estate.

YALE'S PRESIDENT LEAVES BERKELEY

Dr. Hadley to Visit Yosemite On Close of Golden Jubilee.

BERKELEY, May 19.—President Arthur Twining Hadley of Yale University, who delivered the jubilee address Tuesday and was yesterday given the honorary degree of doctor of laws, departed last night for the Yosemite valley with Mrs. Hadley, his son, Morris, and daughter, Laura Hadley.

He had nothing but words of praise for the welcome accorded him and expressed satisfaction that two of the founders of the university were Yale men.

Dr. Babcock, president of the University of Arizona, who delivered the Phi Beta Kappa address in the Hearst hall yesterday, will not leave for several days.

During the course of his speech before a large audience he declared that former President Roosevelt possessed the historical spirit in a remarkable degree and that the writer of the Zelaya note in the recent Nicaragua controversy, Philander C. Knox, had little of this spirit, which was the subject of his address.

Last night ended the jubilee program and the commencement exercises this year. An elaborate reception was held in Hearst hall by Dr. Wheeler, attended by the graduates and faculty. The various classes also held their reunions and the evening was much enjoyed.

COBURN'S SANITY ISSUE OF TRIAL

Aged Millionaire Brought Into Court by His Two Nephews.

REDWOOD CITY, May 19.—Once more Loren Coburn, multimillionaire pioneer, 84 years of age, who recently married the sister of his first wife, is fighting in the courts to keep the control of his vast possessions. Trial of the petition to have him declared legally incompetent, initiated by his nephews, Azro and Carl Coburn, to whom the octogenarian usually refers as "vultures," was begun today before Superior Judge Maurice T. Dooling of San Benito county, sitting in place of Judge Buck.

All his life Loren Coburn has been entangled in litigation involving possession of the immensely valuable Spanish grants, totaling about 30,000 acres and situated in San Mateo, Merced, Monterey and Fresno counties. This is the second attempt to have him declared incompetent to manage his own affairs. Two years ago Judge Buck, on the petition of Carl Coburn, pronounced him mentally unsound. For that time being, control of his millions passed out of the hands of the pioneer, but the supreme court reversed the ruling and Coburn won back his estate.

The renewal of the attack on his capacity followed almost immediately Coburn's marriage with his sister-in-law, Miss S... S. Upton, which took place recently. ... The petition taken up by the court today was that of Azro Coburn, who is a wealthy banker and manufacturer of H... Mass. The opening day of the litigation proved that the petition will be fought out in the most bitter manner. An array of lawyers such as is seldom seen in a case tried here faced the judge as he took his seat upon the bench. For the petitioner, Matt I. Sullivan, Theodore J. Roche of San Francisco and Ross & Ross appeared. Loren Coburn is represented by A. T. Treat, Lally, J. Craig and A. Kincaid.

Ground Is Broken For Memorial Chair To Prof. Stephens

William C. Crittenden Rhodes, scolar, who yesterday dedicated the marble chair for class of 1905

BERKELEY, May 19.—Members of the class of 1905 yesterday broke ground for the placing of a marble chair now being carved in Italy for Professor Henry Morse Stephens to be placed in the Hearst Greek theatre beside that given Mrs. Phebe A. Hearst and for a marble bench dedicated to President Benjamin Ide Wheeler to be placed on the campus near the Senior Oak.

In dedicating the spot in the Greek theatre William A. Crittenden, the first Rhodes scholar to Oxford from California, paid a glowing tribute to Professor Stephens. He said in part:

"This is indeed a fitting occasion to dedicate to such a beloved member of the faculty as is Professor Stephens when the university is celebrating the 50th anniversary of its birth.

"We are not gathered here to honor him by mere words but rather to convey to him the feeling in our hearts we have for the kindly spirited Englishman living with us.

SYMBOL OF FEELING

"This chair which will be placed in this spot is not dedicated in the spirit of formality but as a symbolism of our inmost feelings for a man who is one of us.

"Henry Morse Stephens is thoroughly a man. He has no love for political preferment nor of wealth, but wants to have the regard of the students which is already his.

"The sight of this bench in this Greek theatre will be a constant reminder to him of the honor that we now pay him and he will feel truly that he is a man after our own heart.

"For where could we find a gentleman who though he still has the English accent uses the red, white and blue expressions of his adopted land?"

BREAK GROUND FOR CHAIR

The small band after marking the spot below the dais in the theatre where the bench will be built in after its completion in Italy marched in a column to Senior Oak on the lower campus near the Phelan football statue where ground was broken for the chair for Dr. Wheeler.

Gus Ringalsky, a prominent member of the class, acted as spokesman and in the presence of Dr. Wheeler paid him a high tribute.

"We members of the class of 1905 have realized the development of the university in all its departments during the past few years, and we have returned to honor to him who is off its most progressive ... of these results and whose work has caused this to be a true jubilee. To him we tender heartfelt acknowledgment."

GETS SHEEPSKIN AFTER LONG WAIT

Old Student Graduated With the Sons of His Classmates.

BERKELEY, May 19.—A snake, lizard and a pair of owls interfered with the graduation of Charles Dana Burrage, a wealthy attorney of Boston, thirty two years ago. Yesterday he received his degree of bachelor of arts dated 1878, with lads and lassies half his age. The creatures mentioned were put by the former student in a classroom one day during a French recitation and he was asked to leave the campus, and incidentally left his sheepskin. For years his classmates have labored in his behalf, with the result that the authorities relented and Burrage was given the coveted degree yesterday at the commencement exercises of the class of 1910.

With his fellows in the class of 1878 Burrage had considerable amusement at the expense of Professor Ploda, the French instructor. One day the boys placed an owl or so, a lizard and other pets in the classroom and the little professor, unable to fasten the guilt, selected Burrage for punishment. He was not given a pass from the class and his graduation interfered with.

Now comes retribution in the shape of a degree belated somewhat, but dated 1878, when he should have been sent into the world with his class.

Comet Is Accused of Husband's Tangents

The effect of Halley's comet on two residents of the annexed district has been such within the past two weeks that their wives were last night forced to call the aid of the police and have them locked up before further harm could be done by them to their homes and families.

Mrs. A. G. Hewson, living at East Fourteenth street and Orchard avenue, frantically telephoned to the Melrose police station last evening that her husband had reached the climax of an intoxicated condition that had prevailed for the past two weeks and that he was not only making himself obnoxious by his very presence but was also breaking the dishes and furniture of the house. The police called at the scene of Hewson's operations and arrested him for drunkenness and vagrancy. His case was continued in the police court this morning.

Mrs. P. Olsen, living at 151? Palo Vista avenue, also appealed to the Melrose station yesterday to seek relief from her husband, whom she said had been hanging about the house for the last two weeks in an intoxicated condition and caused her considerable annoyance and mental agony. WHAT IS AFFINITY, COURT IS ASKED Verdict for $15,000 Causes Appeal and Jurists Must Decide Meaning.

NEW YORK, May 16.—What is the true meaning of the word "affinity"? Each justice of the Appellate division of the Supreme Court is pondering the question and on Friday next it is expected that the answer will be written judicially for the first time.

CLEVER ACTRESS NOW IN OAKLAND

Miss Grace George Opens in "A Woman's Way" This Evening.

Grace George opens at the Macdonough Theater tonight in "A Woman's Way" for a three nights' engagement which will include a special matinee Saturday, the last day of the first stay on this side of the bay. Around the feminine theme on which the comedy is based the playwright has woven an amusing satire of some of the foibles of high society in present day New York. The result is declared the critics entertaining to a degree.

Briefly, Mr and Mrs Howard Stanton live in a place on that boulevard of fashion Fifth avenue, New York. Being rich, idle and aimless they find their temperaments incompatible. Mrs Stanton keeps up a warm interest in her husband's welfare however though he turns his attention to other women. One of these, a Southern widow, happens to be alone with him when his machine breaks down on a country roadside.

The assiduity of a multitude of newspaper reporters gives to society at large all the harrowing details of the scandal. Mrs. Stanton learns at her plump checkbook notices a worried fluttering in the region of her heart and decides to fight for her husband in the face of a general recommendation for divorce advanced by her friends and relatives.

And this same charming fight as advanced by Grace George is one of the season's theatrical triumphs. It will be remembered how attractive she was last seen in "Divorçons," and her coming engagement by reason of the personal triumph she scored in this city on the occasion of her last visit is a matter of considerable interest to the discriminating theatergoer.

The seat sale has been large for the entire engagement but there are a number of desirable locations remaining at the box office.

STANDARD ADDS TO BIG PAY ROLL

Oil Company to Pay Increased Number of Employes $10,000,000 More.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Increases in wages of employes of the Standard Oil Company dating from May 1 will add from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 to the company's annual pay roll expense.

The increases range from 5 to 15 per cent. The new scale affects employes engaged in the company's refineries and factories but does not apply to office men.

The wage increase movement extends to all the subsidiary companies of the Standard.

The Standard Oil company prides itself that in its entire existence it has never had a strike and the officers of the corporation are desirous of maintaining this record," says a statement issued from the offices at 26 Broadway. "The increase in the cost of living has become so burdensome that it seemed likewise to make this voluntary increase in wages."

CHARTER CENSUS URGED FOR CITY

Chamber of Commerce Advocates Adopting German Method.

The preparation of a clause for insertion in the new charter providing for a perpetual census in accordance with the system in use in Germany and in some of the British cities is being discussed by the members of the Chamber of Commerce. Under such a system the city would be divided under what is known as the block or precinct system. Each of these would be under the supervision of a police inspector and a block official. These two could operate not only in police supervision but in sanitary building and licence inspection and keep an account of the movements of the population in their part. Under administration ... at the end of the month they will be able to report to the municipal department ... buildings erect ... population.

Among the projects upon which the Chamber of Commerce will expend much work in the near future is the auditorium project which will be incorporated in the coming bond issue. The merchants will devote their energies to seeing that the bonds carry.

The secretary of the Chamber, A. A. Mrs. Agnes Secord extended a ... of greetings to delegation from every city in the United States at the coming national convention.

The attendance this afternoon was not as large as it might have been owing to the session announced for 8 o'clock tonight. This it is thought will be attended by upwards of 200 followers of the creed.

THEY GROW HAIR

Certain Ingredients if Properly Combined, Stimulate Human Hair Growth.

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered. Beta naphthol is a most powerful yet absolutely safe germicide and antiseptic which prevents development of germ matter and creates a clean, healthy condition.

Pilocarpine, although not a coloring matter or dye, is an ingredient well established for its power to restore natural color to human hair.

Borax because of its well defined softening and cleansing properties is most useful in the treatment of scalp and hair diseases. Glycerine acts as a stimulant to the hair bulbs and has a soothing, healing and nourishing influence. Alcohol is indispensable in medicine because of its antiseptic, stimulating and preservative qualities.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of these ingredients which are compounded in a peculiar form and we believe it is the most effective remedy known to medical science for scalp and hair troubles generally. We personally guarantee it to eradicate dandruff and scalp irritations and to grow hair even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair, providing of course there is life and vitality remaining in the hair roots.

We want every one troubled with scalp disease, dandruff or loss of hair to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not remove dandruff and promote growth of hair to the satisfaction of the user we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. This guarantee is printed on every package. It has effected most satisfactory results in 93 out of 100 cases where put to a practical test.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike and in every particular different from anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is recommended. We urge you to try it at our entire risk. Certainly we could offer no better guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Sold in Oakland only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Owl Drug Co. Inc., 10th and Washington, 13th and Broadway, 11th and San Pablo.

PAYS $10 For a Kiss Stolen FROM GIRL

Magistrate Corrigan decided in Harlem Court that $10 was the proper amount to be paid for a kiss imprinted on the cheek of a girl unwilling to be the recipient. Frank Hyman thirty-three of No 314 West One Hundred and Eleventh street, was found guilty of forcibly kissing eighteen year old Margaret McGrath who is employed by Lawyer Gilberg at No 308 West One Hundred and Eleventh street.

The girl said that she had taken a pair of glasses left by Mrs Hyman a few days ago at the Goldberg apartment to the Hyman home. Hyman answered the ring. She alleged he threw his arms around her and kissed her on the right cheek. She screamed and he let her go. Hyman denied the charge, but Magistrate Corrigan said:

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself. This is a young girl and you a married man ought to have enough decency to respect her girlhood. You are fined $10. I wish I could make it more."

Proves She Married When 11 Years Old

NEW YORK.—Surrogate Thomas decided that Lena Fannie Finelite had proved her claim that she was married on February 8 1905 when she was 11 years old to Jacob Finelite a real estate dealer and brother of City Court Judge Finelite, and on her application removed Milton Finelite as the administrator of Jacob's estate. The latter died on August 22 1909 and his son Milton was appointed administrator on Milton's statement he was the only other heir and next of kin except his mother who was divorced by his father in 1901.

On the trial of the case the young wife testified that she met Jacob Finelite when she was carrying dinner to her father who had a job on a building owned by Finelite. Finelite paid her father $50 to get his consent to marry the young girl and after the ceremony had been performed by a rabbi he asked her not to make their marriage known until she was of age. Many witnesses of the marriage testified for her and two witnesses for the administrator said that Jacob Finelite was with them in Brooklyn on the night when the girl said he had married her in Jersey City.

The Quotation on Board Says Price Is Steady

SOUTH OMAHA Neb.—"Kisses steady to strong with a tendency to higher prices on account of a shortage in the supply" is the quotation on the bulletin board in the Live Stock Exchange trading room here.

This quotation was put up a couple of days ago and will remain at least until there is a heavy run of the commodity.

Buying kisses at auction is likely to become a legitimate occupation with the members of the exchange. They have had a taste of it and they like it, regardless of the price paid.

The marketing of kisses was begun a day or two ago when Miss Jeanette Childs and Miss May Morgan chaperoning a bevy of young women swooped down upon the exchange soliciting subscriptions for a charity bazaar that was having a run in Omaha. They had tickets for sale but they did not appeal to the live stock men.

"Why don't you sell kisses?" asked Rudolph Franklin a St Louis horse buyer who happened to be on the market.

"What will you give per kiss" asked Miss Morgan a refined and accomplished girl.

TO HIGHEST BIDDER.

"We will put them up at auction and sell them to the highest bidder," answered Franklin.

"Agreed," was the response of Miss Morgan "and the purchaser is to have his choice and as many as he wants, no reduction on account of number."

By this time the large exchange room was full of brokers cattle, hog and sheep buyers and office men.

Franklin mounted a chair and announced that he was about to sell kisses, the buyer having the choice of kisses. Each kiss he said, would be sold singly, but the kisser would be entitled to any number each to be paid for at the same rate as the first.

The bidding was lively, Jay Laverty starting the bidding at $1. Bids of 50 cents and a dollar were made until $4.50 was reached, when Auctioneer Franklin announced that he would pay $5 for the first kiss. This staggered the other bidders, who dropped out of the game.

Getting down off his chair, Franklin imprinted a smacking kiss upon the mouth of Miss Childs and followed it up with three more, after which he passed over a $20 bill.

The action of Franklin gave impetus to the game, and after that the sales were rapid the highest price paid being $4 and the lowest $1.50. The session netted charity $151.

He Sold His Bride To Another for $10

WILKESBARRE Pa.—Miss Helen Jolowski a pretty girl of Philadelphia who was to have been married today to Peter Horoney was sold by him for $10 to Alexander Papusis of this city a few hours before the wedding time and she was married to the purchaser. She told the story in the office of the marriage license clerk today.

She and Horoney obtained a marriage license here yesterday and she returned with Papusis and wanted another license.

She said that Papusis had convinced her that he loved her more than Horoney did and that Horoney had decided to give her to Papusis for $10.

CUPID'S ACCOUNTS AUDITED BY PHYLLIS COMFORT

"SPOONING" IN PUBLIC

NOW that the warm [illegible] days have come to stay it is not uncommon to see numerous pairs of loving couples billing and cooing on the park benches and in other public out door places.

Even though it is perfectly true that all the world loves a lover it is just as well to remember your dignity and not be quite so thoroughly unmindful of your surroundings. [illegible] you forget the fact that you are perfectly visible to the naked eye of all onlookers. There are others [illegible] people who have never yet been in love and you know also those who have forgotten—who are all out of sympathy with public demonstrations of this nature and who will make cold comments about you. These cold-blooded individuals are of course the exception but exceptions [illegible] of observing things not intended for their eyes. [illegible] with a sort of parent [illegible] possibility of anything which has [illegible] two people that they become oblivious to the fact that they are observed.

Try to be real sensible and proper when you are out and reserve the spooning for elsewhere.

HAS SHE POOR TASTE?

Oakland May [illegible] 1910

Miss Phyllis Comfort Tribune. I am [illegible] years of age and [illegible] become acquainted with a young girl three [illegible] but who [illegible] seemingly taken [illegible] to me. She [illegible] enough sort of girl but she shows what seems to me to be poor taste in [illegible] the [illegible] taken out to [illegible] without first [illegible] I believe that it is a young man's place to make such advances. Nevertheless as I have said she is very [illegible] in other ways.

I wonder if you could suggest any way of stopping this [illegible] habit? I do not wish to drop her altogether. Very truly

ADONIS

You are quite right in thinking it poor taste for a girl to ask a man to be taken out to places of amusement. A ladylike girl will wait to be asked and in no way attempt to thrust herself upon the attention of young men. Even the very timid young man who is almost strangled by the beating of his own heart at the mere thought of asking a young lady to accept his company much less to marry him appreciates in the bottom of his heart the girl who is really retiring though it is just as well to meet this sort of young man a little more than half way. He is very desirable when captured and one may venture to risk a little for his sake.

How to break this young woman of the disagreeable habit of asking you to take her out—that's a poser. We can only hope that she reads THE TRIBUNE and that the eyes of her understanding may be opened by following these lines. Meantime ignore her hints as much as possible which may serve to cure her. She may be a very desirable girl who has not been trained in the proper manner.

Her Income Was First, Writes Countess Louise

ROME.—A copy of the farewell letter which Louise Countess Montignoso once Crown Princess of Saxony wrote to her now separated husband Toselli the musician [illegible] translated. It reads:

My Dear: Three years have passed since we were joined together in London. I loved you then as few men before you. Your magic touch won my heart. I fell a victim to your power of melody and saw but a life of harmony at your side in years to come. Motherly pride overcame me when the fruit of our love came into the world. It was no princely child only the daughter of a musician.

From the first I was anxious about the future of the child for your income was insufficient. Rather was I inclined to count upon the allowance I received from Dresden. But it often struck me that you too were interested in this solitary tie with my past life. It seemed as if you loved me but for what money came my way. I wanted to be loved for myself alone but you always saw in me the divorced wife with the Dresden income behind me.

I wanted an interesting husband not an interested one. Do not pity me. To err in matrimony is human. I have often erred but I shall always retain pleasant memories of my husband. For you I desire to make some provision. Write me frankly what is your price for my freedom. Your three years' devotion entitles you to some small pension.

I shall take no other as successor to you—firstly out of faithfulness secondly because I am growing old and thirdly because they threaten to stop my Dresden allowance should I once again be stricken with marriage fever.

I grant upon my will power to refuse any offer of matrimony which may be made to me. You may rest assured that I shall honor the name of Toselli as I have the title of Countess of Montignoso Princess of Saxony and Princess of Tuscany.

And now farewell. We must all part some time or other. Yours

LOLISA.

Those who have followed the woman's career may doubt her promise to honor Toselli's name will allay any fear he may entertain about her future conduct.

Woman Runs to Earth White Slave Traders

NEW YORK.—Miss Elizabeth J Moss daughter of Frank Moss, assistant district attorney was the chief factor in the rescue, of 16-year-old Marcelle Peaure of Easton Pa., who was about to be sold to an alleged "white slave" resort in Chinatown.

Four prisoners were made as a result of Miss Moss's activity and the police believe they have one of the most convincing "white slave" cases so far obtained. They say they have two men who lured the girl from home, the occupants of the place here where she has concealed and the proprietor of the house of which the girl was to become an inmate.

Miss Moss, who is president of the Society for the Prevention of Crime and also [illegible] has been working on the "white slave" question for some time and she has been assisted by Miss Bertha Rambaugh a lawyer and a member of the society.

Miss Moss learned he said through an agent of the society in Pennsylvania that the girl was to be brought here and sold in Chinatown.

Saturday the girl arrived. She was taken to the home of Mrs Fannie Lee at No. 22½ Catherine street. It must have been a shock to the girl to find that Mrs Lee was apparently married to a Chinaman named Tom Lee.

Negotiations were at once opened for the sale of the girl the police say. Rena G Lee known in Chinatown as the "Gypsy Queen" was to have become the purchaser, it is alleged.

The police say that Gypsy Queen" lived with a Chinaman cigar maker and that she had a number of girls in her house at No. 11 Pell street. Captain Hodgkins, with two detectives went to the Pell street house this evening an hour before the girl was to be delivered and arrested "Gypsy Queen" and her husband.

Detectives from the District Attorney's office went to the Catherine street house and arrested Mrs Lee and her Chinese husband.

WHEELER GOES EAST AFTER FACULTY MEMBERS

University President Seeks to Fill Places Recently Made Vacant.

MANY PROFESSORS HAVE LEFT BIG INSTITUTION

BERKELEY, May 19.—President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California will leave for Chicago, Boston and New York Sunday evening or Monday morning. He is to make a flying trip through the East to keep engagements with eminent scholars with whom he has been in communication for the last month to close contracts with them to become members of the faculty of the State University. The gaps from the loss of departmental heads has played havoc with the personnel of the faculty, crippling the university teaching force to an appreciable degree. Dr. Wheeler will be in the East for but a short time. He hopes to return with a number of announcements of appointments of distinguished eastern savants that will be of great interest to California educators.

WHEELER TRAVELS FAST

When Dr. Wheeler travels he goes some. His trip from France to the Pacific Coast on his return from the six months spent this year in Europe was a record breaker, his time from the continent to Berkeley being less than ten days. His trip East has been planned along similar lines. He will speed to Chicago, keep several engagements there and will then hasten to the eastern seaboard, where he will visit a number of the leading institutions of learning.

The loss of Professor Jacques Loeb, Irving Stringham, the venerable dean of the department of mathematics; of Professor Willard Bradley, losing of Professor W. J. J. Osterhout of the department of Botany, of Professor Archibald Ward, Professor Goddard, department of archaeology, to say nothing of a number of lesser losses, has made it necessary for the university president to bestir himself in recruiting for the various departments.

FAVORS NEW BLOOD

Since he took charge of the university more than a decade ago, Dr. Wheeler has held that it is well to have an occasional infusion of new blood in the faculty [illegible] the methods of [illegible] and to avoid fossil [illegible] in the faculty. The Andrew Carnegie endowment pension fund has made it possible to [illegible] out the old wood [illegible] making professors emeritus and bringing into the Carnegie foundation. But this year [illegible] losses have come thick and fast and have made it difficult to have an old [illegible] to say nothing of the new. It is on this account that President Wheeler is making his hurried trip East.

The journey in search of heads of departments would have begun earlier had it not been for the Golden Jubilee of the university, which kept Wheeler busy on the campus.

MERRITT TO MARRY

The executive building, California hall, will see many changes. It is announced Ralph Merritt is to wed Miss Varina Morrow Saturday, and will leave for a short wedding trip. He will then return to his duties as secretary to President Wheeler, to continue his work until the president's office until the end of June. He will be then recruited with preparing the final report of the president of the university. On completing this work he will return into business for himself.

The university summer session opens [illegible] of the [illegible] will be known until [illegible] and [illegible] of college for the [illegible] term [illegible] Gifford [illegible] Overland [illegible] to Dr. Wheeler returns to again assume [illegible]

Merritt's [illegible] marriage [illegible] of the [illegible] Milton [illegible] president [illegible] of the Alumni Association of the university.

Rehearsals for Passion Music Insure Success of Festival

Four of the singers who will be heard in the chorus of the Bach Choir at the festival in the Hearst Greek Theater.

MISS ALICE ANDREWS

MRS A. E. WEED

MISS DOROTHY PILLSBURY.

MRS E. V MOFFAT

BERKELEY, May 19.—After a year of preparation the second Bach festival, producing the St. Matthew Passion music, will be presented in the Hearst Greek Theater on Saturday, May 21. Dr. J. Fred Wolle, who has devoted his life to a study of the composer, has spent months in training the big chorus and with an adult ensemble of 500 voices, a string quartet and orchestra of forty five pieces, as well as a children's chorus. Dr. Wolle will lead the music at the piano and accompany the tenor solos of Carl Anderson during the rendition of the program.

Bach is without a doubt the king of composers, a fact conceded by all students of music. Dr. Wolle is without a peer in America as an exponent of the famous writers of music, and the talents who have come under his instruction must of necessity study that which is best. As is stated by several who have been connected with the preparation for the festival the children have derived the greatest good from their participation in the choral work in which they have found the purest expressions.

A pipe organ will be placed in the Hearst Greek Theater for the accompaniment of several of the parts and preceding the performance four trombones will play in the hills behind the theater, after the Old World custom, announcing the coming festival. Solo roles in the festival will be sung by Mrs. Orrin Kipp McMurray, Miss Alice Andrews, Miss Adele Rieker, Miss Frances Thoroughman, Mrs. A. E. Weed and H. D. Mustard. Herther Wilmer will serve as concert master and Madame Aurora Thompson, recent arrival from London, will preside at the organ.

PARTING WRECKS WOMAN'S HEALTH

Mrs. J. H. MacLafferty Suffers Breakdown as Result of Estrangement.

Broken by the publicity which has been accorded the estrangement between herself and husband, Mrs. J. H. MacLafferty, wife of the president of the Oakland Paper Company, is completely prostrated at her home, 50 Eldorado avenue, in the fashionable Piedmont district, and since the announcement of the breach in her home has been under the care of a physician, Dr. Stuart Fenton, who is in constant attendance at the bedside.

WOMEN NEARLY JAILED FOR STEALING HORSE

Mrs. Eleanor Carlisle and Mrs. Herbert S. Howard Drive Off in Wrong Rig.

ANIMAL RUNS AWAY, BUT PRINT-SHOP MAN IS HERO

Policeman Arrives and Dangles Handcuffs Before Startled Berkeleyites.

BERKELEY, May 19.—Mrs. Eleanor Carlisle, first woman member of the board of education of Berkeley, and Mrs. Herbert Sanford Howard, well known dramatic reader of this city, narrowly escaped arrest for horse stealing this morning besides being mixed up in a runaway.

The two women, who are actively engaged in working for the production of the "As You Like It" pastoral for the benefit of the Berkeley Playground club, which is to be given in the Claremont hills May 30, were at work at headquarters of the pastoral committee, 116 Center street, this morning. They decided to distribute some subscription books and tickets to a number of organizations and clubs and telephoned to a local livery stable to send out a horse and buggy.

After waiting a short time a buggy was driven before the pastoral headquarters and left there. Mrs. Carlisle and Mrs. Howard took their seats, the former driving. She found the horse frisky and before they reached Addison and Milvia streets the animal was beyond control.

The buggy was stopped and the two women rescued by Ed Zarley, foreman of a printing shop. Mrs. Carlisle proceeded to ring up the stable to upbraid the manager for sending out a dangerous horse for women to drive. She was told that no rig had been sent out yet from the stables. A few minutes later a policeman arrived, sent by the real estate firm of Cooley, Langworthy & McCarthy, who had complained that their horse and rig had been stolen from in front of their office in Center street.

The affair was adjusted only after Chief of Police Volmer had been appealed to and had heard a lengthy explanation of the affair.

AFFINITY NAMED IN DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Clara M. Reis Wants $500 a Month Alimony From Husband.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Mrs. Clara M. Reis, the wife of William B. Reis, a wealthy capitalist, rancher and land owner, took the stand for a brief moment in Judge Cabaniss' court this morning in support of her suit for divorce, which is being bitterly contested. She is represented by Attorney J. J. Barrett, while Attorney Walter Linforth is looking out for the interests of her spouse.

It is some time since the filing of the complaint in the action, which alleges desertion and also plainly tells of an affinity. During today's hearing depositions were read from Edward Block, superintendent of Reis' Santa Margarita ranch in San Luis Obispo county, and Jim Tong, the Chinese cook at the same place. Through these documents it developed that the corespondent is Mrs. Grace Hocks.

HAS BIG INCOME

Mrs. Reis took the stand to tell of her husband's property. Besides being president of the American Construction Company, with offices in the Monadnock building, he owns 175,000 shares in the Reis Estate Company, which brings him in $1,000 a year and property to the value of $150,000 in Chicago.

The couple were married in Oakland June 7, 1890. The wife has asked for $500 a month alimony and suitable counsel fees. She alleges in her complaint and specifies several meetings with the affinity at the ranch and in a house on Vallejo street in this city.

The hearing is to be resumed tomorrow.

Mrs. Minnie G. Tebow was granted a divorce from Frank L. Tebow, a salesman, broker of Denver, by Judge Van Nostrand this morning on the ground of desertion. The wife testified that she left Denver because of heart trouble and her spouse not only failed to join her but wrote her a businesslike letter asking why she wanted money and what was the reason she hadn't earned any for herself.

In the same department Walla Williamson, formerly quite well known in society, was granted a divorce from David C. Williamson.

MRS. JONES GOES TO PLAY CONGRESS

Mrs. Cora L. Jones, a member of the Oakland Playground Commission, left this city yesterday for Rochester, New York, where she will attend the Rochester Play Congress June 6 to 11 as a delegate from the local commission.

The Rochester Play Congress will this year take up the most important matters yet discussed regarding the administration and maintenance of playgrounds and the most efficient methods so far employed for the care of the boys and girls of the large cities during their time out of the school.

The best forms of administration of the city playgrounds will be the main question discussed. In some cities the school boards administering the affairs of this phase of city work and in others the park commissioners have been attending the administration.

The Playground Association of America has made a study of this matter and a special delegation from this association will attend the congress to present the consensus of opinion arrived at.

Pleasanton Lodge Will Hold Festival of the Holy Ghost

Pictures of the Catholic Church, where the religious ceremonies will be held on different days of the celebration, and John Mendoca, the chairman of committee in charge of the affair.

PLEASANTON, May 19.—The annual festival of the Holy Ghost will be celebrated here this week, the exercises to start on Saturday evening and continue until Monday evening. The members of the I. D. E. S. lodge have been using all their efforts to make the affair a success. The lodge was organized in Pleasanton in May, 1898, the number of members at that time being only eighteen. The society has grown and the membership now exceeds 200.

The lodge has recently erected a new hall containing ball room, banquet room and lodge room, and is beautifully furnished. The music for the celebration will be furnished by the Pleasanton Concert Band, and some of the streets have been decorated with flags and banners.

The religious ceremonies will be conducted in St. Augustine church by the Rev. Father McAuliffe on Sunday and Monday, the music during which time being rendered by a large crowd with Miss Gertrude Callon at the organ. A high mass will be celebrated both on Sunday and Monday mornings.

Miss [illegible] Silva has been selected as queen of the celebration and she will be assisted by five young girls.

LEAGUE ASKS RETIREMENT OF J. D. WORKS, IS RUMOR

Former Judge Brings Down Dislike on His Head With Criticisms, According to Wise Ones; Anderson Returns

Among the latest political rumors is one to the effect that ex-Judge John D. Works of Los Angeles is to be asked by the leaders of the Lincoln-Roosevelt leaguers of Southern California to retire from the fight for the United States senatorship to succeed Senator Flint, and that Supervisor of the Census Bert L. Farmer of Los Angeles will be the regular Republican candidate for lieutenant governor.

It is admitted in league circles that Works' candidacy for the senatorship has not aroused any enthusiasm. His selection as the league candidate was opposed at the time it was made and the dissenters have not since taken any pains to conceal their dissatisfaction.

When Works was chosen his literary activities, which included condemnation of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, his savage criticism of Roosevelt and his policies and a vigorous advocacy of state division, had either been forgotten or had failed to attract attention.

AROUSES OPPOSITION

The story goes that Works' retirement as the league's senatorial nominee is asked on the ground that he is imperiling the candidacy of Hiram W. Johnson for governor. Furthermore, the exposure of Works' record on state division has aroused the opposition of the Native Sons, for the simple reason that he aspires to the only place in the gift of the state where it is possible for him to exert his influence effectively in favor of division. At all events the official organ of the order has attacked the league and its officers because of Works' candidacy.

The report goes that at a secret league meeting to be held at Los Angeles on Saturday the demand will be formally made on Judge Works to step down and out.

Associated with this rumor is the report that the announcement of a regular Republican candidate for the United States senatorship will be deferred until it is definitely known what action the Southern California Lincoln-Roosevelt League shall have taken in regard to Works. Hiram Johnson is reported to have denied any knowledge of the Saturday meeting at Los Angeles or of any suggestion that Works will be asked to withdraw. He refuses, however, to discuss the report.

ANDERSON RETURNS

Alden Anderson returned to San Francisco today from Los Angeles, where he has been sojourning for the past two weeks. During his stay there he is reported to have made material headway in his campaign for the governorship, in which he has received material aid from many of Stanton's supporters. Anderson will visit Sacramento on Saturday, where it is anticipated that he will be given a rousing reception.

Hiram Johnson visits Santa Rosa tomorrow night and on the next day will leave for a two-weeks campaign at Los Angeles.

Curry is to be banqueted by the Ukiah merchants club tonight. For the rest of the month he will make a tour of the northern counties.

Stanton is motoring his way through the state to San Francisco.

Ellery promises to make a whirlwind automobile campaign through the rural districts next month. He will start on the tour on June 1.

The announcement has been made in Fresno that Judge George D. Church, now on the superior bench in that county, is out as a Democratic candidate for a place on the bench of the appellate court for the first district.

LUMBER HANDLERS SETTLE TROUBLE

Union Expresses Satisfaction Over Advance in Wages Received.

At a well attended meeting of the Lumber Handlers International Union of Oakland, held in California Hall Tuesday night, enthusiasm was expressed over the settlement of the water front jurisdiction and settle and the advance in wages received by the members. The thanks of the union were extended to the Building Trades Council for the support it gave in the fight and to the committee, consisting of Hamb, Johanson, McGuire, Smith and Levin, that adjusted the difficulty.

The union was addressed by Delegate Macklin in behalf of the striking shoemakers of the Cahn Mickelsburg factory, also by Delegate Morgan of the Western Miners in the interest of the miners on strike in the Black Hills country of South Dakota. The union donated $10 to each of these causes.

DISASTER CAUSED BY BREACH OF LAW

Coroner Jury in Cherry Mine Tragedy Returns 250 Verdicts.

PRINCETON, Ill., May 19.—The coroner's jury which began last November to investigate the cause of the Cherry mine disaster which resulted in the death of 265 miners in the St. Paul coal mine has reached an agreement and 150 separate verdicts have been returned. The jury says the mining laws were broken with the knowledge and consent of the mine inspector.

The verdicts were in three sets, one set giving the cause of death of twelve men in the rescue party who perished on the cage in the main shaft, another set for the 187 men who were suffocated in the second vein and the third for the [illegible] men who were trapped in the third vein and died of exposure and suffocation.

The verdict of the coroner's jury is a vindication of John Cowley, the engineer who was in charge of the cage on which the twelve rescuers lost their lives. The verdict says the rescuers lost their lives indirectly by a confusion of signals regulating the movement of the cage.

The following verdict was brought in for each of the 187 men who lost their lives in the second vein:

We find that they came to their death by suffocation and that the fire was caused by a pitched load of baled hay coming in contact with an oil torch.

And we further find that there was great delay in notifying the men of the danger.

The verdict giving the cause of death of the men in the third vein says:

We find that they came to their death by exposure and suffocation. We further find that the mining laws of the State of Illinois in relation to means of escape were violated with the full knowledge and consent of the mine inspectors for district 2.

Peace Pact Signed By Two Railroads

PORTLAND, Ore., May 19.—An agreement was made public yesterday between the Oregon Trunk Line Railroad (Hill) and the Des Chutes Railroad (Harriman), both of which lines are building into Central Oregon, whereby the Harriman road is to have trackage rights over thirty-seven miles of the Hill railroad through the Des Chutes canyon. The thirty-seven miles of track is said to close a gap over which the Harriman road would have been unable to secure a right of way.

In consideration of the concession it is stated that the Hill company secures a right of way across Harriman's Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company's right of way along the Columbia river so as to reach its proposed bridge, and also across a ranch in the Des Chutes valley. In both cases expensive and protracted condemnation suits are avoided. The statement declares that with the exception of the thirty-seven mile allotted to the Hill and Harriman lines into Central Oregon will be entirely separate.

FATHER PLAYS IN ROLE OF HERO

Walter S. Martin Saves the Life of His Little Child.

SAN FRANCISCO May 19.—Walter S Martin, son of Mrs Eleanor Martin, has just made his exit from playing the role of hero and two badly scorched hands are testimony that the honors were not reaped without pain

The injuries were sustained while extinguishing a fire in the nursery at the Hillsborough home of the Martins yesterday that endangered the lives of their two little girls Mary and Eleanor six and four years old respectively

An alcohol stove exploded in the apartment where the children were playing and set little Mary's frock in a blaze

Hearing the screams of the children the father rushed upstairs and with his bare hands he twisted and crushed his child's burning clothing until the flame was extinguished and her life no longer was in danger

In the dash for the scene of the fire the butler was a good second arriving quickly with a portable chemical tank and promptly proceeding to extinguish the blaze that had caught on a screen in the room

It was all over in a minute or two but the household was thrown into an uproar and the ladies hearts were still palpitating when they returned to the dining-room

AUTO SCHOOL FOR OAKLAND WOMEN

First of Its Kind on the Pacific Coast---Local Notes of Interest.

By J. A. HOULIHAN.

What is probably the first undertaking of its kind on the coast will be the establishment of an automobile school of instruction for women by Prof W C Horner

Speaking yesterday on the subject Professor Horner had the following to say

It is an established fact all over the country that if competent schools of instruction in automobiles for women were maintained the number of women driving cars would increase tenfold At the present time and this is especially true right here in Oakland the number of women driving cars is limited and this is entirely due to the fact that they are skeptical of purchasing cars for the simple reason that inasmuch as they are not mechanically inclined a gas engine and gasoline car appear to them as a piece of machinery which when in perfect order ... a pleasure to own but once something goes wrong they would be helpless It is my intention to offer a short instruction course which when completed will enable any woman or even young girl to handle with ease and control even the highest powered cars

CHINESE FOMENT FOREIGN HATRED

Part of Plan to Overthrow the Rule of the Manchu Dynasty.

WASHINGTON May 19.—State department officials are without specific or official information as to the controlling cause of the present disturbance in China The statement from Canton to the effect that self-government societies were circulating reports to the effect that Chinese arrivals in San Francisco were being ill treated is regarded as part of a movement having for its object the creation of a feeling prejudicial to foreigners in general and Americans in particular

It is recalled that many of the Chinese in the United States come from the province of Kwang Tung in which Canton is located and the people there bitterly resent the enactment of the Chinese exclusion laws by the United States

AGAINST MANCHUS.

The Yangtse valley has for many years been the hotbed and headquarters of a large number of seditious societies having for their ultimate object the expulsion of foreigners and the overthrow of the present Manchu dynasty

These societies have been very active since before the Boxer uprising and it is believed they are largely responsible for the extensive propaganda which is being carried on to a great extent throughout the whole empire against the government and against foreigners generally ... It is recalled that during the last year placards have been posted throughout ... the whole of China stating in effect that it was the purpose of the foreigners to subdue China and partition the ...

YOUTH SOLVES FIRE PROBLEM

Mayor Gaynor to Act on the Suggestion of New York Grocer's Boy.

NEW YORK May 19.—A letter sent by a grocer's boy to Mayor Gaynor may result in radical changes in the laws for protection against fire in tenements The letter calls attention to the fact that 75 per cent of the fires in New York city begin in cellars

The grocer's boy says that most cellars are so dark that the deliveryman must light matches and pieces of paper to find their way about He suggests that janitors be required to keep the cellars adequately lighted and that frequent inspections be made so that no rubbish be allowed to collect where a little carelessness on the part of the delivery boy might cause a fire

Both the mayor and the fire commissioner regarded the suggestions in the letter as excellent and said that new rules for cellars might be recommended as a result

Deadly Parlor Match Reap Death's Harvest

CHICAGO May 19.—Declaring that 00 lives are sacrificed yearly to the parlor match its suppression was advocated yesterday by ... M Goddard President of the National Fire Prevention Association in his annual address at the fourteenth annual meeting of the association

President Goddard after calling attention to the estimate of fire waste excluding that of forest fires and marine losses amounting to $450,000,000 said The results to the individual of this enormous fire waste are usually modified by insurance so that the loss is spread over the whole country But the loss is there just the same and we are all paying our portion of it Were it not for this equalization of loss through insurance we can hardly imagine the results of a conflagration like that of San Francisco Baltimore or Chelsea to the immediate losers

PAPKE AND THOMAS SETTLE SUPREMACY TONIGHT

Raleigh Wins Handicap, While Chester Krum Finishes Last

FIGHT FANS ROOTING FOR SUCCESS OF CALIFORNIAN

Both Men in the Pink of Condition; Papke Rules Favorite; Thomas Confident of Showing Well

By EDDIE SMITH.

ALTHOUGH almost a despised outsider in the betting and given not much of a chance to win, Joe Thomas California's most popular fighter, will enter the ring for a twenty-round scrap tonight with Billy Papke with the majority of those in attendance rooting for him to come out the victor. Few fighters can boast the popularity that Thomas has and few deserve it. Thomas is one of the mildest mannered, best behaved fellows the boxing game has known, and the friends that he counts by the thousands are a natural result of his kindliness and civility.

Aside from his good qualities as a gentleman Joe is one of the gamest fighters that ever pulled a glove on and it is owing to this great gameness that many of the fans are making a small bet on his chances. Joe has trained to the hour and his condition has been pronounced so good by himself and his trainer that there is little or no chance left for him to say he was not right if fortune goes against him.

Papke is in the condition of his young life and when he enters the ring he will be like a young bull entering the arena. Billy is certainly at his best, and if he is beaten Thomas can say that he beat Papke the best day he ever saw. When the men finally square off for the ringing of the first bell it is agreed that both will be at their best in so far as physical condition is concerned.

When the bell rings for the first start it is more than probable that Papke will leave his corner with a rush and endeavor to crush Thomas with a punch. It is the theory of Papke that he not only takes a chance of winning right off the reel by making these rushes as he did with Hugo Kelly but he also feels that he puts fear ... into the other fellow. Thomas ... along that he wants nothing better than to have Papke rush at him and stoutly maintains that should this be the case he will win in a very few rounds.

There is one thing that has stirred up the hopes of the Thomas camp from the very start and that is the lack of courage that it is claimed Papke has shown at various times during his career. Thomas for this reason believes that he will be able to outgame the German fighter and gradually beat him down if the contest goes some distance. Then Joe claims that the battles each had with with Frank Klaus show him to be the better man. Thomas claims and he shows clippings to prove that he is right that he bested Klaus in every round while on the other hand it is shown where Papke was bested by the same man.

The fact that he won and Papke did not show so well leads the Californian to believe he will win tonight and he will enter the ring very confident even though the bettors have made him a short ender in the betting at 2 to 1. Jack Welsh is to referee the contest.

In the preliminaries Harry Dell and Willie Canole will battle ten rounds with Charlie Harvey the New York sporting man as referee. The first preliminary will bring together Roy Temple and Peter Martin and for this contest Sam Keegan Monahan has been selected referee. The first bout is being advertised as starting at 8 p m and as Coffroth is running the contests it is a cinch that this will be the time for the first bout.

OAKLAND LOSES BIG FIGHT

Oakland loses the big fight. Tex Rickard announced last evening that he did not care to take a chance with a $1... investment in a city where the people would give him no encouragement and so he has hiked back to San Francisco where he will have to stand for many things that he would get away from on this side of the bay. Ever since there has been an agitation on this side of the bay against the holding of the contest here the promoters have been overrun with requests to take the contest to San Francisco and after having had a talk with District Attorney Hickey and being assured the use of Jim Coffin's permit Rickard agreed to take the contest to San Francisco.

"We want everything we can get," said Supervisor Johnnie Herget last evening. "Any time there is anything going on that will start $200,000 in circulation we want it right here in San Francisco and we are going to do all our power to help Rickard and Gleason promote this contest."

District Attorney Hickey has said that he can see no violation to the law covering boxing in the Jeffries Johnson contest and for that reason he will not interfere with it. Let's not talk any more about it for it seems disgustingly true that we have lost a golden opportunity to secure advertisement for nothing whereas only a few ... months ago this city paid out a ... some sum of money for ... this kind of advertisement in the Saturday Evening Post. This affair would ... a ... lasting advertisement ... would have reached every civilized country in the world.

P. T. Barnum once said: "I don't care what you say about me in the papers but for heavens sake say something—don't forget me, that is all I ask." That is the way I should be in the advertising of a city: get the publicity and get as much of it as one can and the Jeffries-Johnson affair was one of the things that would have caused million to talk about Oakland.

JOHNSON TRAINS HARD

Jack Johnson put in an afternoon in the gymnasium yesterday and ... it ... ing ... is the second one that he has indulged in since he has started his training for the big contest he showed up exceptionally well. Johnson boxed nine rounds in all with his three sparring partners and at the end of the work he was perspiring freely but was not at all winded. To those who are worrying over the condition of Jack Johnson and who are willing to be guided just a little by the writer I am willing to go on record as saying that the black man will be in great condition for the contest.

In his boxing yesterday Johnson missed many a punch however and he will need some fast hard milling to quicken his eye. As a defensive ... Johnson has no equal in the boxing game but it is going to take more than defense to best Jeffries and it is to develop a few good leads and counters that Johnson must train. Johnson weighed ... evening for the writer and balanced the scales at 221 pounds. For the contest the negro expects to be at 20... pounds but if he goes a little lighter he will not worry.

WEBSTER AND BAKER AT WORK

With the date drawing near and Danny Webster and Harry Baker in the most of their training the fans of Oakland are beginning to look up to the contest that is to be staged one next Tuesday evening. Baker and Webster are of the sort of boxers who ... fans. Webster being a rushing hitter with more than usual ... Baker is an expert in every angle of the boxing end of the game. Baker is ... as strong as Webster and for that reason ... sets the pace the the Los Angeles boy will be ... his ... cleverness.

RALEIGH OUTGAMES FIELD IN THE FAIRFAX HANDICAP

Jockey Callaghan Startles Race Fans by Riding Six Place Horses; Two Favorites Make Good for Talent

By LEE DEMIER

The best crowd of the week made their way to the local course yesterday. The talent came into their own after two days of hard struggle with the layers. Two favorites and three well played second choices finished past the wire first during the afternoon. The most remarkable feat in the saddle was that of Jockey Callaghan who accepted six mounts and finished second six times. The rider has become very popular with the race fans who like his mount no matter what he rides and the place. Jockey Post came into the limelight yesterday when he drove Sibari winner. It was his first bracket since the season opened.

The defeat of Chester Krum was no disgrace by any means. The sturdy son of Sir Hercules who won such an impressive race the day before with 115 pounds up and shouldered the weight like a father was made the top heavy favorite in the Fairfax handicap giving away weight to every horse in the race. The public gladly accepted 6 to 5 but in the early betting some of the big layers posted 13 to 5. Chester Krum was the last to leave the post and when the field hit the first turn Jockey "Happy Buxton" tried to make the colt extend himself but he would not respond when called upon and finished last. Raleigh the winner had the foot to outrun his field all the way and always held them safe although Coburn took no chances but rode him for dear life all the final furlong and beat out Red em a length and a half for the big end of the purse. Callihan on the latter lost his whip soon after the start and also lost considerable ground looking backward. The filly closed in game style and then had rough luck to stall off the fast coming Inclement for the place.

The talent started the ball a rolling by stringing their coin on the chances of Miss ... The Gallcrest mare was played from 2s to 8 to 5. The winner was out run early but soon ... to the front in the final furlong and outgamed Haskra at the end. The latter ran her race and had no excuses. Burning Bush had Kiss ... up yesterday who got more out of him when it came to a drive and held Arthur Hyman safe for the place. Anna May the paddock tip finished away back. The bridge jumpers went to Emma G. on the limb. ... also ran.

• • •

Salall played heavily at 8 to 5 showed its heels to a fast bunch of two year-olds in the second race. The layers had the winner's price painted on their program thinking that the right money was going to show on Anna May at bugle call. Salall was outrun by Wiltrude S the first quarter of a mile but when Kent led him down in the stretch he galloped over her winning as he pleased. The latter set a fast pace but began to back up at the end. Othale the good thing was cut off in the early running and never had a chance to get near the leaders.

• • •

Trainer Jim Niel and his Emeryville following put a crimp into the layers' bank roll when Miss Roberts rolled home in the six furlong dash. The Emeryville horseman told his friends that the mare by General Roberts was a pipe to win and they sent it in straight place and show. The winner breezed over the leaders when Jockey Gargan let her down in the stretch winning by four lengths from Sainotta. The well-played Woodlander was in on the rail and had scant chance at the final furlong. Sainest showed a world of early speed but backed up in the stretch.

Sibari carrying the colors of Paddock & Culver won the fifth race with old man Post on his back. He took his mount to the front at the three-quarter pole and then said "Catch me if you can" winning with something to spare from Mi Derecho. Charles Green the lukewarm favorite was third.

Owner Jack Crane will race his horses at Salt Lake. He will also cut in on bookmakers row.

The entry of Babe Neeley in the closing race was the cause of a large influx of Oaklanders out to the track yesterday. The bay filly by David Tenny was backed down from ... to 18 to 5 and the layers were loaded up at the latter price. But something had to wake up in the race to spill the beans. Dahlgren who improved over night took the track at the first jump and led his field all the way. ... Neeley hung on like a bulldog to a second from Cuvina. The latter was the medium of a wild plunge by Owner Mike Hayes and his Limerick following had the horse won there would not have been a drop of booze left in Hayes' Emeryville resort.

CHOICE OF RUBY DISAPPOINTS YACHTSMEN

Little Chance Conceded to the Merry Widow Under the Handicap Conditions.

The decision of the Corinthian Yacht Club to put the speedy little Ruby up in the race for the perpetual challenge cup coveted by the Aeolian Club of Alameda is causing some disappointment among water enthusiasts who hoped that the Discovery would be entered against the Merry Widow in order to make the contest a close race. According to the deed of gift attaching to the San Francisco trophy a cup defender can not be more than 10 per cent larger than the challenger but no mention is made of a boat more than 10 per cent smaller. It is almost a foregone conclusion that the Merry Widow cannot defeat the Ruby with the big time allowance the latter will receive even if it does defeat it boat for boat which is doubtful if the Aeolian entry is not sailed better than it was at the club race of last Sunday.

It is doubtful if any yacht on the bay could give the Ruby over ten minutes and defeat her over the channel course. The Merry Widow is a fast boat but she can hardly be expected to concede such odds. The final decision will not be rendered however until the boats have been officially measured. The steamer Zinfandel has been chartered for the sake of those who wish to follow the race and will leave the foot of Powell street on the San Francisco side at 1 o'clock. The yachts will start from Meiggs wharf at the same time.

This will be an eventful lawn tennis season. Maurice McLoughlin and Melville Long that wonderful pair of Californians are coming East to take part in all the leading tournaments ending up with the national championship at Newport. The Westerners undoubtedly have hard work before them. Anthony Wilding the great Australian is to play in this country. Possibly the English cup team of challengers may be at Newport also for it is pretty certain that the team named by England will cross the Atlantic ocean again to try the ties for the blue ribbon of the courts.

INFLUENZA SPREADS AMONG RACERS AT NEW YORK COURSES

NEW YORK, May 19.—The outbreak of influenza at Sheepshead Bay, which several days ago laid low every two year old in the James R. Keene stable, has spread to some of the other stables here. The Cassatt horses were reported today as seriously affected by the epidemic. Fashion Plate is one of the horses whose illness is causing apprehension.

At the Keene stables all the horses, with the exception of Sweep, Futurity winner, are improving rapidly. Sweep is dangerously ill and probably will not be a starter in the Withers to be run Saturday.

NEW YORK, May 19.—There will be a considerable exodus of horses and horsemen leaving the courses around New York for Canada this week. The departure includes John Powers who will take Jack Atkin and the three year old Sager. William Hogan trainer for Bartlett McLennan of Montreal. Phil T. Chinn who takes the smart two year old Bedwine. Robert Boyle with Thistle Dale and James McLaughlin.

NEGLECT

More Dangerous Than DISEASE

In my very extensive practice I have learned that the VERY SERIOUS and almost incurable cases are due usually to NEGLECT AND DELAY. OAKS PROTEST GAME LOST BY UMPIRE'S RULING

Governor Gillett Says That Championship Battle Cannot Be Stopped

VAN HALTREN BEWILDERS HOGAN BY SUDDEN CHANGE

Calls Runner Safe, Then Out, and Fools First Baseman Into Letting Portland Score Fatal Run

By FRANCK R. HAVENNER.

PORTLAND was credited with winning yesterday's game from the Oaks, but there seems to be a strong probability that the game will either be awarded outright to the Oaks or will be ordered to be replayed. Manager Wolverton protested the game after Van Haltren had deliberately changed a decision at first base, which caused Hogan to leave his station, believing that the side had been retired, and allowed McCredie to score a run which prevented the locals from winning the game.

It was a tough game to lose from every standpoint. After Van Haltren's ruling had enabled Portland to tie the score the game strung along for the full nine innings without either team being able to gain an advantage. Then in the tenth frame, Frank Carroll, long regarded as one of the most reliable outfielders in the business, actually muffed an easy fly and allowed the Beaver outfit to score the winning tally. Every one in the stands was just as much surprised as Frank was when he dropped the ball, but it looked as if it were not in the cards for the Oaks to win after things had broken so badly, and the fans attributed the unexpected error to the "hoodoo."

Maggert pitched a magnificent game for the home team and the visitors got but four safe hits off his delivery in the ten frames. He certainly deserved to win. The rest of the Oaks played well enough, for that matter, and piled up twice as many hits as their adversaries, but their errors came at inopportune times, allowing the Beavers to score two unearned runs out of their total of three.

Krapp pitched a heady game for the Beavers, keeping the Oaks' hits well scattered, and holding them down well in tight places.

IT looks as if Wolverton has an excellent chance to make his protest of yesterday's game stick. All of the old-timers who saw the play opined that the umpire had made a mistake, which, as it turned out afterward, cost Oakland the game, and Van Haltren himself admitted that he had blundered in announcing his decision.

The play was this way: With men on first and second and one out in the third inning, Smith hit a bounder to Cutshaw. "Cuttie" picked it up in good style, touched second and shot the ball back to Hogan at first. Van Haltren ran back toward first as the ball reached Hogan's mitt, and, raising both hands, shouted "Out." A second later he added "Safe," but Hogan, hearing him say "Out" and believing that the double play had been completed, tossed the ball into the center of the diamond and started to trot over to the bench. McCredie, who was perched on third, ran home and Van Haltren allowed the run, claiming that he had called the runner on second out, but the one at first safe.

The decision caused a tremendous protest from all of the Oaks, and Wolverton immediately announced that he would protest the game. By allowing McCredie to score Van Haltren virtually presented the game to the Beavers, for without his run the score would have been two to one in favor of the Oaks at the end of the ninth inning.

* * *

There are a lot of nasty lumps in the path between first and second at Recreation Park which caused several grounders hit in that direction to take bad bounds as they reached the second-sacker. Both Cutshaw and Ort lost easy ones in this manner.

* * *

Wares and Cutshaw are working up great speed in combination plays, and it takes a pretty speedy runner to reach first safely on a force hit into their territory.

* * *

* * *

Harkins is certainly a hard luck pitcher. He pitched a splendid game yesterday—good enough to win from any team at any time—but fate decreed that he must be charged with a defeat. Van Haltren seems to personify fate in Harkins' horoscope. The lank umpire was accused of robbing "Hark" of a victory in the sixteen-inning game which he pitched against the Seals last week. The little twirler was never in better form than at present, and it is a crying shame that he cannot be rewarded with the success which he deserves.

* * *

Don Cameron is decidedly under the weather, and it was feared for a time that he was threatened with appendicitis, but it is believed now that the danger of this is past. The big fellow will probably be out of the game for several days, however.

* * *

Krapp is certainly a nifty pitcher, but he will have to correct his habit of making balks. He is the lad that caused that rumpus in Portland by making a bobble on the mound, which allowed Mohler to advance a base, and he repeated the same stunt yesterday in the first inning. Krapp throws his body in motion and then swings around to nab a base runner, which is expressly forbidden in the book of rules.

GOVERNOR GILLETT SAYS FIGHT CAN'T BE STOPPED

Chief Executive of State Says That Effort to Prevent It Will Fail.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Governor J. N. Gillett of California, who passed through Chicago on his way home from Washington, discussing the move to transfer the Jeffries-Johnson fight from the Emeryville race track to San Francisco, said:

"The only thing the club will have to do is to go before the Board of Supervisors and obtain a permit. The law authorizes the contest to take place, and there is nobody to prevent it. I haven't the slightest doubt the club can get a permit in San Francisco without any trouble.

"Arguments that the law is made to provide only for amateur contests is answered by the section which provides that contestants must be examined by physicians before entering the ring. If the law anticipated amateur contests, it is not likely the provision would have been made.

"The fight seems to be one of the biggest national interest, and I do not believe there is any desire to prevent it. While I haven't heard from home since leaving on this trip, I do not believe any sentiment against the meeting has taken form.

"Judging by the way our party has been met and the questions put up to us, there is no question about the interest in the fight. To the people of the United States, at least, it is a bigger thing than the passage or defeat of important legislation, Roosevelt's triumphal tour or even the approach of the comet."

ZYBSZKO THROWS FRENCH WRESTLER IN STRAIGHT FALLS

MONTREAL, May 19. — Zbyszko, the Pole, last night easily defeated De Reuen, the Frenchman, two straight falls. The first fall was secured in 36 minutes with a reverse body hold. De Reuen hit the mat so hard that he was unconscious for two minutes. A front bod[y hold] got the second fall and match in 16 minutes.

Last Sunday, at the Melrose grounds, the Trainmen trimmed the boys from the general office in the morning game by the score of 7 to 2. Both teams played a nice game in the field, but the stickwork of the trainmen was too much for the pencil artists, especially that of "Vic" Wells, who had the pleasure of getting two hits in one inning, when the Trainmen scored five runs. Pitcher Leahy pitched a nice heady game, shutting his opponents out after the first inning, when they scored their two runs, but the fielding feature of the day was the phenomenal stop made by Eddie Hagedorn, the keystone guardian of the Trainmen, when he knocked down a sure hit behind second and threw his man out at the first station while lying prostrate on the ground.

In the afternoon game the boys from Sacramento were too much for the Westerns, winning by the score of 9 to 2. This makes the fifth straight game the Westerns have lost, after winning their initial game. The San Jose-Coast game was postponed owing to the Carnival held at San Jose the past week, necessitating the San Jose players to work Sunday in order to straighten things up.

Next Sunday the San Jose boys will be seen in action again, when they line up against the Trainmen in the morning game at Melrose, while the Coast and Westerns will hook up in the afternoon, the General Office making their stay for the day at Sacramento, where they meet the boys from the shops. Games will start at Melrose at 10 a. m. and 2:30 p. m.

SAN JOSE STATE LEAGUE TEAM MUTINIES

Management Hard Put to It to Keep the Players From Deserting Club.

According to reports from San Jose there is a great deal of dissension among the Prune Pickers of the State League, and nearly all of the players are reported as seeking other fields of occupation for the remainder of the season. At the foot of the league affairs seem to have gone from bad to worse and the management is doing some tall hustling in an effort to get the team together for the Stockton trip this evening. So far indications are that nearly the entire team, with the exception of Goodwin and one or two others, will go to the Slough city to commence the series tomorrow. Goodwin expects to join Eureka.

In spite of the slim attendance at the contests in the Garden city, the management announces its intention of continuing in the league. President Herman states that he will continue and that undoubtedly the other managers will do the same.

The visiting clubs to Oakland and San Francisco have, without exception, come out at the small end of the purse at the close of the week all during this season, for the expenses have invariably been in the neighborhood of $500, while their share of the light receipts has been about $200. It will be seen, therefore, that the fight is an uphill one, and outside of that the players do not receive the proper encouragement.

The attendance at Fresno and Sacramento has also been light throughout the forepart of the season, but President Herman states that after the settling of a few minor difficulties, the league will be straightened out and things go along more smoothly. Cal Ewing and Cy Moring have signified their intentions of sticking by the league, and with the united efforts of the various managements there seems little doubt but what the outlook for the State League will take on a more roseate hue within the coming week.

GARNER MOST PROMISING JOCKEY ON EASTERN TURF

Midget Rider Bids Fair to Lead All Competitors; News of the Racing World From All Parts

By JAMES DOCKERALL.

NEW YORK, May 19.—From the present indications little Guy Garner will turn out the premier jockey of the season. He has already won more than a score of races and seems to be improving every day. Every winter's racing is noted for its jockey development. This winter was no exception to the rule. The meeting at Juarez, Mexico, did wonders for Garner; the Jacksonville and Tampa seasons made a good rider out of Langan, and the season on the coast developed Taplin into a finished rider, than whom there is no better around these parts just now. Taplin gave Carl Schilling a great race for the honors out West, and every one must admit that Schilling is about the best rider in America today. The season on the metropolitan tracks is a month old now and, while Garner has gotten the choicest of the mounts, he has shown so far that he has the making of a star in him.

Last season the average horse player hesitated before putting a wager on a horse ridden by Garner. This season, if Garner has the mount on his selection, he thinks the race half won.

* * *

The report that Sam Doggett of Denver may ride abroad has recalled to the minds of turfmen the fact that Doggett has the qualities of a star himself. Doggett did all the riding for Pittsburg Phil (George E. Smith) for four or five years. The best winning mount he had in those days, he declares, was Parvenue. A monumental killing was contemplated. Parvenue opened up at 20 to 1 and was backed down to 8 to 1 by post time. As the horses went to the post it was discovered that the weights were wrong on Doggett. All bets were declared off, with twenty minutes in which to make a new book. Pittsburg Phil then lost the opportunity to make a million, although, as it was, he won $60,000. Doggett came East in 1891 with a turfman named Waldo. Later he rode for Frank Ehret, the millionaire brewer. Doggett won the Metropolitan handicap in 1893 and the Brooklyn Derby in 1896. Doggett was second or third a number of times in the Futurity and Suburban. His last race was for the stable of Jack McGinnis. In 1891 Doggett rode in Austria, and it is quite likely that he will ride there again.

The Belmont Park race meeting is the most important and fashionable of the spring metropolitan meetings, so that when it was reported that the Sheepshead Bay dates would be run off there it caused considerable comment. Belmont Park is in the heart of the summer colony of rich and fashionable New Yorkers and others who live in Westchester county. Such persons are August Belmont, Harry Payne Whitney, James R. Keene and others exert every endeavor to make the Belmont Park track a success. The fashionables make up parties and go to the track in automobiles and coaches.

However, the interesting rumor that the Sheepshead Bay dates will be shifted to Belmont Park has been authoritatively denied. At the same time, the stewards of the jockey club denied that the Gravesend dates would be shifted to Jamaica. The rumor was based wholly upon gossip.

* * *

There is little likelihood that there will be racing on the local tracks after October. From conservations held with some of the leading members of the jockey club the meetings in the fall will be short. The full time allowed by law in this state to hold racing will be cut off at least fifteen days.

With this idea uppermost in the minds of the racing stewards, the officials of the Maryland Jockey Club were told to keep open their fall dates and not apply for any specified time to hold the meeting at Pimlico. At the time—early this spring—it was intimated that the racing here would end early. Since then there has been no change in views of the jockey club stewards, and unless something unforeseen crops up in the interior between this date and the end of the racing season at Saratoga, "taps" will sound on the local season in October.

There is a proposition on foot to hold a meeting at Pimlico extending from about November 1 to November 15. After that date the thoroughbreds, with their owners and trainers, may go either to Juarez, Jacksonville, Oakland or to Jamestown. The latter course will apply to the jockey club for sanction to hold a meeting following that at Pimlico. If, as proposed, Pimlico ends during the middle of November, the Jamestown track will hold a meeting until November 30.

* * *

The turfmen have patched up a truce in the selling war which has been raging on the Eastern tracks. For a time it was expensive to win a selling race. These selling races, however, have been a source of big profit to the racing associations. At Aqueduct Follie Levy, the winner of a selling race, was bid up $190 over her entered price. Under the rules the track's treasury received half of this sum. George Odom, the owner of the filly, found the pleasure of winning the race a costly one, as he had to pay $1555 more than the race was worth in order to keep his horse. This is merely one incident. Father Bill Daly took part in the war, after long years of absence from active racing.

* * *

The seventeen days' meeting at Belmont Park opened yesterday under favorable auspices. The Belmont will have a value of $15,000, but it will not be such a race as the Withers, because it was closed too far ahead. Starbottle, Sweep, Suffragist, Duke of Ormonde and German Silver are the only horses of any consequence which were welcomed in the Belmont.

* * *

Turfmen believe that the reorganization of the Grand and Eastern circuits will prove a benefit in the way of attendance. The usual summer meetings will be held at Buffalo, New York, Boston, Hartford and Syracuse in the East, while the Grand circuit comprises an extensive program.

The New York meeting will be held at the Empire track, near Yonkers, from August 23 to 27, following Buffalo and preceding Boston. Five stakes of $2500 each have been opened for the meeting. Commemorating old times, these stakes have been named Robert Bonner Memorial, for 2:30 trotters; the Speedway Stake, for 2:16 trotters; the Fleetwood Park Stake, for 2:14 trotters; the Union Course Stake, for 2:20 pacers, and the Fashion Course Stake, for 2:10 pacers. Such amateur reinsmen as General Brayton Ives, James Butler, James A. Murphy, De Witt C. Flanagan, C. K. G. Billings, James McClenahan and M. W. Devereux will probably drive. Entries for all stake races will close May 23.

The schedule of dates for the reorganized Grand Circuit is now as follows: Kalamazoo, Mich., July 25 to 30; Detroit, August 1 to 6; Cleveland, August 8 to 13; Buffalo, August 16 to 19; New York, August 23 to 27; Boston, August 29 to September 3; Hartford, Conn., September 5 to 9; Syracuse, September 12 to 17; Columbus, O., September 20 to 30; Lexington, Ky., October 3 to 15.

* * *

Racing will be seen at Latonia this summer. The meeting will open June 6.

* * *

A. M. Orpen bought the famous old grandstand at the Newport, Ky., track, to be used in Dufferin Park, Toronto.

* * *

Jockey Carl Schilling was granted a license to ride for S. C. Hildreth immediately after he was freed of the charge of stabbing R. L. Thomas, the Kentucky turfman, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Thomas' attorneys declared that they intended taking the fight into a higher court. Schilling rode for the stable of R. L. Thomas in California two seasons ago, but last year there was a disagreement as to terms.

GIANT CONSTABLE TO HOLD SINGLE-HANDED FIELD MEET AT HOME

FRUITVALE, May 19. — One of the most original field meets ever held will take place at the athletic grounds of Tom Carroll, the giant constable of this place, only one man to be entered in each event. Tom Carroll will be the star performer and will endeavor to smash a number of records.

The sixteen-pound hammer throw, the shot put, broad jump and the old Scotch sport, the stone put, will all be held. It is thought that the big constable will break the world's record in the hammer throw.

Carroll, who is known far and wide for his immense stature and perfect build, has invited a large number of his friends to witness the feats at the athletic grounds, which he has built at his ranch on Fruitvale avenue.

The youngsters of the neighborhood are all pupils of the big athlete and he is contemplating the building of a gymnasium where he can train them. A swimming pool has already been constructed.

HAYWARD CUBS WIN EASY VICTORY

The Hayward Cubs trimmed the Main Events by the score of 8 to 1 on the Hayward diamond. It was an easy victory for the Cubs, who have been unable to find any team this season to give them a close run.

Next Sunday the Cubs will meet the Antioch team on the Hayward grounds and a hot game is expected. Captain Orr of the Cubs is whipping his material into good shape and the Antiochs will find the Cubs a hard game, for there are a lot of able swatters in the Hayward lineup.

The fans, who were a little skeptical about the Cubs, are about ready to concede that Hill has a real live ball team and one that figures to win many a game. On the 29th the Hayward Cubs will journey to Newman in a special train. Manager Hill has made arrangements to take a large bunch of fans to help his team to victory over the Newman [illegible].

JAILED FOR MAKING FIGHT WAGER; WILL MAKE TEST OF LAW

In the arrest in San Francisco by Detective Ed Wren of John Campbell a test case will be made of the anti-betting act on the point as to whether the better himself commits a crime when the stakeholder gets no remuneration and the better makes out the ticket recording the bet. Attorney J. H. Jordan is representing the defendant. Campbell made a bet of $10 to $7 with Clarence Berthol on the result of the Jeffries-Johnson fight and the money was deposited with the Standard Investment Company as stakeholder, the ticket being made out by Campbell. He was released on bail.

MERE MEN LEAD FIGHT AGAINST PICTURE HATS IN BROOKLYN CHURCHES

Male Parishioners Protest Profuse Millinery; Chicago Woman Sues Railroad for 'Bunch of Curls' and a 'Rat'

NEW YORK, May 19.—Eight male parishioners in a Brooklyn Episcopal church have organized in a fight against the wearing of the immense hats recently affected by women at Sunday services.

They have prepared a letter, printed copies of which have been circulated through the congregation and mailed to most of the offending women. The letter says, in part:

"We men are tired of peering through women's headgear in the hope of being able to catch an occasional glimpse of what is going on in the chancel. We are tired of straining our ears amidst thickets of millinery in the effort to hear what the preacher is saying. Unless a reform comes soon a large number of men will withdraw from the church and refuse to contribute for its support."

Sues for "Rats" and Curls

CHICAGO, May 19.—A "bunch of curls, $3.50," and a "rat, 65 cents," are among a list of articles claimed to have been lost in a railroad accident by Mrs. Willie E. Gardner, according to an amended petition filed by her in Circuit Judge Muench's court.

She is suing the Frisco for $5,307.9- damages for injuries, the loss of property and expenses claimed to have resulted from an accident while on her way from Oklahoma City to St. Louis November 3d last.

Her original petition contained an item of $100 for wearing apparel.

The railroad company's attorney asked the court to require her to describe the articles claimed to have been lost. Her lawyer, Benjamin Schnurmacher, former city counselor, prepared a list, which was submitted yesterday.

Among the other articles are a set of gold collar pins, $6; black broadcloth coat, $27.50; silk kimono, $12.50; red alligator bag, $16.50; hatpin, $2; hat, $20; manicure set, $2, and party dress, $28. The case is pending.

Fears Comet, Drinks Poison

DENVER, May 19.—Driven to despair by brooding over the possibility of the annihilation of the world by Halley's comet, Mrs. Jeanette Neibert, 31 years old, yesterday tried to kill herself by swallowing morphine. Little hope is entertained for her recovery.

According to the woman's husband, Mrs. Neibert, who has been an invalid for some time thought of little except the comet for the last few days, and declared that she was crushed by a premonition of disaster. Her last words before sinking into unconsciousness after taking the poison were: "I think the comet—"

Liliuokalani Loses Again

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Liliuokalani, the former Queen of Hawaii, again has met defeat in her efforts to have a portion of her lost fortune restored to her.

The court of claims of the United States has just rendered an opinion in the case of the former Queen against the United States, in which the demurrer of the government to her petition is sustained. In this petition Liliuokalani asked the Court of Claims to render judgment in her favor for $450,000 or in lieu thereof, the rentals and profits derived from the so-called Crown lands by the government of the United States.

The opinion of the court gives a historical review of the crown lands of Hawaii and the authority exercised over them by the several monarchs of the island, and says in effect that even admitting the statements made in the Queen's petition, she has no claim upon the government of the United States.

Woman Leads Her Ticket

DENVER, May 19.—With returns from only two of the 211 voting precincts of the city missing, Miss Ellis Meredith, a well-known club woman, leads in the race for election commissioner, her total of 20,997 topping the totals of her seven men competitors. She is the first woman elected to office in the city of Denver.

Miss Meredith ran on the Citizens' ticket, having been named to fill a vacancy caused by the withdrawal of the regular nominee. Indications point to the election of Mauff, Citizens; Petrie, Democrat, to the election commission, with Miss Meredith.

The practically completed count also shows that the initiative and referendum and recall charter amendments have been adopted.

Had to Repay Husband

KANSAS CITY, May 19.—Mrs. Ada V. Strong, for forty years the wife of F. M. Strong, a wealthy Los Angeles real estate dealer, was given a decree of divorce by Judge Thomas J. Seehorn, here yesterday.

The woman charged her husband with inconsiderate treatment. Among other allegations was the charge that she was forced for five years to remunerate her husband every month for the money he spent on her.

The couple married in St. Joseph, Mo., in 1870. Mrs. Strong is said to have an independent fortune.

Mary Harriman to Wed

NEW YORK, May 19.—Mary Harriman, the daughter of E. H. Harriman, will become the bride of Charles Cary Rumsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurenzo D. Rumsey, of Buffalo, on Thursday, May 26, in the little Episcopal church in Arden, N. Y., near the country manse that Harriman built on the top of one of the Ramapo hills. The Harriman family is still in mourning. The wedding will be devoid of formality, and will be attended by only the near relatives of both families. A small breakfast will follow at the Harriman mansion.

Helen Gould Finances Missionaries

NEW YORK, May 19.—Miss Helen M. Gould has given $16,000 to defray the expenses of sending a party of five Christian workers of this city to the Orient to conduct a series of Bible conferences with missionaries in China and Japan.

Mrs. Young Succeeds Herself

CHICAGO, May 19.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, was elected to succeed herself for six months at a meeting of the Board of Education yesterday.

It was announced that the University of Illinois will confer upon Mrs. Young the degree of doctor of law at the commencement exercises in June.

HAYWARD, May 19.—The program for the entertainment that will be given at the home of R. H. Mysterious Cutting Interests the Police

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The police of the Mission station are endeavoring to learn further facts about a somewhat mysterious cutting affray, which occurred early this morning, causing the injury of Joseph Elliott, of 172 Precita avenue. According to Elliott's statement, he was walking near the corner of Powell avenue and Rose street, when a man suddenly ran up and grappled with him.

In the struggle the other drew a knife and inflicted an ugly wound on the cheek. After treatment at the Central Emergency hospital he was able to go to his home.

BURGLARS MAKE HAUL.

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—Detectives are searching for a burglar who entered the cloakroom of a hotel here Tuesday night and stole the purses of fifty women who were guests at a dance. Money and valuables amounting to several thousand dollars were taken.

OIL OUTPUT GREAT ALL OVER WORLD

Baku, Russia, Wells Produced 105,000 Barrels Each Daily, For Many Weeks.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—For the sake of impressing those who still are unable to bring themselves to believe that the tales sent out concerning California oil production are true, a statement of some phenomenal well records, taken from Petroleum Mining, by E. Buby Thompson of London, and United States Geological reports, follows:

The daily average for each of several Baku, Russia, wells was 105,000 barrels, for several weeks, the exact time or number of wells not being stated.

In 1895, the average production of the Baku wells had fallen to 180 barrels daily, after flowing fifteen years, and the average in 1909 was 75 barrels.

At Bibi-Elbat, Russia, twenty-seven acres of ground in twenty years produced 53,000,000 barrels, an average of 1,962,963 barrels per acre. One well on the twenty-seven acres produced an average of 100,000 barrels daily for thirty days. The total oil extracted would cover the twenty-seven acres 270 feet deep, and the ground is still producing. The effect on the surrounding country is not given.

Another district in Baku, of 2560 acres, in the twenty years ending in 1905 had produced 856,000,000 barrels, an average of 320,000 barrels per acre, and is producing 55,000,000 barrels annually. Its production would cover the field over forty-six feet deep.

In Louisiana the Jennings Pool produced 1,700,000 barrels in four months, a daily average of 14,166 barrels.

At Spindle Top, Texas, 200 acres produced in the four years from 1901 to 1905 232,590 barrels per acre, when the wells were flooded. This amount would have covered the 200 acres twenty-two feet deep. In 1907, out of the original 1200 wells, ninety-five were producing at the rate of 8000 barrels daily.

One well in Roumania is mentioned which produced 140,000 barrels in one day. What became of it then is not stated.

OIL EXCHANGE TO OPEN IN AUTUMN

Organization to Await Until Conditions Are More Settled.

BAKERSFIELD, May 19.—The opening of the Bakersfield Oil Exchange has been postponed until the fall. This decision was reached by the governors of the organization after a thorough canvass of the situation. It is the belief of the brokers that the unsettled conditions now prevailing tend to make the moment inopportune for launching the project.

It is claimed that the uncertainty growing out of the terms of the Pickett bill naturally militate against the desired volume of business. This feature will be cleared before congress adjourns, but in the meantime there would be some hesitation on the part of the public to invest in companies that might be affected.

It also has been taken into consideration the fact that the transportation facilities are inadequate to carry oil coming from the wells. In a short time the needed pipe lines will be under construction and the marketing question will be solved.

It will require a few months to remove all these elements that might make investors timid.

Natural Gas Explosion Burns Well Derrick

DAYTON, N. M., May 19.—An explosion of natural gas burned the derrick of the Dayton Well Company, while the drillers were sinking a well on the George Frisch place, two miles northeast of town. At 755 feet the drill passed through a hard carboniferous stratum and an upheaval of water over the top of the casing attracted the notice of the drillers, whose lanterns the next instant ignited the rush of gas.

A mile nearer town, the Hammond artesian well, besides irrigating a farm, furnishes twenty-four barrels of natural oil daily.

In the Platte artesian well, one mile south, the gas pressure compelled the owner to cap the casing, and the gage registers three hundred pounds. A pipe to connect up with the town is on the ground.

Dayton, which is in the center of the Pecos Valley, wanted water, and the publication of these strikes has been withheld, but the Dayton oil and gas field, though brought in incidentally, is no longer a surmise.

Union Oil Holdings In Santa Maria Field

SANTA MARIA, May 19.—The exploitation of the Newlove tract of the Union Company has, it is said, proved that the whole of the piece of several thousand acres is good oil land. Several strong flows of oil have been struck on the tract. Located on the top of the hill above the Fox lease and immediately above the Final Canyon the Union Company has established a large cement water reservoir. This supply of water is so located that it is above all of Union holdings except the Newlove lands, and hence a good supply of water can be stored here for the use of most of the Union holdings. Lying between the camp of the Fox lease and the Final lands is a canyon that always attracts attention because on the west side is a beautiful growth of pine trees, while on the other side the growth is oaks. The line of demarcation at the bottom of the canyon is sharply drawn. The Final camp gets its name from this growth of pine. At this camp is established the field office of the Final Company and here are exhibited specimens of twenty-nine different products from the crude oil to the very finest of gasoline, all made from the Final oils.

Want Knights of Grip To Convene in Oakland

R. D. Holmes who is in attendance at the annual convention of the Pacific coast jurisdiction of the United Commercial Travelers of America in San Diego, has been instructed to make an effort to have the next convention held in Oakland. Holmes has been assured of the support of a number of the coast cities' representatives and he feels certain that Oakland will be voted the 1911 meeting place

NORTH MIDWAY FIELD IS ACTIVE

More Development Work Than Ever Going On---Excitement Has Subsided.

BAKERSFIELD, May 19.—Although the excitement over the leasing and jumping of land in the North Midway field has subsided a more substantial activity has taken its place, and at the present time more development work is going on than ever before.

On section 23, 31-22 the Dome Oil Company, a Santa Maria corporation, spudded in its well No. 1.

On the same section the Rock Oil Company is getting materials on the ground preparatory to drilling.

On section 24, 31-22 two of the Whittier companies are getting ready for development work.

The Coalinga and Monterey will start two new wells on section 24 soon. They are assembling materials now.

The Cherokee, on section 1, 31-22, has one rig up ready to drill. Jack McClurk is the manager. All these companies are going down after the second sand.

Among the older companies, the Brookshire is running two strings of tools, drilling wells Nos. 2 and 3. No. 2 went into oil at 905 feet and at 1280 feet had not passed through the oil-bearing formation. In its well No. 1 the Brookshire struck oil sand at 805 feet.

The Bear Creek on section 14 is also drilling wells Nos. 2 and 3. No. 2 struck the oil sand at 990 feet and at 1670 feet the casing—8-inch—was still in the sand. There is a strong gas pressure, and the sand is frequently heaved up a hundred feet or more in the casing.

The Union, on section 10, has cemented off the water at 2690 feet and is waiting for the cement to harden.

The southwest quarter of section 15, 31-22 has been cut into ten-acre strips a half-mile long by Yancey and Drake, who formerly owned it jointly. The erstwhile partners have taken alternate strips and are now rushing work to put down eight wells on every ten-acre strip. This sort of development involves a continual drilling race between the rival owners until the whole quarter is drilled up.

The lessees of the Wheeler-Bancroft property on section 2, 11-19 have started another well on that section and are putting up a derrick on section 14, in the same ownership. Some twelve rigs altogether are being built in that vicinity, which is to the east of San Emidio, far in advance of the proven oil belt.

Oklahoma Oil Field Showing Less Activity

TULSA, Okla., May 19.—The first half of April shows less activity in most districts than in March, for some reason, probably because the optimism of six weeks ago that saw 60-cent crude has been clouded a little by California and Louisiana gushers, also because the lower Creek country has failed to come up to expectations and drilling there has dropped off.

The test for Hivick & Co., on the Lorena Hawkins homestead, section 27-12-13, south of Okmulgee and just west of the two wells that started the boom there, is a failure in the 1400-foot sand and will be abandoned, as the owners do not think it worth while to spend money looking for the deep sands in that vicinity. The S. Rabinovitz test on the Julia Jackson land, southwest quarter of section 23-12-13, half a mile north of the producing wells in section 26 is also a failure so far. The two Stearmac Oil Company wells on the Reyno is land in section 26 are holding up pretty well, but both have enough water and gas to make bad oil and the owners seem unable to get them in shape to produce marketable oil.

The second test for the Devonian Oil Company, on the Missie State land in section 3-14-12, north end of the Preston field, is a failure, effectually shutting off the northwest extension.

OIL NOTES

The Lucile Oil Company, section 6-21-15 is cleaning out well No. 1. Well No. 2 is making about 500 barrels per day. Well No. 3 will shut of the water at 2520 feet.

The Paula Oil Company has contracted to deliver 200,000 barrels from its Midway wells at 50 cents per barrel to the Standard. It has just brought in well No. 2, which is said to be a 200-barrel producer. Two other wells are being drilled by this company in the Midway and No. 6 in Santa Paula canyon, Ventura county.

The Reed Crude Oil Company, capitalized at $100,000, has filed papers of disincorporation. It has paid $1,124,000 in dividends to date, the last being last December of $12,000. It has sold all of its Kern river property at a profitable price, and will wind up its business, leaving a nice nest egg for the stockholders.

The Western Consolidated Oil Company is down 1050 feet on the Bullard Tract near Fresno city. This well is a wildcat proposition, under the theory that petroleum exists along the base of the foothills on the east side of the San Joaquin valley, as it has been proved that it does for 100 miles along the west side.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Exports from the United States of copper, illuminating oil, corn, lubricating oil, wheat, flour, lard, bacon, fresh beef and cattle in April, 1910, showed a decrease of over the corresponding month of the previous year according to a report just made by the Department of Commerce and Labor. The total exports for the month, however, amounted to $127,500,000, as against $123,000,000 for April, 1909. NORTH DAKOTA IS PRIZE WINNER IN KNOWING NOTHING

MINOT, N. D., May 19.—An American-born citizen, a resident of North Dakota for the last seven years, was found yesterday who did not know a single state or county official by name nor the name of the President of the United States.

In selecting a jury for the Noah murder trial, a farmer testified he knew nothing of the case. He admitted his ignorance as to the identity of any county, or state officer and asked for the name of the President of the United States, replied:

"I have heard the name, but have forgotten it."

He was accepted on the jury.

PRICES ON UPHILL IN WALL STREET

Sympathy With Higher Range of London Quotations Acts Over Here.

NEW YORK, May 19.—Execution of the sprinkling of buying orders when the stock market opened today moved prices upward. The advance was partly in sympathy with the higher range of quotations in London. Canadian Pacific rose 2⅛ and Reading, Southern Pacific, Wabash preferred, Interborough Metropolitan preferred, Amalgamated Copper and National Lead large fractions.

An extension of the opening advances carried a handful of the leading stocks up a point or more above yesterday's closing, including Union Pacific, Reading, Southern Pacific and Amalgamated Copper. Buying then slackened, but the prices were well held.

A large proportion of the total dealings was in Reading and that stock's advance was the principal influence in pulling up prices elsewhere. The market was still almost wholly in traders' hands.

Reading's gain reached 2 points. St. Paul, New York Central, Rock Island, United States Steel, American Smelting, American Locomotive, Republic Steel and Interborough Metropolitan preferred gained 1 to 1½. Reading second preferred, American Steel Foundries and Consolidated Gas 1½, Ontario and Western 2, and Federal Mining preferred 3.

Although the undertone of the market continued strong, the demand was so scanty that the transactions during the noon hour barely reached 15,000 shares. Northern Pacific and Louisville and Nashville rose 1.

The speculation was practically lifeless and fluctuations were insignificant. Great Northern preferred rose 1.

The market closed rather heavy. Postponement of the Chesapeake and Ohio dividend meeting made that stock heavy and caused a slight reaction. Baltimore and Ohio and American Cotton Oil rose 1 and Virginia Chemical 1¼.

Bonds were irregular.

LIBERAL OFFERS DEPRESS MARKET

Reports of Good Weather and Crops Give Bearish Tendency.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Liberal offerings gave a weak tone today to the wheat market. The fact that sales of flour were reported extremely small seemed to furnish renewed courage to the bears. So did news of rain in the west and northwest. Buying was of a scattered nature and had no suggestion of aggressiveness. December wheat at 98½c was materially below any quotation touched since trading began in the option this season. September opened at 1 to ⅛ 0⅝ and sold off to $1, a drop of ⅝ under last night's close, later reacting to $1.00⅛@1.00¼.

The market later in the day became firm on purchases by shorts. The close was steady with September at $1.00½, a net gain of ⅛c.

Good growing weather induced country selling of corn. The market opened unchanged to ⅛c lower for September, at 61⅝c, to 62⅛c, and continued within a narrow range.

Prices subsequently rallied a trifle in sympathy with wheat. The close was steady at 62c for September, a net decline of ⅛c.

Cash corn—No. 2, 61½@62c; No. 2 white, 66@67c; No. 2 yellow, 63@63½c; No. 3, 60½c; No. 4 white, 65½@66c; No. 3 yellow, 61½@64c; No. 4, 58@59c; No. 4 white, 59@63c; No. 4 yellow, 58½@60c.

Long oats came out quite freely today. September opened unchanged to ⅛c off at 38½@38⅝c, and declined to 38⅜c.

Packers were sellers of provisions, especially lard. First quotations were 5c to 7½c down.

The closing quotations were as follows:

Wheat—May, $1.12; July, $1.02⅝; September, $1.00½.

Corn—May, 58⅝c; July, 61⅛c; September, 62c; December, 57½c.

RARE OLD WHISKY IN HEART OF TREE

Pint Flask Found in Trunk of Maple; No One Knew of It.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., May 19.—A pint bottle filled with rare old whisky, the age of which is uncertain, has been found at Council Bluffs, imbedded solidly in the heart of a maple tree almost four feet in diameter.

President Graham of the park board concluded that there were too many trees in Bayliss park, so he decided to cut out a number of the maples that were planted more than fifty years ago, when Council Bluffs was first given a place on the Iowa map.

One particular tree in the course of a new path that was proposed was marked for sacrifice. The choppers felled this tree, finding it solid from circumference to center.

Sawing the trunk into four-foot lengths, eight feet from the butt, the saw just missed a long-necked black bottle. Observing it, the choppers carefully hewed away the wood, when to their surprise, they brought forth, tightly corked, a bottle of one pint capacity, filled with liquor.

The cork was removed and the odor of liquor became apparent. It was sampled by experts, who pronounced it whisky of the most superior quality.

How the bottle of whisky got into the center of the huge maple tree is a mystery that even the oldest settler is unable to solve. At no place about it was there any cavity and counting the rings of wood from the place where the bottle was lodged, each one of which represents a year's growth of the tree, it must have been there 30 years.

The bottle and contents have been placed in the public library as a curio.

THRONGS FIGHT TO REACH BIER

Emperor William Arrives in London to Attend Edward's Funeral.

LONDON, May 19.—The last day of the lying in state of the body of King Edward brought a repetition of yesterday's scenes on an even larger scale. The resolute band of a thousand or more persons, mostly women, who had braved the storm throughout the night was increased to a score of thousands before the sun rose above the roof tops and by noon the queue awaiting admission to Westminster Hall stretched for miles to the westward of the House of Parliament.

CROWDS RUSH BUILDING.

Because of the enormous number of persons who were sure to be disappointed last night it had been planned to keep the doors open until midnight instead of closing them at 10 o'clock as was the original intention. This plan, however, was frustrated by the action of those nearest the entrance, who became unruly and fairly rushed the building. To avoid a panic the doors were hastily closed, and the police reserves summoned to assist in restoring order.

It was a half hour before this was accomplished. Soon afterward rain fell heavily and all but about 1000 persons returned to their homes.

GERMAN EMPEROR ARRIVES.

Emperor William arrived in London at noon today. The German imperial yacht Hohenzollern reached Sheerness last evening, but his Majesty did not land until this morning, when he proceeded to the capital.

At Victoria station the Emperor was welcomed by King George, the Duke of Cornwall, the Duke of Connaught, Prince Henry of Prussia and others of the royal family and diplomats.

Mr. Whitehouse, M. P., has received a present from a working miner in his constituency. It takes the form of a neat little alarm clock (set at the hour of the declaration of the poll). The frame has the appearance of black marble, but in reality is composed of gas coal, cut from the block and artistically designed by the donor, an ardent admirer and supporter of Mr. Whitehouse. The setting of the hands at the hour of the declaration of the poll is a happy idea.

DELEGATES PLEASED WITH WARM RECEPTION

Issue Vote of Thanks to Alameda County Optometrists For Entertainment.

Informality and good fellowship marked the banquet given last night to the delegates of the California State Association of Optometrists by the members of the Alameda County Society of Optometrists at Idora Park, where 130 visitors enjoyed the hospitality of the county opticians.

PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS FOR SEAWALL NOW READY

City Engineer's Office Ready to Proceed With Harbor Improvements When Land Details Are Adjusted

The City Engineer's office is ready with the plans and specifications to advertise for bids for the seawall to be erected between Broadway and Myrtle street and proceed with the work whenever the land problems involved are cleared up. With the exception of an unexpired lease held by A. Kendall on a tract acquired from the Oakland Water Front Company a section of more than 1300 feet of the 2700 feet of the southern water frontage contemplated in the scheme of improvement covered by the recent bond issue is now available. The Mayor has assumed the responsibility of making a settlement with Kendall in behalf of the commission. Nothing can be done in the way of seawall construction until Kendall's lease is cancelled, as the option held by the city from the Oakland Water Front Company is subject to this lease. The invitation for bids for the bonds is now in course of publication and the award will be made early in June.

Payments for the land which has been purchased cannot be made until the bonds are converted into cash, but that will not prevent the Harbor Commission going ahead with the construction of the seawall in advance of an award to the successful bond bidders provided all land titles are straightened out.

PRELIMINARY WORK

The preliminary work for drafting the plans of the seawall was accomplished several weeks ago. It consisted of six inch boring at given intervals along the line of the wall to a depth varying from 45 feet to 110 feet below the low tide line and at one point the sinking of a shaft practically to the line of the foundation of the seawall. Tests were made of the strength of the ground which carried double the weight per square foot it will ever be required to carry without flinching in the slightest degree.

According to Assistant City Engineer Brown, who has special charge of improvements to be carried out by the Harbor Commission, the ground on which the seawall will be built is ideal for the purpose and is capable of carrying any amount of weight with which it may be burdened.

The line of the seawall follows the land excepting for a short distance where the water is so shallow that no difficulty will be encountered in digging the 24-foot trench to the required depth to lay the foundation of the concrete structure it must sustain. The excavation will be an open cut which will greatly facilitate the work and lessen its cost.

The greater volume of the ground to be excavated for this trench is hard pan, which two borings, one at each end of the line of the wall, have pierced to a depth of 100 feet without passing through the formation, intervening borings of about [illegible] feet each prove the continuity of the depth of the stratum all along the line. The wall will be constructed so that the ground fronting on it may be dredged to a depth of 30 feet at low water and any vessel of the largest draft employed in Pacific ocean commerce may float alongside when moored to the wall. Sockets are provided at short intervals in the outer toe of the concrete wall to hold the fender piles to prevent the moored craft from chafing against the concrete.

CONCRETE WALL'S WIDTH

At the base the concrete wall will have a width of 22 feet. On the land side it will be narrowed by steps three feet high and one foot wide until it is contracted to five feet at the top, to which the moorings will be so securely anchored as to be capable of resisting any strain to which they may be subjected.

The plans for the improvement of this part of the harbor water front have been so designed that all the material used in the construction of the seawall can be brought to the scene of operations by water or by rail. In case the demands of commerce increase beyond the capacity of the seawall as it is about to be constructed, permanent piers may be built at an acute westerly angle to the channel from the seawall to the pierhead line. These piers will nearly double the commercial availability of that section of the harbor front between Broadway and Myrtle street at comparatively small expense.

The core of the seawall will be built of coarse rubble concrete which will reduce the cost without impairing its strength or durability, but the outer skin on each side of it will be of a higher and finer grade of concrete construction.

The carrying out of the plans of the improvement by the city of the Key Route basin is at present hanging fire until the question of certain franchises, notably those applied for by the Key Route Company, are settled. Once these franchises are disposed of and the approaches to this section of the water front are secured by the city, the latter will be in a position to carry out plans for the construction of eighteen piers 1000 feet each in length that will give 600 miles of docking facilities for sea shipping. That means a wharfing mileage within one mile of being equal to the entire water front possessed by San Francisco. It demonstrates the enormous possibilities of the expansion of Oakland's twenty seven miles of available commercial water front by proper treatment, every foot of which will be in close proximity to the business center of the city or to the industrial districts dependent on commerce.

GREAT COMMERCIAL PORT

"These plans of water front go to show conclusively that in the course of time Oakland is destined to be a great commercial port. When Oakland's Long Wharf is cut out, which must be done within the next seven years, the entrance to the basin will be considerably in excess of 2000 feet in width.

All of the wharves or piers to be erected on the water front under the bond issue will be of a permanent character. The supports and floors of these piers or wharves will be constructed of reinforced concrete.

DRAMATIC SCENE IN SCHAETZ CASE

Prosecutor Pleads for Mercy for Man Who Held Up Saloon.

District Attorney Donahue made a remarkable plea before Judge Everett Brown yesterday afternoon for judicial clemency for John Schaetz, confessed robber, who stood weeping at the bar of justice to hear the judgment pronounced that was to consign him to a felon's cell.

During the proceedings which led up to the final scene Schaetz's wife, herself on the verge of collapse, bore up bravely to give her husband strength and comfort. Schaetz was sentenced to four years in San Quentin.

When sentence had been pronounced Schaetz sank trembling into his chair, and encircling his neck with her arm his wife and mother of the prisoner's four little children whispered words of comfort.

An intensely dramatic scene continued the Schaetz case. Attorney A. L. Frick, counsel for the prisoner, had introduced nearly a score of witnesses to testify to the previous excellent character of his client, and Schaetz had related to the court how the reading of [illegible] and [illegible] hold up stories had induced him to [illegible] the saloon of Adam Kraft in [illegible] near the tidal canal.

Mrs. Schaetz ... [illegible] her husband ... [illegible] ... children. Attorney Frick ... [illegible] ... for leniency for Schaetz. Himself ... [illegible] ... Frick ... [illegible] ... present ... [illegible] sympathy for Schaetz and his weeping wife predominate.

Then followed the remarkable plea of the chief deputy district attorney in behalf of the prisoner. Donahue declared that the case was such a remarkable digression from the general run of criminality as to warrant ... [illegible] that justice be tempered with ... [illegible] mercy.

Judge Brown told Schaetz that the duty which devolved upon him was the most painful he had ever ... [illegible] ... to perform and the case the strangest in his experience. He said:

"Aside from the serious nature of the crime that you have committed ... [illegible] ... I am convinced that ... [illegible] ... a good one for probation ... [illegible] ... is impossible ... [illegible] ... could ... [illegible] ... and the ... [illegible] ... This is not my law ... [illegible] ... think ... [illegible] ... within my province."

MINSTREL SHOW PROVES SUCCESS

Native Sons Display Skill in Burnt-Cork Antics and Comicalities.

The minstrel performance given last evening by Piedmont Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, at the Macdonough Theater drew a large audience, which from its applause of the various acts showed their appreciation of one of the best amateur performances ever given in Oakland.

At the close of the opening chorus, when patriotic songs were sung to the American flag, real soldiers and sailors took the parts. Among them were Louis Eberlin, who fought with Dewey on the Olympia at the battle of Manila bay, and Charles Carr, who was orderly to General Lawton at the time he was killed.

The solos were exceptionally well given and the singing by Ed Bennett and Billy Hynes put them in a class by themselves. The performance was under the direction of Charles Birkenham. Owing to the reception received last night the performance will be repeated Tuesday evening, May 24.

Hundreds of Oakland Readers Know What It Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed;
Have too much to do.
They tell about it in many aches and pains—
Backache, sideache, headache,
Early symptoms of kidney ills,
Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.
An Oakland citizen tells here the way to keep the kidneys well.

Mrs. Albertus Kennedy, East Piedmont, end of Lake Shore Ave., Oakland, Cal., says: "I was troubled a great deal by backache, especially when I overworked. It was an effort for me to stoop or lift on account of the dull ache across my loins and I was always tired and languid. My appetite was poor and my health became all run down. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended I procured a box and their use benefited me greatly. My back was strengthened and that tired, worn out feeling disappeared together with the other symptoms of kidney complaint. I am grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me." (Statement given August 12, 1907.)

Confirmed Proof.

On January 17, 1910, Mrs. Kennedy said: "What I have previously said of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1907 publicly recommending them I have by no means changed my high opinion of them. I know that this remedy can be relied upon and I therefore advise its use in cases of kidney complaint."

Druggists Listen to President's Address

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The druggists of the State, in annual session at the Palace Hotel, yesterday listened to an address on the work of the State Board of Pharmacy by its president, E. F. Off. At its conclusion a great many questions were asked him by the delegates and finally a committee of six was selected to confer with President Off and the other member of the board today. At this conference the needs and demands of the druggists' state association will be presented.

Both in the morning and afternoon many interesting papers were read on various phases of the drug business. City Chemist G. H. P. Lichthardt of Sacramento read a paper. One on the Status of the Woman Pharmacist was read by Miss Clarissa M. Roehr, secretary of the Alumni Association California College of Pharmacy. The Purpose and Scope of the Pure Food and Drug Act was the subject of a paper by Ralph A. Gould, chief of the National Food and Drug Inspection Laboratory.

At the smoker last night in the Norman Cafe of the Fairmont Hotel Samuel M. Shortridge made a very happy talk. The women delegates had a card party at the same time at the St. Francis.

The third day of the [illegible] annual convention of the California Pharmacy Association began today with a business session at which several papers were read and discussed.

This afternoon the annual election of officers will be held and the place for the next convention selected.

Fish Trust Delays Grand Jury Inquiry

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Indications that the fish trust is using the same means to prevent an investigation of its methods that it employed in stifling competition were evident yesterday when it became known that an employe of the Western Fish Company had ignored a subpoena of the grand jury Tuesday.

Presiding Judge Van Nostrand will be asked to punish him for contempt unless he appears before the inquisitorial body this afternoon, when the inquiry undertaken last week will be resumed.

It is significant that this episode follows the failure of two witnesses Tuesday night to testify in accordance with the statements they made privately to the District Attorney.

District Attorney Fickert explained yesterday his reasons for enlisting the aid of the grand jury members in an attempt to obtain the appointment of two additional deputies for his office.

"It is necessary," said the District Attorney, "that we have at least one more deputy to aid in the work piling up as the result of the fish trust investigation. Also we need another man for the Juvenile Court.

"I have explained these matters to the Supervisors and feel certain that in an inquiry as important to the people of this city as the fish trust investigation there will be favorable action."

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The Ingleside police station, which is yet in course of construction at Ocean and San Jose avenues, thus far has no terrors for the thief, and it was discovered that all of the plumbing had been stolen from the building during the last few days. —We make the fused Kryptok blanks in our own factory from glass imported direct from France.

—Other opticians must either buy these blanks or substitute something almost as good.

—Do you want an inferior substitute?

—Would you trust your eye sight to imitation Kryptoks?

—With manufacturing restricted there is [illegible] a great deal of substituting going on. Other opticians do not like to patronize their more progressive neighbors. It is contrary to human nature.

—The wearer cannot tell Kryptoks by their looks and the cross has to trust to the statement of the optician.

—Why take chances?

—Why not come direct to us and be sure of getting genuine Kryptoks made and fitted by experienced Kryptok experts?
